

NEWS

Who should get a COVID-19 vaccine first in Canada? New formal advice released

By Alex Boyd Calgary Bureau

Tuesday, November 3, 2020

Canadians have been given their first look at who could be prioritized once a COVID-19 vaccine becomes available in this country.

A national advisory body tasked with giving immunization advice released on Tuesday its first set of guidelines. They suggest the elderly and the high risk as well as health-care and essential workers should be first in line for a vaccine.

The National Advisory Committee on Immunization's guidelines are not binding but