HEART DISEASE, like many other ailments when they have taken hold of the system, consequently grows worse. There are thousands who know they have a defective heart, but will not admit the fact. They don't want their friends to worry, and don't know what to take for it, as they have been told time and again that heart disease was incurable. Such was the case of Mr. Silas Farley of Dyersville, Ohio who writes June 19, 1894, as follows:

"I had heart disease for 23 years, my heart hurting me almost continually.
The first 15 years I doctored all the time, trying several physicians and remedies, until my last doctor told me it was only a question of time as I could not be cured.
I gradually grew worse, very weak, and completely discouraged, until I lived, propped half up in bed, because I couldn't lie down nor sit up. Thinking my time had come I told my family what I wanted done when I was gone. But on the first day of March on the recommendation of Mrs. Fannie Jones, of Anderson, Ind., I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart and wonderful to tell, in ten days I was working at light work and on March 19 commenced framing a barn, which is heavy work, and I haven't lost a day since. I am 55 years old, 5 ft. 4 1/2 inches and weigh 230 lbs.
I believe I am fully cured, and I am now only anxious that everyone shall know of your wonderful remedies." Dyersville, Ohio. SILAS FARLEY.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit.
All druggists sell it at 50¢, 6 bottles for $3.00 or it will be sent prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

MODERN WOODMEN PICNIC.

Gala Day at Madison, Wis., on June 6.
Twenty-five Thousand People Expected.

The citizens of Madison, Wisconsin, are arranging for the entertainment of twenty-five thousand people from abroad on Thursday, the 6th day of June next.
On this day will occur the great annual picnic of the Wisconsin and Illinois members of the Modern Woodmen of America.
The railroads which touch Wisconsin's capital city have made a rate of one fare for all within a radius of 100 miles of Madison who wish to attend, the tickets to be sold any time after June 4 and good to return the day after the picnic. Those living beyond the 100 mile limit can obtain special rates by application to the roads early enough, and if too late can purchase to the 100-mile limit and then get a one-fare ticket, saving much.

A fine programme has been arranged, which includes a procession of ten thousand to fifteen thousand Woodmen in line with thirty to forty bands of music, escorted by the Governor's guard of Madison, the crack Wisconsin company of the National Guard, floats representing wood and industrial scenes. There will be speaking by prominent people, excursions to various points of interest, an exhibition by the local fire department, exhibition drill by the guardsmen, tumbling and turning in the largest gymnasium in the world, that of the Wisconsin state university. The day will be crowded with events and made one long to be remembered by visitors.

Inasmuch as many visitors will be present during the day previous, Wednesday, it has been decided to have a regatta on Lake Monona, which will include eight-oared gig races between four class teams from the state university; eight-oared shell race between three crews, inter-fraternity race, inter-litrary society boat race, sailing and paddle canoe races, swimming race, tub race, water tournament, water polo, and concluding with an our salute by the 'varsity crew.

Friday following the picnic there will be a fine game of ball in the inter-college league and other attractions.

The week will be distinctly Woodmen's gala week, with the sessions of the head camp to add to the importance of the four days in the Badger capital.

Every arrangement has been made to make the visitors welcome. The state house park will be given up to the guests, and Governor Upham is expected to join with the mayor of the city in making the visitors feel at home.

There are dictionaries and dictionaries but the noblest Roman of them all is Webster's. This was said of the latest "Unabridged" by a prominent writer.
As it was true of that work, how much more applicable the statement is to its successor, the "International," which after a vast outlay has been brought to completion and placed upon the market.

This new Webster, by natural right, has taken a warm place in the regard of the English-speaking people. It is recognized as the standard authority. While compact, it is sufficiently comprehensive, and while strikingly attractive typographi-cally, and rich and substantial in binding, it is still within the reach of about all who wish to possess a work of this kind.

In these days of sensational publishing and advertising it is refreshing to observe with what conscientious scholarly labor this new Webster has been produced and the conservative methods by which it is being presented by the well-known Merriam publishing house of Springfield, Mass.

NOTICE

Scaled bids will be received by the committee on county farm of Du Page county, state of Illinois, for all the labor and material required to construct and complete alterations of the county poor farm buildings, sewerage and plumbing. All bids for the same to be closed on the 30th day of May, 1895, at 6 o'clock p. m. Said committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Plans and specifications for all work may be had by application to building committee at the office of the county clerk at Wheaton, Ill. Dated May 8th, 1895. John Christie, Wm. Ham-schmidt and R. S. Chandler, Committee.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO.

How to Cure Yourself While Using It.

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco, to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves.
Baco-Curo is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure, purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want, while taking Baco-Curo, it will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to permanently cure any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent. interest. Baco-Curo is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke. Sold by all druggists, with our ironclad guarantee, at $1.00 per box, three boxes (thirty days treatment) $2.50, or sent direct upon receipt of price. Send six two-cent stamps for sample box, booklet and proofs free.

STORIES ABOUT LINCOLN.

William O. Stoddard in his "Table Talk of Abraham Lincoln" tells some good stories. Here are some of them: To a friend who had obtained from him a pardon for a deserter Lincoln said: "Some of our generals complain that I impair discipline and subordinate the army by my pardons and respite, but it makes me rested after a hard day's work if I can find some good excuse for saving a man's life."

At the very outset of the war sundry wise men from New York urged Mr.
Lincoln to keep away confederate armies from Washington by naval attacks upon southern seaports. It reminded him, he said, of a New Salem, Ill., girl, who was troubled with a "singling in her head," for which there seemed to be no remedy, but a neighbor promised a cure if they would "make a plaster of psalm tunes and apply to her feet and draw the singing down."

At the time when Gen. Burnside's force was besieged in Knoxville, Tenn., with an apparent danger of being starved into surrender, a telegram came one day from Cumberland Gap announcing that "Firing is heard in the direction of Knoxville." "Glad of it," exclaimed Mr. Lincoln. "Why should you be glad of it?" asked a friend who was present in some surprise. "Why, you see," he exclaimed, "it reminds me of Mrs. Sallie Ward, a neighbor of mine.
She had a very large family. Occasionally one of her numerous progeny would be heard crying in some out-of-the-way place and she would exclaim:
'There's one of my children that isn't dead yet!'"

No doubt Mr. Lincoln sufficiently appreciated the good qualities of ex-President Fillmore, then living, but a mention of him one evening brought out a shot at the vice-presidential succession.
Just after Taylor's death, when Fillmore succeeded him, Fillmore needed to buy a carriage. A gentleman here was breaking up housekeeping and had one for sale and Fillmore took Edward (the old doorkeeper of the white house) with him when he went to look at it. It seemed to be a pretty good turnout but Fillmore looked it carefully over and then asked Edward: "How do you think it will do for the president of the United States to ride in a second-hand carriage?" "Sure, your excellency," replied Edward, "you're only a second-hand president, you know."

The result of the great conflict seemed to be in more doubt than ever just after the emancipation proclamation. Mr.
Lincoln expressed his own view of the situation with: "We are a good deal like whalers who have been long on a chase. At last we have got our harpoons fairly into the monster; but we must look out how we steer or with one flip of his tail he will yet send us all into eternity."

Mr. Lincoln had several reasons for not admiring ex-President Tyler and a mention of him on one occasion brought out an anecdote. "A year or two after Tyler's accession to the presidency," said Mr. Lincoln, "contemplating an excursion in some direction, his son went to order a special train of cars. It so happened that the railroad superintendent was a very strong whig. On Bob's making known his errand, that official promptly informed him that his road did not run special trains for the president. 'What,' said Bob; did you not furnish a special train for the funeral of Gen. Harrison?' 'Yes, said the superintendent, stroking his whiskers; and if you only bring your father here in that shape you shall have the best train on the road.'"

In a letter to Gen. Hooker, June 6, 1863, Lincoln said: "In one word, I would not take any risk of being entangled upon the river, like an ox jumped half over a fence and liable to be torn by dogs front and rear, without a fair chance to gore one way or kick the other."

This is the reply to fault-finders at the white house: "Gentlemen, suppose all the property you were worth was in gold and you had put it in the hands of Blondin to carry across the Niagara river on a rope, would you shake the cable or keep shouting out to him: 'Blondin, stand up a little straighter; Blondin, stoop a little more; go a little faster; lean a little more to the north; lean a little more to the south?' No you would hold your breath as well as your tongue and keep your hands off until he was safe over. The government are carrying an immense weight. Untold treasures are in their hands. They are doing the best they can. Don't badger them. Keep silence and we'll get you safe across."

He once said to Newton Bateman: "I know there is a God and that he hates injustice and slavery. I see the storm coming and I know that His hand is in it. If he has a place and work for me —and I think he has—I believe I am ready. I am nothing, but truth is everything. I know I am right because I know that liberty is right, for Christ teaches it and Christ is God."

In a speech at Chicago in 1858, he said: "My friend has said that I am a poor hand to quote scripture. I will try it again, however. It is said in one of the admonitions of our Lord: 'As your Father in heaven is perfect, be ye also perfect.' The Saviour, I suppose, did not expect any human creature could be perfect as the Father in heaven, but he said: 'As your Father in heaven is perfect, be ye also perfect.' He set that up as a standard and he who did most in reaching that standard attained the highest degree of moral perfection. So I say in relation to the principle that all men are created equal, let it be as nearly reached as we can. If we cannot give freedom to every creature, let us do nothing that will impose slavery upon any other creature."

Heartrending.

The sunny skies of Greece arched above them. "Maid of Athens," he cried tumultuously, "give, oh, give me back my heart." The girl grew suddenly very pale. "Sir," she rejoined with trembling voice, "I have a confession to make. I cannot give you back your heart. I neglected to air it properly and the moths got it." It was a terrible predicament, but there was no help for it.—Detroit Tribune.
