Mr. A. G. Prince, Agent, Downers Grove, Ill. Dear Sir: We have been using the Blue Flame Oil Gas Burner in our kitchen stove for several weeks and it has given great satisfaction, it is not a bit of trouble. The heat is so steady the cooking is much better than it would be with a coal fire. After once lighting it will run all day without looking after it. I consider it a first class heater and burner. Yours truly, Frank E. Mayer. Oct. 29th '11

Numerous water consumers have availed themselves thus early of the meter service, which becomes compulsory after May 1st, next. Almost without exception, these consumers say, the meter system will reduce their charges for water, below the old flat rates. The flat rates were an injustice to everybody. With meters you pay for what you use, and if consumers are wasteful a few heavy bills will soon teach economy in the consumption of water.

The annual season of settlement of subscription accounts has arrived and all subscribers who know themselves to be in arrears are requested to contribute to the general fund. It takes money to run newspapers the same as any other business. The accounts are principally small ones but amount to a high figure in the aggregate. Therefore we ask each one to do their best to settle what they owe before the first of December. We will manage to find time to acknowledge receipt of funds promptly.

The plot is most intricate and the audience is kept interested every moment that the play lasts. The full strength of the company will be enlisted. As the vendeville bill will be strong, headed by Buckley and O'Brien in an amazing sketch. The biograph pictures will be new and interesting.
