ON "IMPERIAL FEDERATION"

LIEUT. COL DENNISON OF TORONTO EXPRESSES HIS VIEWS.

A thoughtful pronouncement upon an interesting subject—a large audience at the Collegiate Tuesday evening.

(From The Evening Post, Dec. 8.)
The unity and preservation of the Empire, was the subject of Lt. Col. Denison's lecture at the Collegiate Institute on Tuesday evening. Few men in Canada have given this subject deeper study or have been so intimately connected with the genesis and development of the movement to bring about preferential trade relations within the Empire. The mastery of his subject enabled Col. Denison to present it in a very clear and business-like way, while his patriotic outbursts here and there, and his eloquent peroration, warmed the audience up to high enthusiasm.

The audience was large and representative and the number of men present was very marked. The chairman, Mr. Robt. Kennedy, called on Miss Roenigk for the opening piano solo, and Miss Laidlaw for a vocal solo. These were very acceptable numbers. In introducing the speaker, the chairman said that anyone wishing further introduction to Col. Denison could easily be obtained by going to a window on his next visit to Toronto. The introduction would be speedy and effective.

The speaker in opening referred to his visit to Lindsay fifteen years ago with Mr. J. L. Hughes to address the Imperial Federation League of this country, which was then in its infancy. Col. Sam Hughes, was at that time one of the best in the world. He then went on to show the great crises so far in the history of British and the British Empire. First, the time of the Armada, when a great conflict was about to take place, followed by a grand outburst of patriotism and a thirst for commerce and extension of the Empire. Second, the American Revolution, from which Britain emerged with a great loss. Third, the French Revolution, which Napoleon fought in which she practically fought the world. From this mighty struggle she emerged as the banker, the manufacturer, the warehouse and the carrier of the world.

During the period of this struggle England was the only one in Europe where manufactures could be carried on, owing to the spread of war over all the continent. Protected by her insular position and by her fleets, she attained a supremacy which was unquestioned for years. This was the situation in 1815—Britain, the mistress of the seas, the capital, the market, the manufacturers, of the world; France, crippled and shattered; Germany, a loose collection of petty states; United States, as yet a weak people; with little capital. In addition to all this Britain had fiscal protection. What was the result? In thirty years, i.e. in 1845, her imports had grown to £70,000,000, but her exports to £130,000,000. In other words, she was getting ahead at the rate of 60 million pounds ($300,000,000) per year.

Then followed the Cobden Movement and free trade. With what result? In about twenty-five years more her imports had grown to £172,000,000, but her exports to £139,000,000 only, leaving an annual balance against her of some £33,000,000. That was the result of so-called free trade. But as a matter of fact, England was enjoying a "real protection" in this way—that Europe and United States was handicapped by a series of wars—1851 the Crimean war; 1859 Austrian war; 1861 Civil war in U.S.; 1864, German-Danish war; 1866, Prussian-Austrian war; 1870, Franco-Prussian war. These conflicts and the English tranquility really a great protection for England. Then came a thirty-year period of English Free Trade, so-called Europe and United States from 1870-1900 at peace; Germany united into a mighty empire with marvelously wise statesmanship; France, Germany and United States spending enormous sums on elementary, secondary, university and technical education; these same countries erecting high tariff walls against other countries and using every effort to protect their own industries and to cripple British industries. What is the result? In the ten years 1881-1890 British exports were 2,343 millions; in 1891-1900, British exports were 2,308 millions, an apparent gain of 55 millions for the second ten year period, but this gain becomes a loss when the great increase in the export of coal—an asset that cannot be replaced—is deducted. And yet all this time Britain was pouring out blood and treasure to gain new markets all over the world. What will be the result of this one-sided commercial war in another 30 years? Ruin and break-up of the Empire.

Another result of this period of free trade had been the agricultural depression in Britain. She used to grow 17 million quarters of wheat, almost enough to feed her people, importing only about 3 million quarters. Now she grows about 6 million quarters. American wheat feeds Britain 24 weeks out of the 52 per year. Rider Haggard has estimated the loss in the depreciation of agricultural property in Great Britain at 1,000 million pounds. This ruin of the farm has led to the rush to the cities. Bad ventilation, poor food, and other evils of overcrowding in the cities has led to a real deterioration in the physique of the Englishman, that is, of the working class who constitute about 39 per cent. of the population.

What is Canada's duty at this crisis? After sketching the formation and work of the Canadian Imperial Federation League, Col. Denison most emphatically and eloquently urged Canadians to support Chamberlain in every possible way. The Canadian Parliament from 1892, to date, the Boards of Trade all over Canada, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, are all on record as favoring preferential tariffs. At the recent meeting of the Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, held in Montreal last August, there were 200 Canadian delegates representing business life from Atlantic to Pacific, and every speaker of the 200 in favor of preferential trade relations. How can any English public man or journalist state that Canada is not with Chamberlain? We are with him, and let us give him every support. He will win eventually. "Above all, shun reciprocity with the United States," you would only tie us up with the United States, and block Chamberlain's proposals. It might lead eventually to annexation. Avoid it. Support the tariff and divert British emigration to Canada. United States has had a carnival of prosperity at our expense; now let Canada have her turn at prosperity.

Col. Hughes, in moving the vote of thanks, added a couple of strong reasons to support the speaker's arguments. At the time of Cobden's triumph the clange from sailing vessels to steam vessels was being made, and Britain, taking the lead in the matter, had a monopoly for years not only of the steam vessels but of the manufacture. Now this was changing and German and American shipping was supplanting British. Again, if the British Empire were bound by trade ties, it would pave the way for an Imperial Council that would deal with important questions. The Empire would be so powerful then in moral questions it could exert an influence not now possessed, and we should hear of no more Turkish or Russian massacres of Armenians and Jews.

Ald. Cinnamon seconded the motion and pointed out an instance from his own business of how German and American cutlery were supplanting British goods. After Col. Denison's reply the proceedings were terminated with the national anthem, led by Inspector Knight.

Gained Forty Pounds in Thirty Days

For several months our younger brother had been troubled with indigestion. He tried several remedies but got no benefit from them. We purchased some of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and he commenced taking them. Inside of thirty days he had gained forty pounds in flesh. He is now fully recovered. We have good trade on the Tablets. HOLLEY BROS., Merchants, Long Branch, Mo. For sale by all druggists.

Advertising.

(Philadelphia Evening Post.)
Probably several hundred million dollars are being spent each year in this country upon advertising. Yet the advertising industry is in its infancy, and the men of trade and commerce are just beginning to waken up to the truth that the possibilities of advertising are the greatest factor in modern business. The wise seller of to-day asks himself two questions: Where will my sign meet the eyes of the people of the kind I wish to meet? What sort of a sign will attract most eyes?

TAX LAND, SAYS JUDGE BARRON
County Judge Makes Some Forcible Remarks on the Assessment System, and Cites a "Well-Known Case in Toronto."

Addressing the Grand Jury at the County Court in Stratford last Monday, his Honor Judge Barron made forcible remarks on the assessment question. He believed, he said, that it was a strange custom which would penalize a man for making improvement to his property. No wonder people were averse to beautifying their homes when the assessor heaped on the taxes where they did not agree with the whole propaganda of the Single Tax Association, their opinions were certainly gaining ground in the Province. To tax the land only seemed to be the adequate remedy for the present condition of affairs, and he was well known among the agricultural classes, where assessors are perhaps not allowed to increase taxation to any great extent when buildings are improved. As a case in point, to illustrate the unfairness of the present system, his Honor cited the assessment of the Forester's Hall in Toronto for about half a million. The land is assessed at $2,000. Just across the road are old buildings on land assessed at the same figure. But the assessment on these buildings is only a couple of thousand dollars. Why should this be, when, on the one hand, the city is beautified, and on the other, cheapened by the appearance of the respective properties?

The Winter Race Circuit.

Mr. Geo. Powell, the well known horseman, of Orillia, was in town lately. When seen by our representative, Mr. Powell said he had made a half mile regulation ice track on Lake Couchiching and is working out several of his horses in view of getting the animals in condition for the winter race circuit, which commences in January. The circuit comprises the following towns: Peterborough, Port Perry, Bellefleur, Napanee, Brockville and Ottawa.

A Needed Improvement.

Heretofore medical men and other visitors to Ross Hospital have had to leave their horses and vehicles exposed to the weather during the term of their stay, and this has been productive of much inconvenience. At a recent meeting of the Board of Governors the matter was discussed and it was decided to have a shelter erected on the north-west corner of the grounds. It has just been completed by Contractors Chalmers and Miller, and is a neat structure capable of housing four teams of horses.

Sir Richard Cartwright's Speech.

(Toronto Star, Friday.)
Sir Richard Cartwright's speech last night was full of solid meat of information. By means of his carefully prepared figures, and the limelight views showing on a large canvas the relative state of trade now and at the time when the Liberal Government assumed power in 1896, every person present was enabled to get a clear understanding of the great development Canada has experienced in seven years. In his logical way Sir Richard took his audience over the whole field of public affairs in this instance, and it is hardly possible to have such a showing as a Cabinet Minister of any other country whatever.

As Dangerous as a Cuban War.

The Chicago Tribune says: Nineteen lives were lost on the football field during the season of 1902, one boy was driven insane from injuries and thirteen players were severely injured, some of them being disabled for life. The number of minor but painful accidents goes into the hundreds and the list of the severely injured necessarily also is incomplete. The feature of this tabulation is that it shows the serious casualties particularly were confined to the untrained players. No member of any of the first class eleven were killed or permanently disabled. One Yale player and one Harvard player suffered a broken leg. No player in any of the teams of the "big nine" in the West was the victim of any hurt worse than a wrenched shoulder, a bruised head, a sprained knee or a turned ankle. In consequence of the injuries sustained by their players several of their minor schools have forbidden the game of football. Two towns, Columbus Junction, Pa., and Greenfield, O., have stopped the sport as the result of petitions circulated by parents.

THE COUNTY COURT.

The Grand Jury Presentation.

May it Please Your Honor,—The Grand Jurors of Our Sovereign Lord the King, assembled at the General Session of the Peace for the County of Victoria, beg to make their presentation, as follows:

They have given consideration to all the cases brought before them, with the result that true bills have been presented against four persons charged with the various crimes mentioned in the respective indictments.

They have visited the County goal and found the premises in excellent order. All the prisoners expressed themselves as being satisfied with the treatment they are receiving. There are five prisoners—three men and two women.

They have had the pleasure of inspecting the Rose Memorial Hospital and were courteously received by the Lady Superintendent, who gave them an opportunity for seeing all parts of the institution and the equipment. There are at present nine patients under treatment, the number at one time for several months. It is a revelation to the Grand Jurors to find so excellent an institution in all its appointments for the care and treatment of the poor.

It is cause for gratification to the Grand Jurors to learn that the County Council is proceeding with the establishment of a new workhouse, the purpose having already been purchased. ALEX. McLEOD, Foreman.

The Best Remedy for Croup.

(Aitchison, Kan., Daily Globe.)
This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are always as sure as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and it is as good as ever. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy at once, and it will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all druggists.

Tory Answer to Mail Strikers.

That the Ministry in Ontario is far from deserving the discredit which the Mail tries to attach to them, is shown from time to time by the frank avowals of their integrity and ability made even by men who are in the ranks of their opponents politically. A man signing himself, "A Tory Traveler," recently wrote in this manner to the Toronto News: "I read in my News where M. Parkinson, school trustee, had spoken highly of Hon. E. J. Davis as Commissioner of Crown Lands. Like Mr. Parkinson, I am a Tory, and I am proud to stand so prominently by the side of a man whom I cannot see and give honor to whom honor is due, even though it is a Grit. In my capacity as a traveler, I have been four times this year in Temiskaming, and I have seen and heard such a rush for homes, and, sir, it would be impossible for the affairs to be run in a more thorough businesslike manner than has been during the great rush up there. Why Mr. Davis travelled up the new line, he has been so long and became personally acquainted with the requirements of the people all over New Ontario, they have never had as good an administrator of their affairs as the present Minister of Crown Lands."

MERRY WEDDING BELLS.

Thorne—Hooper.
A very quiet and pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 9th, at the home of Mr. John Hooper, Kent-st., when his second daughter, Louise, Selena, was united in marriage to Mr. James Thorne, of Cambury. Only the immediate relatives of the bride were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. M. G. Henderson. The bride wore a white tulle and silk dress, and looked pretty attired in cream canvas cloth trimmed with blue velvet blue ribbon and skirt of blue ladies' cloth and wore a grey velvet picture hat. Mr. Philip Mitchell assisted the groom through the ceremony.

The happy couple left on the eight o'clock train for Peterboro and came here to visit relatives, and on their return will reside in Lindsay. Many good wishes will follow the happy couple in their new life.
