PAYS TRIBUTE TO FATHER DUFFY

Judge Field Recalls Youth of Distinguished United States Padre

His Honor Judge Frank M. Field, one of Cobourg's distinguished native sons who occupies the bench of York County, writes to the editor of The Toronto Mail and Empire on recent date regarding an appreciation from the pen of Fred Williams in which tribute was paid to the memory of the late Rev. Father Frank-P. Duffy.

Judge Field wrote as follows:

Judge Field's Letter

Sir,—I have read with much appreciation Fred Williams' very fine tribute to a former fellow-townsmen of mine, Father Frank Patrick Duffy. I venture to say (notwithstanding the wide fame he achieved in the United States, and indeed through the world) nowhere will his passing be more deeply deplored than in his native town of Cobourg, where he was regarded by his contemporaries with affectionate esteem and, by later generations, with pride, because of his well-earned fame in affairs of Church and State.

I knew him and his family circle well in his boyhood days. It is quite true as has been stated in some of the press notices that, in his early boyhood like many of his relatives, he found employment in the woolen-mills, then in active operation in Cobourg, and had to contend, in obtaining his education, with financial difficulties such as few have had to overcome.

Warm Protestant Friends

Though staunch Catholics, the family of Father Duffy in his youth, held a warm place in the esteem and regard of their Protestant neighbors, of whom I was one, before the family moved to the City of New York. It is doubtful if Father Duffy, though a very clever student, could have pursued his theological course had it not been for the benevolence of the late Rev. Monsignor Murray, the revered parish priest of Cobourg who lived to celebrate his jubilee in the priesthood. Though Rev. Father Duffy (as he told me) had returned too rarely to his native town (where he had undoubtedly experienced some hardships, while realizing, no doubt, the pride with which his prominence in the public life of the United States was regarded by his former townsmen), he never failed to find time to visit my aged mother (who died in December, 1930, in her 93rd year) often telling her of her kindness to him as a boy. On one occasion, shortly after the war, he received the plaudits in Victoria Hall of Cobourg citizens whom he greatly entertained by his very delightful and witty address. It will be recalled that, on going to France, he conducted a service at the grave of the late President Roosevelt's gallant son who was killed while serving with the British army. The world is undoubtedly bettered by the life of so fine a citizen and churchman and all who know him will, I am sure, concur in your concluding tribute. "Requiescat in pace."

On Tuesday afternoon, June 28, Mrs. Herbert Davidson kindly offered her home to members of her group to entertain other members of the Women's Missionary Society and ladies of the vicinity. Material for a quilt was purchased and cut in blocks which the ladies industriously patched that afternoon. A dainty lunch was served, for which a charge
