ST. PAUL'S NEW ORGAN.

Magnificent Instrument Used on Sunday for the First Time.

Organist Fully Demonstrated its Grand Tone and Great Range. On Sunday morning the new organ built by the Toronto firm, Messrs. Brockles & Matthews, and opened by Mr. Geo. H. Darbie, of Toronto, was used for the first time in St. Paul's church.

The opening voluntary was sweet and solemn, calculated to inspire and devotion. The power of the organ was brought out in the Venite, which was sung to Dr. Boyce's doubtful and in D. The voices of the congregation, added to those of the choir, were well sustained in cheering notes such as "O come let us sing unto the Lord" and "For the Lord is great God," while the tones were gradually reduced until every voice was hushed with fear and awe at the pathetic passage, "Unto whom I enter into my rest," then, at the Gloria Patri, the full volume was restored. In the Te Deum, which was sung to one of the best of the settings of Ambrose's wonderful hymn, at the phrases, "We praise thee, O God," "Thou art the King of Glory," and "Day by day we magnify thee," the organ diapasons and principal of the organ easily outshined the voices of the choir, which upon these "to deliver man," and "Yonahsah, O Lord, to keep us this day without sin," the solemn accompaniment was a pleasing contrast.

In the Jubilate, which was by Edgewood, in A, the soft bass in the verse part, "Be ye sure that the Lord is God," was very effective, and the Gloria brought out the brightness of the instrument.

In the anthem, which was taken from Psalm 39, in the rivalry between the choir and the organ, the organ won an easy length, while the sweetness was brought out in the verse assurance that "His wrath is but the twinkling of an eye," and the responses to the command, "Sing unto the Lord," were sung to the simple chant from a setting of the Litany, and in these the soft stops of the instrument showed to advantage.

The hymn, "Lo! He comes with the descending," was sung to the familiar tune, Helmsley, and in this remarkable part of some composition making the same strain do duty in such unlike passages as "The Lord is God," and "O come quicken with a skilful organist." The organ instrument are shown to perfection.

The Rector preached an appropriate sermon from the bible version of Psalm 39, "Praise waiteth for thee, O God, in Zion."

In the offertory sentences sung, a voluntary was played which might be described as cheerful but not lively.

The closing voluntary brought out the resources of the organ, and the evening several selections were played which were highly appreciated.

WATER COMMISSIONERS MET.

Numerous Items of Business Dealt With.

The Consumption of Coal is Decreasing Somewhat.

A meeting of the Water Commissioners was held Monday in Secretary Hopkins' office with Chairman Flavelle in the chair. The minutes of the former meeting were read.

Mr. Jas. Graham was heard in regard to the House of Refuge, as to the installing of a meter, and after some discussion it was moved by Mayor Ray, seconded by Mr. Brady, that a lump sum of $15 be charged the House of Refuge for two months, November and December, Mr. Flavelle remarked that the Board ought to treat the House of Refuge as liberal as possible and deal with it as a public institution. Mr. Hammond was instructed to report on the service.

A communication was read from Grand Trunk Agent McCraw, re the water service and instancing their strict instructions in case of fires.

Mr. Flavelle remarked that every precaution should be used in case of an alarm of fire, and the Mayor was instructed to speak to the Captain of the Fire Brigade in regard to it at once, notifying the pump-house when the fire was over, or in case it should be a false alarm.

Mr. Hammond explained that when an alarm came in from the north ward from the boxes at the Union School, Bond and Sussex-sts, and Mr. Carey's office he would put on full pressure on account of the high grade, but if the fire were in the east or south ward full pressure would not be used.

It was stated that the consumption of coal was falling slightly, but not very much. After the hydrant had been repaired on Lindsay-st, the consumption had been less.

Mr. Hammond explained that every year the hydrant west of the market building froze up solid. There was a small leak, and the ground becoming damp froze up quickly.

Mrs. (Dr.) Allan had been billed for a whole year's service, when the service had been cut off since May 24th.

The Wood's Stove Co's account will be changed to Keys & Morris from the 1st of Sept.

Supt. Hammond was instructed to examine the service over the Post printing office.

Mr. Jas. Graham is to be refunded $1.92 on service.

A bunch of accounts were presented, but only a few were passed, others not being properly certified to.

From E. W. McGaffey, asking for a rebate on service not used.

From F. Neill, asking to have the service on the flats above the store turned off and asking for a rebate, but it was found that Mr. Neill had been using one more tap than he was paying for, so that the rebate will not be given.

From R. H. Sylvester, re over charge for quantity of water used.

From Messrs. McLennan & Co., Edwards & Co. and the Canadian Fairbanks Co., through Boxall & Mattheis as to the supplying of a set of new weigh scales. The quality of the scales was discussed, and the Fairbanks will be purchased at $30.

THE HOTEL QUESTION.

Fair Play Writes About What Peterboro Hotels do for the Public Gratia.

Dear Sir,—Knowing that your paper is always fair to all classes, and does not, like other papers, only give news of importance to those who are well off, I would like to say a few words about this license question that is just now being so much talked about.

The ministers of this town are trying to cut off some of the Peterboro hotels. If these ministers would come to the hotel where I board, the Clancy houses, just before the church time on Sundays they could see where the hotels do a lot of work for the public and make no charge.

With this additional passenger service north Peterboro people will be assured of a good share of the traffic from the very start, and no doubt it will stimulate more hauling from this part of the country to the Georgian Bay.

The Review also learned that the C.P.R. is making extensive alterations and improvements to their main line east toward Smith's Falls. They are lowering and increasing the grades as occasion demands, in preparation for the heavy freight traffic which will result from this new line.

JUDGE DEAN'S FUNERAL.

Many Sorrowing Friends Followed to the Grave Wednesday.

Belleville Ontario, Dec. 13: The body of the late Judge Dean arrived from Lindsay shortly after eleven o'clock this forenoon, and the remains were met at the station by a large number of his friends, principally members of the bar. The body was accompanied by a delegation from his former home, and was taken to the residence of ex-Mayor Bogart, on east Bridge-st, where it was viewed by many sorrowing friends.

The funeral took place at 2 p.m., and the remains were taken to Bridge-st. Methodist church, followed by a large concourse of citizens. The pallbearers were Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Lieut.-Col. S. S. Lezier, Magistrate Diamond, and George Denmark Sheriff. Hoff was to have been a bearer, but owing to the injury to his hand at his morning's fire, he was unable to act. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. P. Wilson, assisted by Rev. D. Dyer, Rev. R. H. Leitch and Rev. Geo. Brown.

The funeral was attended by the faculty and male students of Albert College, the legal profession, as well as the officers of Bridge-st. church and a large number of members of Mr. Holton's bible class, of which the late Judge was the founder. Interment took place in the Belleville cemetery.

SURVEY WORK IN PROGRESS.

Georgian Bay and Seaboard Line Will be First Class Road.

Line Will be Completed for Traffic by Early Fall of 1907.

The following from Thursday's Peterboro Review will interest Lindsay citizens: Yesterday afternoon the Review learned that it was the intention of the C.P.R. to start construction work just as early in the spring as was possible. As was noted in these columns before, a gang of sixteen men are engaged on the surveys for the Georgian Bay and Seaboard line, for such is the official name of the line the C.P.R. will build from Peterboro, through Lindsay and Orillia, to either Midland or Victoria Harbor, according to grades and other conditions. The line will be first class in every respect, as the C.P.R. intend making this their main grain route from the North-west. They will get the lowest possible grades and as straight and short a line as possible. The surveys will work on probably half a dozen routes and will report to the company, recommending the route they consider best adapted for the company's purpose.

When the Review saw Mr. W. A. Gourlay, who is in charge of the survey, he said that his men had started work Saturday at noon, and had been working hard every day since. Their camp at the head of Bethune-st., and Mr. Gourlay said that they would probably remain there until they had completed about half the distance to Lindsay, which will be six or eight weeks. Mr. Gourlay confirmed the rumor that the Georgian Bay and Seaboard branch of the C.P.R. would be first-class in every respect. The roadbed will be the very best, the grades the easiest possible, and the rails heavy enough to carry the big mogul engines and heavy freights. The chief surveyor also confirmed the rumor that it was the intention of the C.P.R. to commence the construction work next spring.

Asked if the work would be done in time to carry part of next year's crop, Mr. Gourlay said hardily. They might have the grading done by that time, but they could not have the track laid. It was not the intention to have the line completed and ready for traffic much before the early fall of 1907.

In order to get the easiest grades the line will necessarily have to be inclined to curve considerably, will it not?" "Oh, no. It all depends on the amount of money the company wants to put into it. In any case the road will be an expensive one, and it will cost a good deal more than the company say so, we can give them a perfectly straight line. It is just probable, though, that the new line will be a little longer than the Grand Trunk, but this will be easily discounted on the grades and the class of the road."

"The main object of the new line is freight, is it not?" "Yes, that is the real reason it is being built, but at the same time the C.P.R. will also not get any local trade that is going."

"By that you mean that a passenger service will be given?" "Oh, certainly, and the passenger train will also be first-class in every respect."

With this additional passenger service north Peterboro people will be assured of a good share of the traffic from the very start, and no doubt it will stimulate more hauling from this part of the country to the Georgian Bay.

The Review also learned that the C.P.R. is making extensive alterations and improvements to their main line east toward Smith's Falls. They are lowering and increasing the grades as occasion demands, in preparation for the heavy freight traffic which will result from this new line.

COUNCILS AND LOCAL OPTION.

SECRET SESSIONS FATAL TO THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE.

Some Municipal Bodies Suspected of Being Workable.

Local option campaigns are being waged in 116 municipalities. Of these there are fifty-one where the councils have agreed to submit the by-law to the electors, twenty places where the councils refused, fifteen cases where the matter was dropped before coming to the council, and thirty that are doubtful, half of which are expected to decide in favor of a vote.

The Pioneer this week speaks out strongly and says: "It is a discredit to our province that so many councils co-incidence, but it is rather reversible 'workable.' It may be only a coincidence, but it is rather remarkable that in almost every case where the council went into secret session to decide the local option question the decision was adverse to the temperance people."

Who Holds the Control?

In all stock companies the stockholders retain the full control even where policy-holders have been allowed "a voice" in the direction of affairs; but in a purely Mutual Company, such as the policy-holders alone elect the board of directors, who appoint all the officers, and therefore, mutual policy holders through the board control and perpetuate the efficient management of its affairs. "Continuity of management" is desirable only when exercised in the best interests of policy-holders.
