BLAKELY WAS THERE.

"Blakely was there," shouted Brother Riggins, in one of his eloquent arraignments of mothods used in a certain repubican convention in Will county. Yes other, Blakely was there. Blakely was also in the convention when Mr. Higgins as chairman and where he admits to having run the convention according to m. Where was Mr. Higgins' boast ed independence then? There was a cas where "Uncle Dau'l" was "lose to th altar." Why did he not rise up when he was in a position of influence? It is posalble that our modern reformer is only human after all, and does business much the same as other people when he bas chance. Blakely was also present when Ma Mather introduced resolutions instructing for Richard Barr, Samuel Drew and Hay Bush and asked that the convention anthorize Mr. Snapp to select his own telegates to the congressional convention. Mr. Mather thought that the management of the party was all right then. He be-Bered in one man relecting a whole delegation and landed Mr. Suapp's management of party affairs vociforously. That was only a few months ago. Messrs. Higgins and Mather were both candidates or the nomination of county officers then. The last county courention naw fit to take up other and younger men (with malice beward none.) Thus the rapid and complets change of sentiment on the part of Hours, Higgins and Mather, -Plainfield

President Rossevelt has achieved a not ble personal triumph by foducing the nal operators to consent to arbitration as a means of setting the great anthracite coal strike. Up to the time he attempted to bring about a settlement the coal oper store had declined firmly to consider any to the granting of any concessions whatever to their striking employees But the action of the president, in directing attention to the vital interest of the great menting public in the continuous pro-Inction of an adequate supply of coal, and in emphasizing the fact that the public has rights which demand consideration in dealing in the production of one of the nanomeries of life like coal, aroused a storm of papular indignation against the coal 1962, as made to the Auditor of Public Accounts. to which they have finally been pelled to yield. This indignation was Loans and discounts ... milled by the arrogant and insulting mda toward the president assumed by the operators at the conference to which he invited them.

DuPage county republicane have every cases for atsuding layally by the straight blican nominees. Its county candiales are deserving of hearty support. om top to hottom it is composed of men known worth and shility; whose own sourds are a sufficient endorsement and the that they will serve the county thfully and well. Being conversant The duties which pertain to the offion to which they were nominated is an point in their favor, which should posidered by the toter. It is the first duty of every republicum to resolve that nothing will prerent his voting this fall. He should make the resolution now and ressert it each morning until election day has passed. There is no danger to the party save in apathy, but on the other hand it will do no harm to pile up the biggest republican majority ever known.

You can search the matter prepared by the democratic state committee for democratic newspapers from start to finish, word for word, line by line, paragraph by paragraph, and not one single reference will be found to any political issues. The solid 12 columns are given over to personal abuse of republican office holders, republican candidates and republican leaders.

After insisting for years that not a particle of tin plate was or could be manufactured in the United States, the democracy was forced to confess that the manufacture of tin plate had become a most important industry in this country. Now the so-called democratic text book solemnly condemns the manufacturers of tin plate and mournfully talks of a tin-plate trust.

The democratic party were vastly more clamorous for unlimited coinage of free silver at 16 to 1 in 1900 than they are now for the suppression of the trusts. They were so certain they were right then, and have since been shown they were clearly wrong, is it not probable that democratic party managers are a little more cautious in 1902 than they were in 1900? They have new heating stove. have made so many predictions that failed, that it behooves them to be cau- in every package; at Gerwig's. tious.

The democratic party has come to a place where it is not politic to discuss that portion of its past that is not older than any voting democrat. It is perfectly safe for them to talk about the democratic principles of the days of Andrew Jackson. The wise demoeratic orator, however, will not attempt to discuss modern democratic principles, unless he wants to provoke a controversy among his own hearers. The question as to what constitutes democratic principles to-day is almost certain to cause a disagreement in the average democratic audience. Democratic principles to-day have about the same affinity for each other that cats and dogs have in a state of na-

The country suffered terribly from the effects of the democratic tariff reform. The present attitude of the democracy toward the tariff question, book, will sound a warning which the people will heed. It's an insult to the intelligence of the people to appeal to them to trust the destinies of this nation to a party which was responsible for the conditions prevailing as a result of the last democratic tariff tinkering. These terrible conditions are still fresh in the minds of the people, and they will not support a party which advocates a policy that would result in business unsettlement, in loss of confidence, in suppension of faith and credit, and consequent disaster.
