Pandemic or not, Victim Services is still here to help

Published on November 21, 2020 — in Social Issues — by Lindsay Advocate

Since the onset of COVID-19, members of the Ontario Network of Victim Service Providers (ONVSP) have seen an increase in domestic violence and sexual assault calls. And with a second wave becoming increasingly turbulent, so do the lives of vulnerable people.

As such, ONVSP wants to let victims know that during the health emergency support is available. They do not need to remain in a dangerous situation.

Across Ontario there are 44 ONVSP member agencies, where staff continue to work to
