IN A GERMAN HOSPITAL

Where the Christmas Angel Visit Suffering Children. In one of the German hospitals of our country is observed a custom quite in accordance with the beautiful sentiment the Germans weave about Christ-

Christmas belongs to the childreneverybody knows that-but it belongs to them in a deeper, more beautiful sense than "everybody" knows. One mum. I ve just had to cut it up to is reminded of it, however, if he witnesses such a scene as is portrayed in this hospital on Christmas eve. One of the nurses dresses in a long, soft flowing robe of white, bearing in her hand a fir bough covered with snow. The snow is cotton sprinkled with diamond dust. This is the Christmas angel. The children are told of the gentle visitor and wait in their little cots. When darkness is outside they hear the The nurses are singing Christmas carols, and the sounds come through open doors. Then the Christmas angel comes. She goes to each little cot, bending over each little form to listen to the whispered secrets. Each one tells her what he wants on Christmas day. Then, with a tender word, she passes out, and to the sound of the carols they all fall asleep-those who can slip away from pain. When the day dawns all the children are taken into the kindergarten. Some are carried, some are rolled, and some there what he asks for-drums and Of course the scientist, nonplussed dolls and trumpets and books. On a fong, low table is a plate for each one, filled with candles and queer little German cakes. On one wall is a tableau of the Nativity made of small wax figures, and a painting on the wall completes the perspective of hills and shepherds and the guiding star. Hanging from the wall in the center of the ward is a large hoop covered with laurel. At intervals around it are set lighted can> by four wide ribbons. In the fever ward, where the contagious diseases are cared for, the little patients of course cannot leave, but they have their Christmas too. Two large, fine spruce trees stand in each end of the ward, brilliantly illuminated by tiny, many colored electric lights, -Philadelphia North American.

Because They Can't Keep the Children Warm-Coal Famine In Northwestern States Is Very Serious.

Washington, Dec. 17.-Senator Mc-Cumber Saturday received this telegram from J. P. Whittemore, dated at Galesburk, North Dakota: "The United States army could not be better employed than in compelling and assisting these railroads to drop everything and haul us coal. Half the northwest will be freezing in a week, and the whole of it in two weeks." Mr. McCumber announced his intention of forwarding the telegram to the president, as commander-in-chief of the army. Public Schools Closing. Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota consulted the members of the committee Saturday. He declared the situation resulting from shortage of coal in his state was most deplorable and that the public schools in some localities were closing on account of lack of fuel to keep the children

The commission will begin investigating the situation next week at Minneapolis and Chicago. Commissioners Lane and Harlan left Washington Saturday night for Minneapolis to begin the enquiry. Burn Buildings For Fuel.

Mangum, Okla., Dec. 17 .- A coal famine is now prevailing in this part of Oklahoma. There is no timber for fuel, and many farmers are burning fences and outbuildings. The weather is cold. Coal in transit is confiscated by the railroads, and apparently there is no relief in sight. Unless relief comes shortly, all public works will be closed, and many families will suffer.

Will Move Only Coal. Minneapolis, Dec. 17.-The railroad's are trying to meet the distressing need of the North Dakotans, who are without fuel in zero weather, and where the need is most imperative. The Great Northern Road ordered dles. It is suspended from the ceiling | Saturday acceptance of carload shipments for west of Grand Forks limited to coal. Towns suffering most now have received relief.

Can't Move Trains. Grand Forks, N. D., Dec. 17 .- It is said that between Grand Forks and Minot, on the Great Northern Railway, there are eleven freight trains, which cannot be moved on account of the heavy snow or the shortage of coal, or both. While the fuel shortage is menacing London, Dec. 18 .- (C. A. P.)-Sir on account of the prevailing blizzard, Francis Hopwood has been appointed not all towns in North Dakota are permanent Under Secretary of State | without fuel. But when coal or wood is wanting, the situation is critical.
