DOWNERS GROVE,

A Remarkable Dam.

One of the most remarkable dame is the world for height and construction is that by which the Tyrnwy river (northern Wales) is enabled to supply water to the city of Liverpool, some seventy miles distant.

In building this dam a great trench was at first excavated across the valley bedded in Portland cement mortar, the faces being formed of cut-stone blocks fitted together with great care, the greatest height of the dam being 161

Its most remarkable feature is the lack of any channel to carry off floods, the surplus of the lake flowing down the front of the dam, which is curved to permit as free a descent as possible and prevent the formation of eddies at the bottom. The lake formed by this main dam covers an area four and threequarter miles long, from one-quarter to five-eights of a mile wide and bolds largely over 12,000,000 galions.

The aqueduct leading from the intake tower to the distributing reservoir, shout two miles from the city, is sixtyeight miles long and consists principalpelled to admit that the joke was against | ly of a large cast cast-iron pipe line from thirty-nine to forty-two inches in diameter. There are a number of reservoirs and takes along the line and a one place is a great filtering plant.
