Prince has disposed of quite a number of lots this spring to parties who contemplate building and establishing homes here in the near future. Mrs. Morton has disposed of her business interests in Wisconsin and will return to Downers Grove and occupy one of her houses on Foote street this month. Through the kindness of Capt. Rogers I have a few copies of the proceedings of the board of equalization of the session of 1903 for free distribution at my office. D. G. GRAHAM. Esher, son of E. B. Esher of Chicago, and cousin of M. E. Stanger of Downers Grove, killed himself by putting a bullet through his head in a New York hotel Sunday. Fear of consumption and minor money troubles caused the deed. The charming hospitality of Mrs. E. J. W. W. S. Bryan informs us that the Woodside estate of the Field property will for the future be given the name of Woodside Park. Extensive work has been done on the place during the winter clearing out the trees and underbrush and transforming it into a park in reality. The place is admirably located for the purpose and should attract the attention of strangers and others. The attraction which comes to Hopkin's theatre for the week commencing Sunday matinee April 5, is Rice & Barton's Famous Rose Hill Folly company. During the past ten years there have been many burlesque and specialty organizations, but few of them have kept pace with Rice & Barton whose attractions have always been foremost in the eyes of the theatre going public. This band of clever comedians and handsome girls have always been finer equipped and presented better performances than its predecessors. This season it is much brighter and more worthy than any of the previous offerings of these up-to-date managers.
