This is said to have been much against the wish of her brother Jerome and not altogether to the satisfaction of the senior Mr. Smart. The anxiety of the Chicago branch of the family to have Mr. Smart in their care is said to be owing to the fact that he appeared to be un duly influenced by his son Jerome and the latter's wife, so much so that he recently deeded them a portion of his property, while the Chicago children were left to receive their share of the estate at his death. It is said in Cass that an attempt was made earlier in the fall by his daughters to get him come to Chicago to spend the winter as usual, but that he refused. AN EVENING OF MUSIC.

The concert given by the Aurora First Baptist orchestra at the Methodist Church last Thursday was by far the best musical exposition given here in some time. The orchestra, numbering seventeen musicians, under the leadership of Julius Hanson, is com posed of claver artists and their rendi tion of the selections met with merited recognition. The church was crowded with a critical audience and not one present had other than words of praise nished. In addition to the orchestral numbers Miss Verdeil Frazier contral toist gave a number of selections which were car ital. John Walker, tenor, also made a hit with his balfads. Miss Anna Bauman was especially pleasing in her election selections. Wm.
