

COBOURG ARCHITECTURE TIMELINE

1970-1979

WAGNER HOUSE

This home is in the style that was tremendously popular in the late 60s and early 70s - the split level house. The two storey section with the garage is connected to the one storey level at mid-height. 333 Lakeshore Dr. 1970

1973

Queen Elizabeth visits Cobourg.

MADELINE ROONEY BRIDGE

This bridge on Harden St. was named by Council to honour Miss Rooney. A tireless and lifelong worker for the good of her home town, she was also Citizen of the Year in 1977. There is still no identifying plaque on Madeline's bridge. 1972

1 HAMILTON COURT

The mansard roof, more typical of the late 19th century, shows prominently in this rear view photo. Here is a less common example of the gables projecting out from the roof. The home faces toward Lake Ontario. 1970s

COBOURG BEST WESTERN HOTEL

What was once a house and collection of cottages on the main highway between Toronto and Montreal has gradually developed into this modern hotel. Changes to the building are regularly being made in line with customers' needs and corporate styling. 930 Burnham St. 1978
