His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it-heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kildney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell Then the richness of the blood—the albumen leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and mention this paper.

Judge Yates Addresses a Great Throng at Jacksonville.

Home of the Gubernatorial Candidate the Mecca of Thousands of Republicans.

State Issues Thorough! Discussed and Many Facts and Figures Given.

Judge Richard Yates, candidate for governor, formally opened the Illinois Republican campaign at his home city, Jacksonville, Saturday, Sept. 1, at a demonstration easily the greatest and most enthusiastic ever witnessed in that section of the state. With him on the occasion of this grand opening rally were the nominees on the Republican ticket for the other state offices, Judge Elbridge Hanecy, Congressman Walter Reeves and Judge O. N. Carter, who were aspirants for the gubernatorial nomination, together with a large delegation from the Hamilton club and Cook County Republican Legion of Chicago and prominent Republicans and politicians from every section of Illinois. Morgan county people, irrespective of politics, vied with each other in cheering for Dick Yates, a gratifying and well-deserved tribute to his personal popularity from those who have known him from boyhood and know his worth and ability. It was a gala, proud day for Jacksonville, the city being elaborately dressed in the national colors and the streets thronged by thousands. Music from a hundred bunds broke the echoes of the home of the gubernatorial nominee and scores of marching clubs particlpaicd in the torchlight procession at night. Or every coat lapel was a Yates button and the opening rally of the Republican state campaign could not have been more auspicious or successful. Judge Yates was at his best, delivering a masterful address of over an bour in length, in which he thoroughly and ably discussed national and state issues. He said:

Mr. Chairman and Ladies and Gentle-

It is a great pleasure to me to be with you today. It has been more pleasant than I can tell, to note the kind of reception which you of the city and vicinity of my birthplace and home, have given to my associates and friends who have come here to speak today.

We are not so egotistical as to assume that this great assembling and outpouring of the people is for the mere purpose of doing honor to us. We are proud of it, not because it is a compliment to us, But because it indicates that degree of popular interest in public affairs, which is the foundation of our civilization and the safeguard of our liberties. Fellow citizens, the questions before us on this occasion are worthy of discussion. Each ought to be discussed calmly and without denunciation. want to speak to you of them all in a manner calculated to secure your respectful consideration. I want to appeal to your reason, your conscience and your love of home and country, instead of your passion, your prejudice and your imprudent impulse.

Furthermore, let me say to all here, try's highest welfare, and willing to support those men most devoted, and those measures most conducive to the national weal; and accordingly, while I made to satisfy you that the object we here have in view is to benefit our common country-to contribute to our common welfare.

The Glorious Republican Record.

My fellow countrymen, during nearls twenty years of political campaigning I have always been glad and proud to speak of, and in behalf of, the Republican party. I am glad and proud to do so today. It is a party of illustrious names: Fremont, Lincoln and Hamlin; Sumner, Seward and Grant; Colfax, Chandler and Chase; Morton, Wilson and Conkling; Garfield, Arthur and Blaine; Harrison, Roosevelt and McKinley. What a glorious roll it is! Those names are written in letters of living light, high on the dome of the temple of fame, and they are written in letters of lasting fire, deep in the hearts and souls of men.

And the record of the Republican party is as glorious as its names. Every young voter should study well that splendid career. The Republican party is the party of the settler's homestead. It is the party of the slave's liberation. It is the party of the Union's preservation. It is the party of the soldier's pension. It is, therefore, the party of the republic's salvation. It is the party of the dollar's soundness. It is the party of financial honor. It is the party of commercial progress. It is the party of industrial activity. It is, therefore, the party of the nation's prosperity. It is the party of free labor. It is the party which dignifies labor and degrades it not. It is the party of the laborer's protection. It is the party of living wages. It is, therefore, the party of the child's education, the party of the parents' contentment, and the party of the home's happiness. It is the party of the ballot's freedom. It is the party of majority rule. It is the party of enfranchisement, not disfranchisement. It is the real party of the consent of the governed. It is, therefore, the party, of all parties, which, in all its historic and heroic endeavor, has defended, upheld and preserved, inviolate, that charter of American liberty, the Declaration of Independence. "Protection, Prosperity, Patriotism,"

Ladies and gentlemen, this Republic an party, and its adversary, the Democratic party, are again contending for supremacy in one of our great quadrennial presidential campaigns. watchwords of the Republican party in TATRING IN THE GULF COAST DISTRICT | the last presidential campaign were "Protection, Prosperity and Patriotism." Victory perched upon its ban-The American people were in favor of protection, prosperity and patriotism. They sought for the best labor party, best business party, and most patriotic party, and decided that that party was the Republican party. In this campaign the issues are similar in character, and the watchwords are ness man, and the lover of countrywho may or may not be either a working man or business man-are all alike. vitally interested. Again the country is looking for that party which is the best labor party, best business party and most patriotic party. Again the country is asking whether there is any better party than the Republican party in these respects. Again, as in 1898two years ago-the nation is considering a proposition to make a change, Again, as I believe, it will determine at the polls that a change is not necessary or desirable. Again it will deelde that it does not want to revolutionize present conditions—stop the tide of prosperity-turn back the wheels of progress and rebuke the magnificent patriotism of the time. Again it will decide that this old Republican party, the party of American purity and patriotism and progress and prowess and power, is today, as it always has been, the best party for you, the best party for me, and the best party for the American people.

The Best Labor Party.

My fellow citizens, let us make no mistake. This party of ours has been in fact the best labor party. In 1892, believing the Democratic cry, that the rich were growing richer and the poor poorer under Republican administration, many thousand workingmen voted against the Republican ticket. When they did so, they voted against their country and themselves. You know the story. The threat and menace of free trade and unsound money paralyzed every industry. Commerce became stagnant. Employment became scarce. Bankruptcy threatened all capital. Destitution confronted all labor. No one profited but the speculators. No one grew richer but the rich. No help came to the poor. Then there was famine at the fireside. Then the soup house was opened in the city. Then the tramp army was seen in the country. Then the light died out from the face of the wife. Then the smile the father of the family walked the streets, with wringing hands and breaking heart, asking other men, in God's the of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsiu. name, not for money, but for work. And the time came when, in fair Illinois, in this, the nineteenth century, a woman and her baby were, in the streets of Chicago, crushed to death, in the midst of a mob that fought, like famished wolves, for bread. Ah, you do, indeed, know the story. Ah, then, the laboring man of America-or, at rectified it as soon as possible. 1894 and 1896 and 1898, he sought a party | monson's. capable of producing prosperity, and supported Republican candidates, Republican platforms and Republican principles, as he formerly did. And the result has been what might have been expected. Order has come out of chaos. Prosperity has supplanted panic. Independence has succeeded dependence. Work and wages and full dinner palls have returned. No longer in the tramp army in the country. No longer is the soup house in the city No longer do men, women and children starve or beg or fight for bread. As, before 1892, every furnace fire was burning and every factory wheel was again burning, and the wheels are again turning, and the people are again when the Republican party is in power, the American people eat more bread. wear more clothes, own more homes and have more happiness. The Republican party has kept its promise to restore prosperity to labor.

Republicaniam vs. Monopoly.

Democracy's appeal to the worker in this campaign is under the cry of "Trusts." If this be an issue at all, the advantage is all ours. As a matter of fact, monopoly and Republicanism are lifelong and bitter foes. The Republican party overthrew the greatest monopoly that ever existed in America, namely, human slavery. The Républicar perty overthrew the next greatest moncpofy in our history-the silver trust. The Republican party overthrew the next greatest trust, namely, the combination of rich importers who sought to fasten free trade upon the ccuntry. The Republican party is responsible for all the effective anti-trust legislation in America. The Fherman anti-trust act was piloted through congress in 1890 by a Republican of Republicans, then a congress. that I assume that you are all fair- man from Ohio-William McKinley. minded, honestly desirous of our coun- Anti-trust bills introduced in the Democratic congress in 1891 were referred to the committee on ways and means. That committee was Democratic, and a member of it was the Democrat of hold this platform, every effort will be Democrats-William J. Bryan. It simply recommended the whole matter "for consideration by succeeding congressen" When the Democrats had control of every branch of the national government in 1893 they neither exterminated nor controlled trusts. Their attorney general did not prosecute them. And, very recently, when the Republican party sought to pass through congress a constitutional amendment to enable congress to pass laws to prevent states-New Jersey, for example-from chartering trusts and IIcensing them to do business in other states, Democratic opposition prevented Prosperity Evokes "Trust" Issue.

Now, control of trusts and monopolies is necessary. This is nothing new. Monopoly always tries to take advantage of prosperity. But it cannot truthfully be said that this is a political issue. There can be no issue, unless one party says "yes" and another "no" on a given proposition. In answer to the proposition that the trust evil ought to be controlled and corrected, both parties have said "yes." Hence, this is not a party question.

Trust magnates do not control one party more than another. Capitalists are in all parties. Heads of great trusts are head chiefs of the Democracy. The headquarters of the sugar trust, the Standard oil trust, the silver trust, and others too numerous to mention, are in close communication with the headquarters of the Democratic party. A number of the most cruel and most contemptible trusts in existence, for example, the New York ice trust, are headed by prominent Democrats. Working men of Illinois, let me warn you again to make no mistake. The Republican party is the best labor party. To vote the Democratic ticket is not to vote for labor, or against trusts. By their fruits ye shall know them." The Democratic party, when in power, has brought forth no fruits to benefit labor, or lawful competition. The Republican party has. It is the best labor party. At its very inception it gave to every tiller and toiler who was willing to take it, a hundred-and-sixty acre homestead on the national domain, and gave it to him free, and ever since, in both congress and the general assemblies of the various states, it has legislated for shorter hours of labor, against convict labor and against alien contract labor; and, in short, has given and less of pain, and less of perfl and more of peace, than labor ever saw before at any time, in any clime, be-
