for Third the Time in Its History th Hall of Representatives is Thrown Open to Hold Funeral Fervices for Decessed Member.

Wednesday, April 30. Debate on the Philippine question occupied practically the entire day in the senate. The bill for the purchase of the Rosebud reservation in South Dakota and the sundry civil appropriation bill were considered, but no action was taken on them aside from amending the latter by appropriating $250,000 for the purchase of the ground and building now occupied by the census bureau. The agricultural appropriation bill was passed by the house after increasing the item for good roads inquiries from $20,000 to $30,000 and incorporating the following amendment: "The Secretary of Agriculture shall, on or before July 1, 1903, transfer to and consolidate with the weather bureau and under the direction of its chief all the work of the Department of Agriculture relating to the gathering and compilation of statistics by the division of statistics." Consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill, the last but two of the regular supply measures, was then begun to it to make operative the existing personal tax law of the district, which has been a dead letter for twenty years. By the terms of a special rule, adopted it will be in order to attach a rider Chairman Cannon estimated that there were $100,000,000 of untaxed personal property in Washington. the senate. Both the Rosebud reservation bill and the sundry civil appropriation bill received consideration, but not final action. A bill appropriating $5,000 for a lighthouse-keeper's dwelling at Ecorse Range light station, Detroit River, Mich., was passed. The usual executive session preceded adjournment. Most of the day in the house was given to the District of Columbia appropriation bill, which was not completed. Mr. Shattuck (Ohio) spoke on industrial condition, and Mr. Gaines (Tenn.) in criticism of conditions in the Philippines. A bill was passed providing that third and fourth class mail matter without selficient postage shall not be remailed to the sender.

Friday, May 2. Debate on the Philippine bill continued to occupy most of the session in the senate. The conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was agreed to. The Rosebud Indian reservation bill and the sundry civil bill were again considered, but not completed. When the sundry civil bill amendment providing an appropriation of $2,500,000 to begin the construction of a memorial bridge across the Potomac River to connect the Arlington Cemetery was reached Mr. Allison explained that it was not intended to begin the construction of the bridge until the plans had been approved by Congress. The amendment was then agreed to. An amendment was agreed to appropriating $100,000 for the construction of a revenue cutter of the first class for service in Hawaiian waters.

ARE FIGHTING A CRUEL ENEMY

Describes the Filiplace as a Treacherous People Who Pretend to He Friendty and Assatsingto the Americans When Their Backs Are Turned.

"Our soldiers in the Philippines, said Senator Cullom, "have been subjected to more atrocities, perhaps, than any other army in the world, and resentment on the part of the troops have been stabbed in the back by supmutilated, tortured in the most fiendish manner, and have been subjected to cruelties which seem beyond the conception of the human mind. "We are not a cruel people and our fair treatment and respect an honorable foe. But when the natives of the Philippine Islands, who pretend to be our friends, assassinate our soldiers it is not strange that there is a de sire to retaliate and that the natives who were guilty of these atrocities were made to pay the penalty in some instances. No civilized person could defend the practice of torture under ordinary circumstances, but there seems to be some excuse for it when men are goaded into retaliatory actions by witnessing the assassination of their comrades.

"I do not defend the practice o torture, neither do I defend the practice of firing in the rear upon men who are doing their duty to their nation and are giving up their lives. have no patience with copperheads. They are a disgrace to the nation Our people have no use for them, and if the Democrats think they will benefit by trying to blacken the illustrious achievements of the American army they are much mistaken. We have been silent under the senseless a tacks, but the country became uneasy and was asking us if the army of to day is made up of cutthroats and blackguards.

"The army needs no defense, but the time is now past when we should si in silence and listen to outrageous insults heaped upon the service which has always reflected renown upon the nation. As these attacks continued it was decided to show the country the facts in the case and let the people know what our men have suffered and let them decide whether or not the few instances of torture were justi-

UPON THE NAW

Says the Boys Are Subjected Prime Object of Americans Should Be to Build Up the Service.

PRESIDENT TO NAVAL CADETS

Impresses His Hearers with the Necessity of Being Prepared to Bring Victory to the Stare and Stripes by Reaching the Highest Efficiency.

"We all of us earnestly hope that the occasion for war may never come, but if it has to come then this nation I must win, and the prime factor in seit is but natural there should be deep curing victory over any foreign foe must of necessity be the United States and a desire to retaliate. Our boys navy. If the navy fails us then we are doomed to defeat, no matter what may posed friendly natives, buried alive, be our material wealth or the high average of our citizenship. It should, therefore, be an object of prime importance for every patriotic American to see that the navy is constantly built up and, above all, that it is kept to the soldiers are not savages. They love highest point of efficiency, both in material and personnel." President Roosevelt thus defined the importance of the navy to the nation in his address to the graduating class at the Annapolis Naval Academy. "In receiving these diplomas," said the president continuing, 'you become men who above almost any others of the entire Union are to carry henceforth the ever-present sense of responsibility which must come with the knowledge that on some tremendous day it may depend upon your courage, your preparedness, your keen intelligence and knowledge of your profession whether or not the nation is again to write her name on the world's roll of honor or to know the black shame of defeat.

"It cannot be too often repeated that in modern warfare, and especially in modern naval war, the chief factor in achieving triumph is what has been done in the way of thorough preparation and training before the beginning of the war. It is what has been done before the outbreak of war that is allimportant. After the outbreak all that can be done is to use to best advantage the great war engines and the seamanship, marksmanship and general practical efficiency, which have already been provided through a course of years of the navy department.

"The best ships and guns and the most costly mechanism are utterly useless if the men are not trained to use them to the utmost possible advantage. From now on throughout your lives there can be no slackness on your part. Your duty must be present with you, waking or sleeping. You have got to train yourselves and you have got to train those under you in the actual work of seamanship, in the actual work of gunnery."

· The president's speech was followed by the presentation of prizes, which were awarded as follows: For excellence in target practice with guns-Frank D. Hall, Illinois, first prize, gold medal; Frank C. Martin, Illinois, second prize, silver medal. Gilbert J. Rowclift, Illinois, silver medal, for being the best cadet cane fencer. Earl P.
