A well meaning, communicative citizen is a boon to the newspaper reporter, and it is a notable fact that many good items are lost to the newspaper every week by the modesty of people who hesitate to tell the editor of matters concerning themselves. The right thing to do is to courteously stop the newspaper man on the street or any other place you happen to meet him and tell him you have entertained friends, have been on a visit, or anything that is a matter of news. If you have done anything mean keep that to yourself, for he already knows that. There are others who make it their business to tell that.

The new Burlington Route dining cars have attracted a great deal of favorable comment on account of their original and artistic design. They are steam heated, lighted by gas and fitted with the Bohn system of refrigeration. The inside finish is in quarter-sawn Flemish oak, the furnishings being in the German Renaissance style and the prevailing color is a deep red. At either end of the car is an exceedingly beautiful and effective hammered iron grill. The whole effect of the subdued coloring in wood and furnishings gives the impression of comfort and refinement, and dressed for service with showy linen, delicate china and silver, a lavish display of American beauty roses and walters in their exquisitely neat suits of white standing at attention, they make an exceedingly artistic picture. The Burlington already has the highest reputation for the excellent character of its dining service in cars, and these beautiful and luxurious cars will add materially to the comfort of the patrons of the road.
