portinent inquiry is made by nter Ocean in discussing the ation from the board of charitof Miss Lathrop and Dr. Hirsch. Inter Ocean gives a conclusive swer to its own interogatory:

Part of the trouble with Miss Lathrop and Dr. Hirsch seems to be that they misconceive the office of governer. They apparently do not regard the governor as the chief executive of the state. They clearly believe in government by boards and not inegov-mument by governors. "Yet Richard Yates was elected governor by the people of this state to administer the affairs of the commonwealth. When the electors of Illionis secided last November the question who should have the direction of the state institutions, not a man of the 580,199 who voted the Republican ticket had Miss Julia Lathrop or Dr. Emil Hirsch in mind as a possible factor in the business of the state. They simply voted for Richard Yates. To him alone they confided, by their ballots, the welfare of the state institutions. On him alone will they the board years ago. The Wage Earner's Chance. The agitator and promoter of discontent, whether he be a scholar or a mere demagogue, depends upon the ignorance of those whom he addresses for the acceptance of his theories. It is easy to repeat the catchy phrase, "the rich are growing richer and the poor are growing poorer," but every intelligent citizen knows that in this country one-half of it is a falsehood. but it is not true that the poor are growing poorer. They also are growing richer.

The Philadelphia Press very neatly exposes the falsity of the contention that modern conditions are shutting out the poor from the comforts and prizes of life in the United States, "Six-Wayne MacVeagh, in an address at Tale, said that 'the wage earner of today in told that no matter how faithful how realous, how ambitious he may be, be has hardly any appreciable chance of rising from the rank in which his lot is east into that of an switer of the capital in which he is employed.' Since Mr. MacVengh said thin, Mr. Schwab and each of the other score of millionaires in the Carnegie company has passed from 'wage earner' to 'an owner of the capital in whose service he was employed." It is safe to say that a large body. if not a majority, of the men who are controlling the industries and the commerce of today were sixteen years ago wage or salary enruers. During the past five years thousands of industrious and ambitious roung American men have passed out of the class of wage carners into the class of business owners and employers. Many of them are prospering, and will be rich men, the millionaires, of the next de-Yet, shutting his eyes to these facts, Mr. MucVengh is still aligning the American people into "the party of the contented" and "the party of the discontented," as he did a few days ago in a Phi Beta Kappa address at Harvard. That is precisely what Mr. Bryan did on a larger scale last year and in 1806. Yet when the test came on each occasion at the polls, the American people, by vast majorities, declared that existing conditions were vastly better than any Mr. Bryan or any other dreamer or agitator had to

The Times is unable to see how Governor Yates is forcing politics into the state charitable institutions by insisting that J. Mack Tanner should be elected secretary of the state board of chartles. A Democratic View.

Among the many comments of the Minois press upon the absurd attitude of Miss Lathrop in her resignation from the board of charities, that made by the Springfield Register, the leading Democratic paper of the state, is to the point. Says the Register:

"Miss Julia Lathrop, of Rockford, has quit the Yates administration, and those republican papers, which have it in for the governor, are making her resignation the occasion for moral lectures on the iniquity of appointing a politician to be secretary of the state board of charities, the alleged reason for Miss Lathorp's resignation. Miss Lathrop has for many years been a member of this board, having been appointed by Governor Altgeld and retained by Governors Tanner and Yates. Her reason for quitting is that politics are going to be mixed up with the charitable institutions. This would be acepted by the State Register as a good one, had she not stated in her open letter to the governor that polities have controlled these institutions for the past eight years. If this is true. Miss Lathrop should either have reformed the board's methods, or asserted her non-political views and left her position, and furnishes some jus-"When the story of the present ad- tification for the claim that her real past days that gentleman, when secre-"The governor is not expected by tary, was looked upon as one of the salary as secretary, only a little less than the state officers from the state. but also drew a large salary from the general government, and was under pay of the national Republican committe at the same time."

Onick Conversion.

Charles A. Towne deserted the Republican party on the silver issue. He was nominated for vice president by the Populist wing of the Democratic party at the Sioux Falls convention, May 10, 1900, on a radical silver platform. Forced off the ticket by the Democratic managers, he was yet regarded as the leader of the ultra-silver men, Republicans and Democrats, in the presidential campaign. As a reward for his services, he was appointed United States senator by a governor It is true the rich are growing richer, his seat long enough to make one antiof his own way of thinking, and held expansion speech, and to announce his adherence to the worst phases of Bryanism.

Now, Mr. Towne declares in an authorized luterview: "The free silver question is absolutely dead. It will not only not be an issue in 1904, but I do not believe it will be mentioned teen years ago," said the paper, "Mr. in the Democratic platform or campaign. . . . No long as the present condition continues or the supply of gold increases, there can be no successful or serious demand for the free coinage of silver."

As industrial and financial conditions were the same in the summer of 1900 as they are in the summer of 1901, Mr. Towne confesses that he was in error a year ago, that he misled the Silver Republicans of the west, or at tempted to mislead them, and that, in his own language, he didn't care a party won, so that it won. He believes the same feeling prevails among Democrats of the west today, and that David B. Hill of New York will be the Democratic nominee for president in 1904, on an anti-Bryan platform. This may induce Mr. Bryan to lead a Democratic bolt, but Mr. Towne says frankly without hope of success.

Mr. Towne announces to the American people not only his desertion of Mr. Bryan, but his change of heart on the silver question. A year ago he was the ideal representative of silver sentiment in the west. Now, he says there is no such sentiment and practically admits that he was mistaken when, in the last presidential campaign, he insisted there was. This is quick conversion, and it may be that Mr. Towne will recant in other matters and in view of recent events come before the people in a few weeks to confess that he was wrong on the expansion question.

The Pau-American Congress.

The assurance is now given that every sovereign state on the western hemisphere will be represented at the pan-American congress which upon President Diaz's invitation will meet at the City of Mexico in October next. This is gratifying, as the gathering will undoubtedly strengthen the international comity between the nations of North and South America and bring them into closer political and commercial relations. It will undoubtedly be potential of much good for the peace of this bemisphere.

It has taken the exercise of not a little diplomacy to bring about an agreement of all the nations to send delegates to the conference, but it was finally accomplished, mainly through the activity of our state department, The principal obstacle in the way of getting a full representation was the attitude of Chile, Peru and Bollvia, growing out of their long continued bitter boundary disputes. Peru and Bolivia on the one hand and Chile on the other sought to make such conditions of attendance at the congress that "the party of the other part" would have nothing to do with the meeting. Peru and Bolivia, still smarting under a sense of the wrong which they hold that they suffered years ago in the enforced settlement of "the Tacna and Arica dispute," insisted that in the list of questions to be discussed at the projected congress arbitration must be included and that the arbitration must be retroactive as well as prospectivethat is to say, that disputed questions of the past must be brought up for discussion and action as well as questions relating to arbitration in the future. To this contention Chile offered an uncompromising opposition, and for a time it seemed impossible to bring them together. Finally, however, the states which threatened to be refractory were induced to recede from their interested demands, and the consewithout exception will be represented at the congress, which will especially therefore deserve the name it will bear -the pan-American congress. The official programme has been arranged and embraces the following subjects:

First, -Arbitration. Second.-International court of claims. Third. - Measures for the protection of industry, agriculture and commerce. Development of the means of communication between the countries composing the Union. Consular, port and custome regulations. Statistics. Fourth.-Reorganization of the international bureau of American republica.

So far as this country is concerned, it is the purpose that the congress shall be absolutely impartial in its view of all existing international disputes, but it is hoped by suggestion and otherwise to help settle them amicably.

Professor Triggs, professor of English literature in the University of Chicago, arises to aunounce that the hymns customarily sung by orthodox Christians are doggered and that as literature they are surpassed by the rap of what platform the Democratic dime novel. As Professor Triggs is the professor who places John D. Rockefeller on a par with Shakespeare as a contributor to the world's progress, says the Chicago News, his point of view will be generally accepted as consistent. Of the Bible, Professor Triggs admits that people regard it as literature, but he notes that "the work of our own Professor Moulton illustrates the way the Bible has been popularized and made more literary." It appears, therefore, that the prospect is not so bad as might seem at a first glance. Heretofore the world has put up contentedly with Shakespeare and doggerel, knowing nothing better, but with John D. Rockefeller and "our own Professor Moulton" at hand a superior grade of literary product should be at tained at an early day.

> Boer raids into Natal have made it necessary for the British authorities to order all white farmers to abandon the country between the Tugela and the Sunday rivers. This is practically the territory which the Boers dominated before the relief of Ladysmith. The significant feature of the news is that it is the first intimation the official dispatches have contained of any recent Boer activity in that region.

A Cape Town orator announces that the South African war is nearly over again and that the Boer republics are to be made a crown colony. However, the Boers continue to raid Cape Colony, while the Cape parliament is prevented from sitting.
