

Fleming College creates fall launch plan to support students

This Week

Fleming College is launching a new online resource to support students beginning their college experience in this online and alternate delivery environment.

The Fleming Fall 2020 Launch Plan features important information for new and returning students as well as Set Up For Success workshops and Virtual Orientation events. The plan aims to support students during their college transition and ensure the online and alternate delivery environment is memorable and successful for them.

“We want to ensure students feel completely supported throughout their studies at Fleming College by providing them with the resources and services they need to be successful and most importantly, safe,” stated president Maureen Adamson. “Although this fall semester is certainly unique, we are proud to welcome new students to Fleming College and look forward to meeting them in our new virtual learning spaces.”

Students can prepare before classes begin via an online workshop series hosted by Fleming’s Tutoring & Academic Skills Centre, library, and Student Experience. Workshop series topics include Skills and Strategies, Technology, Academic Supports, Diversity and Inclusion, and Student Life 101. Students may attend any or all workshops in the series between Aug. 31 and Sept. 4.

During Orientation Week - Sept. 8 to 11 - students will be able to drop in to WebEx rooms to chat with any of Fleming’s service areas including Housing and Food, Academic Supports, Career Services, Indigenous Student Services, International Student Services, Rights and Responsibilities, Campus Store, Equity, Diversity and Inclusion, Financial Aid, Health Services, Student Administration Council, Learning Support Services, Counselling, Accessible Education and Safety and Security. An Ask Me Anything WebEx meeting room will also be available Sept. 8 to 18 for students to drop in and receive support and answers.

As per the Fleming Safe Plan, the fall semester begins Sept. 8 through online and alternate delivery. Program delivery is subject to change based on government and public health requirements. The status for all Fleming programs is available at <https://flemingcollege.ca/fall-2020-programs>.
