Frank J. Prentiss has shipped in a number of cars of yearling and two-year-old range coits from the west—189 head—and has them corralled in Lyman's pasture for the inspection of buyers. A large number of visitors have been attracted to the pasture to view the herd and many have invested. Mr. Prentiss bought the animals while in St. Paul last week.

E. H. DeGroot has a mare of almost human intelligence and usually she can be depended upon to dodge all obstructions in the road. The other day the gentleman was out driving with his grandchildren. He was speeding the animal on a north side road when a stump, unseen by the horse or driver, overturned the cart. Grandchildren were scattered along the road for a couple of blocks and Mr. DeGroot gracefully plowed up the gravel with his head, without serious results, however.
The cart was righted and the drive resumed.

The legislature of Minnesota has enacted a law declaring the weed known as the "Ox-eyed Daisy" a public nuisance, forbidding the exhibition or sale of its flower in the state, and providing that any person who shall permit the plant to grow upon any farm or in any green house or garden owned by him shall be subject to a fine not less than ten and not more than one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed ninety days. The Daisy has become a common weed and in some portion of the eastern states, where it is considered worse than the Canada thistle. It has not yet become troublesome here, although it is well established at Clarendon Hills, and is found in scattered patches along railroads in various parts of the country.
The large white flowers are attractive and are frequently sold upon the streets of Chicago.
