

have gone relatively smoothly.

“I think everyone has risen to the challenge admirably,” she says. “Parents have been concerned, but supportive, and, I think, we’re all just happy to have the kids back.”