The trips are being made in the Pullman car "Aristides," and began last Thursday and will end at Springfield Sunday. All the charitable institutions of the state will be visited.

The Supt. Mr. O. M. Searies is very often asked why the children are taught to pronounce the hero of Longfellow's Indian Epic poem, He-a-wa-tha instead of Hi-e-wa-tha. Since Webster's and the Standard Dictionary adopt the latter pronunciation. The following letter to the publishers give the authority for using the former. Osgile House, Cambridge, Nov. 12, 1897. Messrs Houghton, Mifflin & Co. Dear sirs: The pronunciation used by my father was He-a-wa-tha, the accent on the first syllable being slighter than on the "wa" the "a" sounded like a in "mar" not "war" as sometimes used. I should be glad to have this impression on the public. Yours sincerely Alton W. Longfellow.
