SATURDAY'S CONVENTION.

On Saturday next, Nov. 26, at 1 o'clock p.m., the Liberals of West Victoria will meet in the Academy of Music to select a candidate to contest the riding in the coming Provincial election in opposition to Mr. S. J. Fox, the present representative. The convention promises to be an interesting one, as many of the delegates will come to the gathering fresh from the Provincial Convention held in Toronto on Wednesday and Thursday, and will no doubt find time to give a synopsis of the interesting proceedings, and an insight into any proposed changes in the policy of the Liberal party.

As for the party's chances of receding West Victoria, it may be said that they are good—decidedly promising in fact. It must be apparent to every fair-minded man who keeps in touch with public events that the government of Hon. G. O. W. Ross has for long been a target for all the vilification and abuse the members of the opposition could bring to bear upon it, in the hope of discrediting the Premier and his Cabinet. The Conservative leaders who endorsed that vile course would not likely hesitate at anything to accomplish their ends. Is it too much to assume that the Ganey episode and much of what has since occurred have been "engineered" with their connivance and assistance? We think not. It is as fair to assume that the small Liberal majority in the house has encouraged the opposition to adopt illicit means to secure power, as it is to charge the government with wrongdoing in the hope of strengthening their position. It is a significant fact that Mr. Whitney very carefully held aloof from the Man from Manitowish for months, showing that he had no faith in his story, but was whipped into line by his henchmen—De Beatty, Nesbitt and others of that ilk.

We do not say that Mr. Fox has lent himself to any of the schemes of his party, and will even admit that he has been an obliging and steady representative. But West Victoria needs a strong man and a supporter of the Government. If the Liberals of the riding choose their strongest candidate on Saturday, and will work with a will to secure his election, we predict a victory.

THE GREATEST CONVENTION

5,000 Liberal Delegates From Every Corner of Ontario.

OVATION TO PREMIER ROSS

Conventions Condemn Vagabonding, Electoral Corruption and Calls For Establishment of All Officers—Ministerial Changes Approved—Development of New Ontario to Be Hastened by Liberal Legislation.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—First in size, first in enthusiasm, and first in its effectiveness among party gatherings dealing with Ontario politics is the great convention in session at Massey Hall. Five thousand of the most enlightened Liberals of the Province have gathered to formulate a platform upon which the Premier and Secretary put it yesterday—the Liberal party shall stand or fall at the coming election.

The delegates must have smiled when they saw themselves designated as the backbone of the Government. The most casual observer could see from the moment when they first began to stream into Massey Hall in the morning until the Chairman put his last question at night—that the assembled leaders of Liberalism were hewers of wood and drawers of water for no man; that they were independent to the utmost degree, and were not there to approve anything that did not appeal to their judgment as in the interest of the people of Ontario.

To Keep Ontario's Seal Alive.

The spectacle presented by the convention was most inspiring to those who had the opportunity to witness it. Mr. Rowell, believe in keeping the seal alive in Ontario. There were hundreds of greybeards present, who had fought under George Brown and Alexander Mackenzie, and who remembered the stern battles of Liberalism in the old days against corruption, and privilege and class government in every form. There were hundreds, too, of young men, entering upon political work, to whom the brave days of old are but traditions, and the great men of old noble ideals to be lived up to.

Not Blaming Other People.

They were not disposed too greatly to dwell upon the shortcomings of other people. Their mental attitude was not the "you're another" one. Altogether the delegates, by their behavior at the afternoon session, gave ample evidence that the heart of Ontario Liberalism is as sound as ever, and that the party, whether in office or out of it, has still work to do.

The reception accorded to the Premier and his new and old colleagues was a magnificent one, but not more enthusiastic than was to be expected at the hands of men who know the great work that they have accomplished in governing Ontario wisely, progressively and economically during a time when, as Mr. Evanurel so aptly said, the sister Province of Quebec has piled up so great a debt that her interest bill amounts to a million a year.

Ross' Great Personal Triumph.

Just as the last Dominion election was a rally around a leader whom every class respected, and whom the Liberals loved, making him the centre of a campaign of personal triumphs, so did the Liberals of Ontario yesterday accord Premier Ross, Ontario's grand old man, a personal demonstration without a parallel in the politics of this Province. "God bless his dear old heart," shouted one enthusiastic delegate from the gallery at the mention of the Premier's name early in the day, and the sentiment was cheered to the echo. The sum of the Premier's gratification must have been reached at the evening meeting, when as he rose to speak he was cheered and applauded, and hailed in song, and sanctified by a standing ovation multitudinous for three full minutes.

The Work of the Day.

The speeches of the day were all brief, except for the hour's address by the Premier in the evening. In that he frankly stated his difficulties in carrying on Government with so narrow a majority, and declared that unless it was increased to comfortable proportions he would have to give over the reins of office. The address was also creditable to the large and rather unwieldy body of Senators, and the enthusiasm aroused indicated the welcome with which they were received by the great convention. Although much was done during the day, the great majority of business many other planks remain untouched by the main body, and the whole of today at least will be required to complete the work in Massey Hall. The smoothness with which business progressed after it was well started shows that the preliminary arrangements by the general committee were well executed. The Executive work was also creditable to the large and rather unwieldy body of Senators, and the enthusiasm aroused indicated the welcome with which they were received by the great convention.

A Progressive Policy.

As soon as the convention had delivered its opinion on corruption in thunderous tones, in the resolutions appended, it set itself to devising a new platform. The extent and variety of the resolutions submitted leave no doubt that, however excellent the administrative work has been in the past, there is a work for the future advancement of social and economic conditions in Ontario in which the Liberal party will never take a seat behind any organization. The first resolution carried favored strongly the development of Ontario's educational system along ### engaged in agriculture and industry.

The second reaffirmed the party's abhorrence of corruption, and declared against the employment of organs from outside the riding. The third and last of the afternoon declared that railways should bear a share of municipal and other taxation in the same proportion as other taxable property.

A New Department.

In the evening resolutions were adopted in a few minutes, calling for the establishment of a separate service in connection with the construction of colonization roads, the location of town sites, the protection of water powers, and all other matters affecting the future development of the new district; calling for the extension of the Tomkinsburg & Northern Railway to Hudson's Bay, the giving of all timber except pine on farm lands to the settler; affirming the party's allegiance to Provincial rights, particularly with regard to the incorporation of local companies; favoring the appointment of a Provincial Commission to guard against over-capitalization of companies operating in the utilities; the consolidation of the various labor branches of the Provincial Government; favoring changes in the timber regulations; more liberal terms for the prospector for minerals; affirming implicit confidence in the administration of the Ross Government.

Will Not Recommend Abolition of Bar.

The Committee on Resolutions assembled about 9:15 p.m. and discussed the various tenures proposed in the resolutions submitted, which numbered about half a score. There was undoubtedly a strong feeling in favor of a considerable advance along temperance lines, but the proposal to not there to approve anything that did not appeal to their judgment as in the interest of the people of Ontario.

DAY'S IMPORTANT RESOLUTION.

Condemns Bribery Unconditionally and Suggests Prohibitory Remedy.

Moved by N. W. Rowell, K. C., Toronto: "That this convention, representing the Liberal party of the Province of Ontario, repudiates and condemns in the most unqualified terms, every form of bribery by which electors are illegally or corruptly influenced at elections to the Legislative Assembly, and all fraudulent schemes to defeat the honest purposes of the electorate as being a violation of the fundamental principles of a responsible Government and contrary to the spirit and traditions of the Liberal party. (Hear, hear.) And this convention would also call upon the Liberal members of Parliament to devise the most ample means whereby election trials shall be continued until every offender is duly convicted and punished, and that no political or other considerations be permitted to stand in the way of the fullest vindication of the sanctity of the ballot and the protection of public morals."

Capt. Hunter's Remedy.

Moved by Capt. Hunter, Toronto: "That any candidate bearing the Liberal colors should try to complete his organization out of reputable men residing or having business connections in his own riding—(hear, hear)—and that it is an active duty of every Liberal candidate to see that no person who has been judicially noted for corrupt practices is included in his electoral organization or brought into political contact with his constituents." (Cheers.)

Confidence in Education.

James Chisholm, Hamilton, moved a resolution of confidence in the educational policy of the Government. It commended the special courses in agricultural instruction, and the introduction of manual training and domestic science. The agricultural training disseminated through farmers' institutes, dairy schools, fruitgrowers' and similar associations was approved. H. H. Miller, Hanover, seconded it.
