The Sharpness of Spiders.

Many of the spiders are mimics. In my garden I had yellow spiders that lived in the flowers of yellow nasturtiums; green ones that offered little contrast to the rose bush upon which they lay in wait for the helpless aphidae.

The most extraordinary attempt at defense it was ever my good fortune to observe on the part of a spider was one which the insect not only disguised, but rendered itself completely insensible. was wandering through the bog cedar bush of one of the Florida Keys, sixty miles from Cuba, when I came upon a huge web that completely barred the way; the long cables extended as braces in every direction, while in the center poised a big yellow spider.

The moment it caught sight of me it began to swing the web, first slowly, then more rapidly, until in a short time the spider had disappeared from view, although not a foot from my eyes; it was simply vibrating in its web, but so rapidly that my eyes could not follow In a few moments the motion gradually ceased, and as I remained perfectly quiet, the spider asumed his normal position, beginning the swinging when I touched the web. Such device would completely deceive

Personnel of the Army and Navy.

An examination of the last "Army Register" reveals the interesting fact that there are now 518 officers who were born in the southern states, including the District of Columbia, out of a total of 2,159 commissioned officers.

shows a goodly number of younger ofticers who have been graduated from the paval academy at Annapolis whose standing and conduct in the service the people of the south, as well as the whole country, have just reason to be proud of. Will Remove Stains from Marble. Muriatic acid will remove the stains from the marble basins, etc., in the bathroom. A daily application of sandsoap is a good cleanser, but during the summer months when houses are closed and the daily cleansing does not occur, a stain is formed that delies the effort of usual household cleansers. It is now that muriatic acid will perform what other appliances have failed to do. Let be immediately scrubbed with soap and for two weeks' vacation, be has fifty water and flushed to remove all traces | weeks in a year, in which time he turns of the acid. CIVILIZED MAN HATES NOISE.

A Growing Appreciation of Silence As companies Advancement of the Race.

To primitive man noise meant danger, says a writer in the North American Review. Therefore when the savage heard a noise, whether it was the roar of the tempest, the sweep of the avalanche, or the soft approach of the foe at night, he put himself on guard. Noise awakened all his energies; it had a quality of terror in it, and it still has this terror in it, and it still has this quality-for me. In the Chinese army the troops used to shout at the top of their lungs when they were attacked, in order to terrify their enemies; and when both sides yelled together the effect of the din has been described by Europeans as appalling.

It is true that civilized man is no longer so acutely affected by noise; but it still acts as an irritant, and the time will come when its deleterious effect will be recognized. Even in childrenand children are supposed to enjoy noise of the most maddening kinds-I can see the growing appreciation of silence. A few months ago, when we escaped for a while from the din of the town to the quiet hamlet where I yearly recruit my noise-shattered nerves, my little girl of 7 said on our first evening in the country: "Isn't it nice to listen to the silence?" The advance of the savage toward civilization is marked by the abatement of noise. The more savage the tribe the more noise it requires.

One of the great clock manufacturers of this country is said to make a cheap clock with a particularly loud and aggressive tick for export to the South Sea Islands. The natives will have no time there is a protest. I reverence Webster for his rebuke to a gabbing barber who asked him how he would like to be shaved: "In silence," said the great man. But as a nation we tolerate an amount of senseless, aggravating din that we should have outgrown a century ago.

Our idea of a popular rejoicing and celebration is still the Chinese one-lots of noise. Our Fourth of July is made hideous by Chinese tirecrackers and sensible people shudder, and as becomes the most long-suffering nation on earth we allow it to go on year after year. Those who can, get away from civilization, so called, on that glorious day. Again, our fashion of ushering in the new year is to ring all the bells of the town for half an hour, let all the steam whistles screech till steam runs low in the boilers and fire off any guns or pistols that may be handy.

The Work He Does.

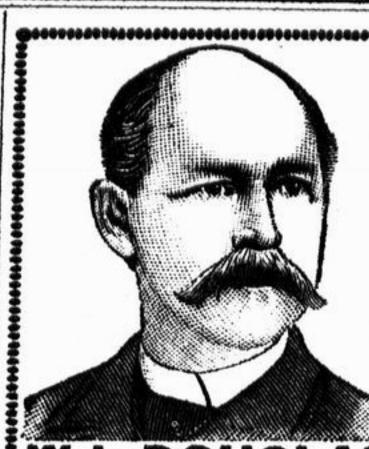

How much does a newspaper man write in a year? An old newspaper worker has sat down and figured it out. the water be shut off, the basin emptied | He figures that he writes an average of completely and dried, the muriatic acid a column and a half every day, except applied with a small rag upon the end for his Sunday paper, when he contriof a stick; the stain will disappear in- butes three columns. This makes stantaneously. The basin should then twelve columns a week, and, allowing keeping it from dropping upon the of short stories contains about 40,000 plumbing attachments, as its strong words, therefore his year's labor is annum does not strike the newspaper man as an incredibly hard task, even allowing for the extra amount of thought involved in story writing. Mr. good day's work. Thomas Janvier is satisfied with 400 words, or a little over a quarter of a column. - Indianapolis Bentinel

EXPRESS THOUGHT BY WHISTLING. Strange Language Common on One of the Canary Islands.

A German officer who has spent some time on Gomera Island, one of the Canaries, describes the whistling language used by the inhabitants, says an exchange. It consists of the ordinary speech of the natives, expressed by articulate whistling. Each syllable has its own appropriate tone. The whistler uses both fingers and lips, and it is asserted that conversation can be kept up at the distance of a mile. Whistling is said to be confined to Gomera Island, and to be quite unknown on the other islands of the group. The adoption of this mode of carrying on conversation is due to the geological formation of the island, which is intersected by frequent gullies and ravines. As there are no bridges across these ravines, intercourse between neighbors is often difficult. A man living within a stone's throw of another may have to go many miles around to make a call upon his neighbor, and the inconvenience of intercourse led the people to cultivate whistling as a useful means of conversing at a distance. The natives of the Cameroons, on the west coast of Africa, use what may be called the drum language. For this purpose a peculiarly shaped drum is used. The surface of the head is divided into two unequal parts. In this way the instrument is made to yield two distinct tones. By varying the intervals between the notes a complete code of signals for every syllable in the language is produced. All the natives understand the code, and by means of it messages can be sent quickly from one village to another. The drummer in one village sends on to the next the signals which he hears, and so on until the message is delivered. Another queer language is the finger speech, as it may be called, of oriental traders. It is largely employed on the east coast of Africa. The parties engaged in converstion by this method clasp each other's hands beneath the capacious sleeves worn in the east. If they are not wearing garments with sleeves then one will unroll his This association is just starting in turban and under the folds of it they will carry on the bargaining in which they are engaged. The reason for adopting this secret intercourse is simple. In the east all business is transacted in the open air. The idle bystanders have a good deal to say and are free with advice. It would become HOOD'S PILLS cure Liver Ills, Bil- a great hindrance to trade were it not
