BLAZE IN THE EAST WARD.

Dwelling Owned by Mr. Robt. Nunter Bestroyed Last Friday. Evening Post of Oct. 19

Last evening about eleven o'ciock, just after the theatre-goers had gotten home from "The Gingerbread Man," an alarm was rung in from the east ward. The fire team were out in record time and started their long run of over a mile to the burning building, which belonged to Mr. Robt, Hunter. It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Hunter were moving out of this house to another, and had had all their effects, except the bed in which they were sleeping, a store and a pump, carted to their new About cleven o'clock, as a young

Owing to the distance from the nearest hydrant to the house, there was not enough hose to reach the fire, and the crowd had to stand by and sec the building burn. Mr. Hunter had $500 insurance on the house, but owing to an oversight he neglected to pay the last premium, so that the building is a total loss.
