LINDSAY CREW FORCED TO JUMP TO SAVE THEIR LIVES.

Ballast Train Crashed into the Engine of the Whitby Mixed-Seven Flat

Cars Derailed and Engines Damaged. Another serious accident happened on the Midland division of the G.TR. near Whitby town station at about 2.30 Saturday afternoon, resulting in the destruction of seven flat cars, damaging two engines, and dorailing several other cars. The accident was caused by a main line ballast train drawn by a Mogul engine collifing with the Whitby mlxed, a train which leaves Lindsay every morning at about seven c'elock.

This train changes its crews every day, and on Saturday it was in charge of Conductor Chas. Adams and Engineer Laidlaw. Adams' train was coing some shunting at Whitby, and backed into the siding from the main line in order to cross with No.55, Conducto" Kelly's train, which leaves Lindsay at 11.03 It had no sooner got on the siding than the ballast train came dashing along at about thirty miles an hour and turned into the siding also to let No. 55 past Before the ballast train could be stopped it pitched into 'Adams' train, causing great damage to property. The crews of both trains, seeing the collision inevitable, jumped and escaped injury.

Word was received at Lindsay a half hour later, and the auxiliary train was at once despatched to the scene of the disaster. No 43, in charge of Conductor White, after arriving from the L B & O. Jot., was also despatched to Whitby to bring tain open competitions in those, and back the undamaged cars and coaches of Adams' train.

When the news was received in town first it was stated that Mr. Laidlaw had been killed, but a later message stated that he had escaped injury. We understand Supt Tiffin will investigate the cause of the accident at once; in the meantime tha c'ews of both trains have been laid off rending "esults.

The Coronation Choir.

At the Campridge-st. Methodist church, on Thursday evening a large audience gathered to hear the Coronation Choir of London, Eng. The first part of the programme was calculated to delight every church-get er, and was rendered in such a manner us is seldom one's pleasure to hear. The latter part was of a lighter character, and gave the concert compiny an opportunity to display their individual ability. The combined singing of the full company was most hurmonious and pleasing. The soprino boys, ranging in ages from 7 to 10, were the favorites and received much applause. They possess marvelously sweet and musical voices, Madma Hooten, the contralto, has a sweet and well trained voice, and her diferent numbers were well received by the audience. AGRICULTURE IN BRITAIN.

SOME INTERESTING NOTES ON ITS DEVELOPEMENT.

Points fof Difference Between Canadian and British Agricultural Shows.

A private letter from Mr. W A. McKinton, Chief of the Fruit Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, who is now in Great Britain, contains some interesting notes on the development of agricultural shows in that country. Some of his oriticisms, given herewith, are well worthy of notice by those interested in agricultural education in Canada. "One striking feature of the recent

Royal Show at Carlisle, Eng., was that all but two u- three of the buildings were simply frames cover. ed with canvas, in other words the show took place under a series of long tents. The advantage of this system is that the framework can be taken down and the tents shipped from point to point, and used many times in the season. This arrangement makes it possible to use grounds for an exhibition which are required during the rest of the year for another purpose. The tents are arranged in a compact and systematic order is such a way that visitors can go in one direction and return in another, seeing always new exhibits. The classes are arranged in blocks, not in leng lines. There Are Four Classes of agricultural shows in Great Britain; (1) The large shows devoted to breeding types and implements; these are open to the kingdom. (2) Local shows for the benefit of tenant farmers and broaders in the neighborhood; there may be certhe additional of selections for hor. ticulture, apiculture, sports, etc., is ortional. (3) Fat stock shows for the encouragement of the production of high-class butchers' meat. The chief ones are held at Birmingham, Leeds and Norwich; the finals, so to speak, where the winners in the three former complete, take plac eat the great Smithfield show. (4) Specific shows: these are held for the benefit of one or more particular branches of agriculture, such as dairying, fruits, poultry, horses, etc. A good type of this class of show is that held at the Agricultural Hall, London, during three consecutive weeks for special breeds of horses as follows: 1st week, Shires; 2nd week, Hackneys: 3rd week, thoroughbred hunters and polo ponies. One of the best of these specific shows was held held at Ashbourne, Derbyshire, a great Shire horse centre, (owing to local conditions, fine grass, etc.); here they have three main divisions of the show-one for general class, foals bred by tenant farmers, foals from stallions belonging to local breed-

Another notable show is that called the Cart Horse Parade, held in Londen, where prizes are given for the best single, pair, unicorn and four horse teams; these must be working horses attached to 'vehicle without load. No new harness or vehicles must have been used up to the date of the show-Whit Monday. The prizes are given for the Best Working Condition, the object being to encourage carters to take good care of their animals and a pride in their appearance. This is one of the most commendable of the specific shows. There are many local poultry shows and village shows of varying import. ance; at some of these prizes ara given to the schoold children for the best collection of named grasses, weeds, etc. This also is found to be a very satisfactory aid to education. Private land owners also sometimes hold shows for the encouragement of agriculture among their tenant farmers. Chief among these is a show held by the Duke of Portland, known as the "Walbeck Tenant Farmers' Show." The Secretary of the Royal Agricultural Society states that the year. 1790 saw the beginning of agricultural shows in Great Bri-

Particular enquiries about the standards adopted in judging stock at these shows failed to elicit a definite statement on this point. In fact the officials themselves were not any tool clear as to what is or ought to be the standard. They appear to have fallen into the easy error of looking on the prize itself as being the end and goal of the exhibitor's ambition. On pressing the matter somewhat closely, certain offeijass admitted that too little at. tention was raid to either the educational value of the show or the cash result to the farmers at large. In the catalogues and prize lists judges are wanted not to be influenced by the market value of stock in making | their awards, and a high official attention was raid to the Economic Value of the Exhibits, and that farmers are sometimes misled by awards so as to produce an article which is not remanerative. The Smithlield judges are breeders, and the lessons learned by facuers from the judgement have to be picked up without the benefit of any explanation of reasons from judges Farmers are supposed learn from the show that certain types of animals can be made to rat on flesh at a certain rate, weight for age.

stated that in his opinion too little

Educational meetings are all but knknown. At Carlisle there were demonstrations of dairying processes, but no word of explanation seemed to be given. Guelph leads them all for active, energetic, intelligent educition for in Britain the farmer seems to be considered highly honored in being allowed to exhibit, and they let him pick up some crumba of information if he can."
