

NEWS

The COVID-19 vaccine is coming. Are immunity passports next?

By Rob Ferguson Queen's Park Bureau

Wednesday, December 9, 2020

Ontario is about to examine the role that proof of COVID-19 vaccination or “immunity passports” will play in society as new daily cases remain near record levels.

With the first shots expected soon and the province reporting 1,890 more infections Wednesday, Premier Doug Ford's government is looking at providing “tech-based” certificates in addition to alternatives for people who prefer not to keep such records on devices such as smart phones.