

words out on your phone and show the screen while still maintaining a safe distance. You can also use the speech-to-text function on the phone that voice assistants like Siri on the iPhone or Google Assistant offer.