THE PETERBORO STOCK OF J. SUTCLIFFE & SONS

NOW ON SALE AT THE LINDSAY STORE

Before deciding to discontinue business in Peterboro we had placed many large orders with many large manufacturers both in Europe and this country for Fall Goods of the various kinds demanded by our trade. These orders we were unable to cancel owing to their being already in the course of manufacture and being made especially to our order there was nothing left but to have them shipped as per the previous arrangements when the orders were given. The incoming of these is partly what delayed our shipping the stock here at an earlier date as we had intended doing.

We have sold the lease of the Peterboro store and have moved the entire Peterboro stock here—two carloads in all—including much of the new Fall Goods ordered for there. We have not room for it in our store as our present large stock taxes our space to the utmost, this event means an additional Ten Thousand Dollars' Worth of Stock to be Disposed of as Quickly as Possible for in Four Week's Time our Christmas Purchases will be Rushing in.

Now everything points to this immense sale as the way to clear out the surplus stock, and we have therefore cut the prices to the very lowest. Do you want anything for yourself? Anything for your family? Anything for your home? The smallest need possible—this store will save you more money than you had counted on and give you the very best qualities to be had. Here are a few sample quotations of prices—read them over carefully.

HOW TO USE THE SURPLUS.

The Board of Management of Lindsay Home for the Aged as the result of careful and economical supervision extending over a long period of years, find themselves in the happy position of being able to announce a substantial surplus—of a size, too, when they have the added satisfaction of knowing that their generous labors in the cause of charity are drawing to a close owing to their charges having been allotted comfortable accommodation in Victoria County House of Refuge. The surplus spoken of amounts to $2,800, and, as might be expected, there is considerable difference of opinion among the members of the Board of Management as to the best use to be made of the money. The matter was formally discussed at a meeting of which appears in another column. Several suggestions were there made as to the disposal of the surplus and a large-sized committee was named, whose duty it will be to weigh the surplus question carefully and make a recommendation at a future meeting. Undoubtedly there are a number of worthy ways in which the surplus might be expended, and the committee, large as it is, may fail to agree upon the most deserving. With the hope of being able to aid them by enlisting the co-operation of our large body of subscribers, The Post will gladly print short letters and postal card suggestions (when properly signed) upon the subject, "What should be done with the Home for the Aged surplus."

SKINNING THE INNOCENTS.

If we may believe the Bobcaygeon Independent, a paper which is in high favor with the Tory organs, the "real facts" in the Healey's Falls power deal show that Hon. Dr. Willoughby and Hon. Frank Cochrane were played for a pair of guileless innocents, hence the humiliating position of the Government in the matter, says the Hamilton Times.

According to the Independent, Mr. Culverwell, the general manager of the Northumberland-Durham Power Company, has had his eye on Healey's Falls for years past, but so long as the Liberal Government was in power he could not get it. The franchise was a Provincial asset, and not to be given away for a trifle. The Hydro-Electric Commission and the statute of last session created obstacles which only circumstances could overcome. But Culverwell knew his men, he and his friends quietly secured other water powers on the Trent, formed the Northumberland-Durham Power Company, of which he retained personal control, distributed the minority of the stock so as to give an appearance of wide space to the company's ownership, and then stirred the municipal corporations up to demanding that his company be allowed a franchise of Healey's Falls for the production and distribution of electric energy. Into this trap walked Dr. Willoughby and Mr. Cochrane, the former the member for East Northumberland, the latter the Minister of Mines, both members of the Whiggy Ministry. This is in substance the Independent's theory of this very singular give-away of a public and very valuable property on a virtually perpetual leasehold. When the exposure came there was a great scurrying around to "find a way out," or at least to break the force of the fall. One way out was to charge so much per horse power as a revenue to the Province, which will eventually be paid by the users of power, contrary to the intention and spirit of the statute. Another was to keep the regulation of the price to users in the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council—that is, Dr. Willoughby, and Frank Cochrane and their colleagues. A third was to induce the chief promoter to secure from his Board of Directors an admission that the regulation of rates is under the authority of the Hydro-Electric Commission created by the statute. The admission is absolutely worthless, and cannot be enforced unless the terms of the lease are changed, and it is not intended to change them. Even if the plan succeeds, the deal stands as an utter abandonment of the ownership and operation principle to which the Premier and his colleagues were so ostentatiously pledged.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Toronto News: The efforts made by Canon Davidson, of Peterboro, to unite the Christian people of various denominations there, in an attempt to improve the moral health of the community, have awakened a great deal of interest. The Peterboro papers are printing letters and opinions concerning the movement, which appears to have centred itself on an investigation into the best means of civic government. It may be possible in the multitude of councillors to evolve some practical method of nomination which will eliminate the time-serving office-holder and bring forward the best men of the community. One writer believes the abolition of election canvassing and a compulsory vote would do a great deal, and the general trend of opinion, curiously enough, holds to the ward system of election. It is believed that it, in the past, sectionalism and ward politics developed it was due to the presence of "light weights" in the Council. If the church people of all denominations took an active interest in municipal affairs in every ward, it is likely that only men of known ability and integrity would be selected. But whatever be the concrete results of the Peterboro movement, it cannot be doubted that any successful attempt to remove sily denominational prejudices and jealousies in a community must have a beneficial influence upon its business, political and religious life.

When Eggs are Eggs.

(Leader and Recorder.)
The off season for eggs has come again. The old hens have quit and the pullets haven't started. From now to the middle of December eggs will be eggs. One writer in The News declares he had no money deposited in the Ontario Bank because he had bought a dozen eggs the week before and used up his balance. You can't have jewellery and money too. A hen that goes to her nest and deposits an egg every day for a month or two is making money for her owner. A lot of eggs will be sold for fresh that have been carefully stowed away in bran for the high prices. There are several ways of testing eggs but they often go wrong. A real fresh egg will lay still on its side under water and a stale egg will incline to tilt up the big end. The best way is to look square into the eye of the man that sells them and see if he blinks. If he has an honest open face you can trust you are safe, and if the eggs then turn out to be fresh you ought to hunt him up when you want more. One thing worth bearing in mind is that fresh eggs are very scarce and a farmer selling a lot of them for fresh is probably giving you kept over eggs. They should be in small baskets at this time of the year.

OPS TOWNSHIP LEGISLATORS

COUNTY COUNCIL MAY ASSUME OPS BRIDGE APPROACHES.

Drainage and Other Matters Considered at Monday's Session.
A regular meeting of Ops Council was held on Monday, October 29th, with all members present.
After the minutes of last regular meeting were read and confirmed, the Reeve stated that he went to see the water courses complained of by Mr. Jos. Reynolds at last meeting. Mr. Coulter had, agreeable to promise, made an outlet into the O'Leary drain, and Mr. Reynolds agreed to put in a ditch culvert between his gateway and the road, which will lessen, if not remove, the grievance complained of.
COMMUNICATIONS.
A letter from Mr. Smith, engineer, stating that he had located and staked out the Mahood, Stoney Creek and Kennedy-Jones drains, which form one system 7 1-2 miles in length; also a certificate from the Engineer asking that forty dollars be paid to Thos. O'Neill for work on said drainage.
A petition from James Whalen and others, for drainage under the Ditch and Watercourses Act, and another from John Hartnett and others, praying that the Engineer be sent to locate a drain near Hartnett's corner.
The Reeve, on motion, signed both petitions, and the Clerk was instructed to notify the Engineer accordingly.
Mr. Owen Traynor, owner of lot 7, con. 6, objected in strong terms to the proposed line of drain across his hardwood bush land without his permission, but was pleased to learn from the Council that the Engineer had reconsidered the matter and changed the line at his place.
The Clerk was instructed to request Mariposa Council to deliver the County steam crusher at Bryson's corner, 5th gr. line, that Ops Council may use it and to write to the Managers and Fenelon Councils respectively, for balance due to Ops for boundary work.
The Council, after expressing their

POPULAR TEACHER HONOURED

Miss Vida K. Scott Quitting the Post of Education.

Evening Post of Oct. 21.
A very pleasant gathering was held last evening at the residence of Mr. Alex. Horn, Francis-st., a few of the friends of Miss Vida K. Scott met to wish her good-bye. Miss Scott met with a very pleasant evening, spending a very pleasant evening. Mrs. Horn addressed Miss Scott on behalf of the company, in a few well chosen words reminding her of many ways in which she had assisted during her seven years' stay amongst us, to uplift everyone amongst whom she came in contact, especially the young at both day school and Sunday school. As a tangible reminder of her stay amongst us she asked her to accept a set of silver spoons, etc. Miss Scott, who was feelingly replied, and said that she had had so many kindnesses shown upon her since her stay in Lindsay that it really was not necessary for her to have anything to remind her of it—in fact, she felt as if she were in every place where she had been entertained. That, however, would be impossible.
After refreshments were served the company parted, after spending a very pleasant evening.
Miss Scott leaves the service of our former Lindsay teacher of the opposite persuasion has impressed Miss Scott with the idea that to grow up and better place in which to grow up and to see her is to go West—but not to teach.

Customs Office Report.

The month of October has been a pretty busy one at the local Customs office, but not quite as large as September, which was an unusually heavy month, the returns exceeding those of the present month by a good margin. "November will likely be quiet until the last week," said Customs Officer Lawshrough this morning. "But December will be a busy time." After New Year's there will be a slack period. January is always low, compared with the previous months.

Her Business.

"What business is Miss Gaskin in?"
"Oh, she's in everybody's business."
"Ah! Wholesale, eh?"
"Yes, except when it becomes a scandal. She retails that."
