LOCKMASTER FELL TO DEATH

Chas. M. Fuller, of Burleigh, Topple into Chamber Wednesday Night.

Evening Post of Nov. 9. Great excitement reigned at Burleigh Falls and surrounding territory Wednesday night, says the Peterboro Examiner, when it was learned that Charles Fuller, the veteran lockmaster, was dead. For about fifteen years, in fact since couple of years after the locks at Burleigh Falls were opened, the late Mr. Fuller was a conspicuous ter and although he was about 70 years of age, was still able to at-

The steam punt he stubbed his toe on one of the nigger heads (the round iron snubbing post to winich the boat is tied) and fell over into the water. The steam punt had just got into the lock and the fall was 20 or 30 feet. None of the other men around the lock saw the deceased fall or knew what was happening until they were attracted by the light of the lantern going through the air and then heard a splash as he struck the water. The men in the boat realized immediately what had happened and they lost no time in getting the unfortunate man out: E7erything possible was done in an enu deavor to restore life, but all in vain. Against Noxious Weeds. "It is only a few years ago that the farmers awoke to the danger from the increase of noxious weeds. The worst weed at -present is the perennial sow thistle. Its seeds are carried long distances by the wind and it is hard to get rid of. The wild mustard is widespread, and the seed is hard to kill, but, on the whole, it ts not so bad as some other weeds We are enforcing the Seed Control Act of 1905, and trying to prevent the sale of seed that is unclean or improperly graded. .The dealers, I find, are quite in sympathy with the objects of the Act. "We apply the same principle to the improvement of seed as stockmen do to the improvement of live stock. "We urge the farmers to keep on selection. We have now about 150 farmers who each year have a breeding plott of a quarter of an acre. This plot is begun with the best seed previously raised.
