Sequel to "The Bow of Orange Ribbon."

A LOVE STORY BY AMELIA E. BARR

(Copyright, 1900, by Amelia E. Barr)

CHAPTER V .-- (Continued.) After he had gone, Mrs. Adams proposed a walk in the lovely garden, and Hyde hoped then to obtain a few words with her. But Mrs. Smith accompanied them, and Hyde found no opportunity to get a word in on his house. You know---" own affairs, and then, suddenly, as they turned into the main avenue, Doctor Moran and Cornelia appeared.

Quite as suddenly, Mrs. Adams divined the motive of Hyde's early visit; she opened her eyes wide, and looked at him with a comprehension I can well accomplish." so clear and real that Hyde was compelled to answer and acknowledge her suspicion by a look and movement quite as unequivocal. Yet this instantaneous understanding contained neither promise nor sympathy and he could not tell whether he had gained a friend or simply made a confession.

Doctor Moran was evidently both astonished and annoyed. He stepped out of his carriage and joined Mrs. Adams, but kept Cornelia by his side, Mrs. Smith. And Cornelia, beyond a very civil "Good morning, sir," gave him no sign.

When the party reached the steps before the house door, though Mrs. Adams certainly invited him to remain, he had come to the conclusion that he was just the one person not wanted at that time; yet as he had plenty of self-command he completely hid beneath a gay and charming manner the chagrin and disappointment that were really tormenting him, and until he was out of sight and hearing he rode slowly, with the easy air of a man was only sensitive to the beauty of his surroundings, and thoroughly enjoying them.

He kept this pace till quite outside the precincts of Richmond Hill, then he struck his horse with a passion that astonished the animal and the next moment shamed himself. Then he began to talk to himself in those elliptical, unfinished sentences, which the inner man understands, and so thoroughly finishes. Such reflections, blended with pet names and apologies to his horse, brought him in sight of the Van Heemskirk house, and he instantly felt how good his grandmother's sympathy would be. He saw her at the door, leaning over the upperhalf and watching his approach

"I knew it was thee!" she cried. "Now, then, what is the matter with thee? Disappointed, wert thou last night?"

"No-but this morning I have been badly used; and I am angry at it. Then he told her all the circumstances of his visit to Richmond Hill, and she listened patiently, as was her way with all complainers.

"In too great haste are thou," were her first words. "No worse I think of Cornelia, because a little she draws back. To want, and to have thy want, that has been the way with thee all thy life long. Thy mother has taught thee to expect too much. If, now, thou had fallen in love with Arenta, it had been a good thing.

have adored Arenta-but, then, Arenta has already a lover.

"So? And, pray, who is it?"

Athanase

"Of all men in the world, the gay,

handsome Frenchman,

Hyde Answered With a Smile. Tounnerre, a member of the French embassy.

riage what will he say?"

"And her father? To such a mar-struck them lightly with his riding Then, with a smile, he answered. 'He will be proud enough in his heart. His daughter, the Marquise de Tounnerre, will be a very great woman in his eyes."

"That is the truth. I was glad for thy mother to be a lady, and go to court and see the Queen."

"Indeed, it is the common failing; and at present there is no one like the French. I will except the President, and Mr. Adams, and Mr. Hamilton, and say the rest of us are French lop. So early in the morning, what is reading law had to be abandoned, for he coming for?"

Semple's funeral." "That is good. Thy grandfather is already gone." At this moment Gen. Hyde entered he room. Hurry and excitement were in his face, though they were well controlled. He gave his hand to Madame Van Heemskirk, saying: "Good morning, mother! You look well, as you always do. Where is the

Colonel?" "He has gone to Elder Semple's

"I know well. For a long time I have purposed to call on the old gentleman, and what I have neglected I am now justly denied, for I must leave for England this afternoon at five o'clock, and I have more to do than George leaped to his feet at these words. "Sir," he cried, "what has hap-

"Your uncle is dying-perhaps dead. I received a letter this morning urging me to take the first packet. Now, George, you must come with me to Mr. Hamilton's office; we have much business to arrange there."

So far his manner had been peremp tory and decided, but, suddenly, a sweet and marvelous change occurred He went close to Madame Van Heems so that Hyde was compelled to escort kirk, and taking both her hands, sale in a voice full of those tones that captivate women's hearts:

"Mother! mother! I bid you a loving, grateful farewell! You have ever been to me good, and gentle, and wise -the very best of mothers. God bless you!" Then he kissed her with a solemn tenderness, and Lysbet understood that he believed their parting to be a final one. She sat down, weeping, and Hyde with an authoritative motion of the head, commanding his son's attendance, went hastily out. It was then eleven o'clock, and there was business that kept both men burrying here and there until almost the last hour. At four o'clock Gen. Hyde joined his son. He looked weary and sad, and began immediately to charge George concerning his mother.

"We parted with kisses and smiles this morning," he said. "I leave her in your charge, George, and when send her word to come to England. look well to her comfort. And be sure to come with her. "Do you hear

"Yes, sir."

"On no account-even if she wishes it-permit her to come alone. Promise

"I promise you, sir. What is there that I would not do for my mother? What is there I would not do to please you, sir?"

"I ask you, then, to play with some moderation. I ask you to avoid any entanglement with women. I ask you to withdraw yourself, as soon as possible, from those blusterers for French liberty-or rather French license, robbery, and assassination. Stand by the President, and every word he says. Every word is sure to be wise and right." Then, taking out his watch, he rose, saying, "Come, it is time to go to the ship --- My dear George!" George could not speak. He clasped his father's hand, and then walked by his side to Coffee House Slip, where the North Star was lying. Before either realized the fact, the General had crossed the narrow plank; it was quickly withdrawn, and the North "If I had not seen Cornella, I might Star, with wind and tide in her favor. was facing the great separating ocean.

> George turned from the ship in a maze. He felt as if his life had been cut sharply asunder, and that his mother's voice and presence would be the best of all comfort at that hour; so, late as it was, he rode out to Hyde Manor. His mother opened the door for him.

"I thought it was thy father, Joris, she said; "but what? Is there any thing wrong? Why art thou alone?" "There is nothing wrong, dear mother. Come, I will tell you what has happened."

He gave her his father's letter, an assumed for her sake the air of one who has brought good tidings. She silently read, and folded it.

"Ah, Joris, your father has always longed in his heart for England. Like a weaning babe that never could be weaned was he. And thou, too? Wilt thou become an Englishman? Woe is me! I have planted and planned, for whom I know not."

"You have planned and planted for your Joris. I desire most of all to marry the woman I love, and live here in the home that reminds me of you wherever I turn."

"So true art thon! So loving! So dear to me! Oh, I have thought ever as I worked, I shall leave my memory here—and here—and here again—for Hyde stretched out his legs and never. Joris, never, dear Joris, while thou art in this world, must thou for

> "Never! Never, oh never, dear, dear mother!"

And that night they said no more Both felt there would be plenty of time in the future to consider whatever changes it might have in store for

CHAPTER VI.

Aunt Angelica.

The first changes referred especially to Hyde's life, and were not altogether | whisky he would not have lost his life. "Listen! That is thy father's gal- approved by him. His pretense of he had promised to remain at home "He had an intention to go to Mr. with his mother, and it would not therefore be possible for him to dawdle | in? about Pearl street and Maiden Lane watching for Cornelia. Yet he was not happy about Cornelia. Since that unfortunate morning at Richmond Hill they had never met.

If she saw him go up or down Maiden | Al Lane, she made no sign. Several times Arenta's face at her parlor window had given him a passing hope, but Arenta's own love affairs were just then at a very interesting point, and, besides, she regarded the young lieutenant's admiration for her friend as only one of his many transient enthu-

"If there was anything real in it," she reflected, "Cornella would have talked about him, and that she has never done."

She did not understand that the quality of love in its finest revelation desires, after its first sweet inception, a little period of withdrawal-it wonders at its strange happiness—broods over it-is fearful of disturbing emotions so exquisite. These are the birth pangs of an immortal love-of a love that knows within itself, that it is born for eternity, and need not to hurry the three-score-and-ten years of time to a consummation.

Of such noble lineage was the love of Cornelia for Joris Hyde. His gracious, beautiful youth, seemed a part or her own youth; his ardent, tender giances had filled her heart with a sweet trouble that she did not under-

Joris was moved by a sentiment of the same kind, though in a lesser degree. "I have thought of Cornelia long enough," he said one delightful summer morning; with all my soul I now long to see her. And it is not an impossible thing I desire. In short, there is some way to compass it.' Then a sudden, invincible persuasion of success came to him; he believed in his own good fortune; he had a conviction that the very stars connived with a true lover to work his will. and under this enthusiasm he galloped

He saw Arenta Van Ariens. into town, took his norse to a stable, and then walked towards Maiden

Van Ariens. He placed himself directly in her path, and doffed his beaver ports that production will be curtailed. to the ground as she approached. "Well, then," she cried, with an affeeted air of astonishment, "who would have thought of seeing you? Your retirement is the talk of the town. Where are you going?" "With you?" "In a word, no. For I am going to

"Upon my honor, it is to your Aunt Angelica's I desire to go most of all! "Now I understand. You have found out that Cornelia Moran is going Aunt Angelica's."

"I assure you that I did not know Miss Moran was going there. To tell the very truth, I came into town to

"For me? And why, pray?"

"I want to see Miss Moran. cannot see her, then I want to hear about her. I thought you, of all people, could tell me the most and the best. Now, pray do not disappoint It is understood that the Knights of

"Listen! We meet this afternoon at my aunt's, to discuss the dresses and ceremonies proper for a very fine wedding."

(To be continued.)

How He Got It.

Some recent developments at Jeff ferson City have recalled a story that used to be told about a former Buchanan county representative to the legislature. Before his election to the legislature he was chronically broke." When he returned from Jefferson City he exhibited $500 in good, crisp greenbacks. Some of his friends jollied" him about his prosperity.

went to the legislature, did you, Jones?" said one of them.

"Not a blamed cent," said Jones. your railroad fare, didn't 1?"

"I believe you did." "Well, you were down in Jefferson City about forty days. You got $5 a day. Now, what the gang wants to found. know is how you managed to save $500 out of a total income of $200."

"Come closer," whispered Jones and I'll tell you how I did it. I had my washing done at home."-Kansas City Journal.

What Killed Him.

Wife (with newspaper, to husband) Here is another forcible temperance lecture: (Reads) "Young Spillers got into a boat and shoved out into the river, and as he was intoxicated he upset the boat, fell into the river and was drowned." Now, sir (addressing her husband), if he had not drunk Husband-Let me see. He fell into the river, didn't he?

Wife-Of course he did. Husband-Didn't die until he fell Wife-James, you are positively silly. Of course he didn't die until he was drowned.

Husband-Then it was the water that killed him.—Stray Stories, Unrest in Industrial World Is Cause of Considerable Idleness.

PIG IRON ON A NORMAL BASIS

Recession in Prices Indicates That Present Activity Will Be Maintained -Print Mills Are Closed and Market Is of a Light Character.

New York special: "Undest in the ranks of labor has increased rather than abated since May 1, when difficulties of this sort usually culminate. No single struggle of great magnitude is in progress, but the frequency of small strikes is disturbing, and in the aggregate a large force is idle, while important industrial undertakings are checked. Good reports are received from footwear factories, shipments from Boston for the year thus far surpassing all records, and clothingmakers receive duplications of spring orders in addition to getting out fall samples," according to R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade. Continuing, the report says:

Conditions in Iron. "Cancellation of orders where deliv eries failed to be made according to contract and new business at lower quotations indicate a tendency toward more normal conditions in pig iron. This is highly desirable, and gives assurance that present activity in iron and steel may be maintained. Pend ing contracts for about 50,000 tons of structural material have been closed, and other orders are only postponed by uncertainty regarding the labor situation.

Textile Market Is Dull. "Textile manufacturers at the East have not improved their position. Jobbers are buying only small quantities, exercising a discrimination that indicates dull markets elsewhere, and salesmen are being withdrawn from the road. With large print mills closed, there is no activity in print cloths, nor is the movement of brown sheetings and drills of any account. Abnormal prices for raw cotton might be expected to stimulate inquiry for goods, but the only effect is to prevent sellers from making concessions.

Woolen Goods. "Higher figures are expected in carpets. More woolen mills have closed. and the market is featureless, but the In a few moments he saw Arenta new wool clip is firmly held. A steadier tone is noted in silks owing to re-

> "Trade is rather quiet in leather, with prices steady. Chicago packer hides are dull at recent advanced prices, which were only on latest salting. Foreign dry hides are easier, buyers reducing their bids slightly.

"Failures for the week, 175 in the United States, against 218 last year, and twenty-two in Canada, compared with twenty four a year ago."

BIG REWARD FOR A MURDERER Officials at Lorain Offer $1,000 for the Slayer of Agatha Reichlin.

Lorain, O., special: Little progress is being made toward a solution of the mystery surrounding the murder of Miss Agatha Reichlin. The county commissioners of Lorain county have offered $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the murderer. Columbus, a Catholic organization, will also offer a reward of $1,000. All sorts of theories are being advanced in connection with the case and many alleged clews have been investigated. It is almost certain that Kennedy, the suspect held at Sandusky, could not have been implicated in the crime.

M'COOL IS HELD FOR MURDER Decatur Man Unable to Give Bail, After Shooting Wife's Lover. Decatur, Ill., dispatch: Edward Mc Cool was held without bail for the murder of W. G. McNier by the verdict of a coroner's jury given after the inquest. Chicago relatives took charge "You didn't have a cent when you of the body of McNier, who was a wholesale druggist of this city. Letters written by McNier were found which show that McNier secured the "As a matter of fact, I tent you half | aid of a fortune teller to induce Mrs. McCool to prove false to her husband. It is believed she finally confessed to McCool and thus incited him to mur der. Mrs. McCool has not yet been

> LITTLE ONE IS TURNING BLACK White Girl of Ottaly, N. Y., Gradually

Becoming a Negress. Rochester, N. Y., dispatch: Marion Prosser, aged 5 years, of Ottaly, N. Y. has commenced to turn black and unless something can be done the child soon will be converted into a negress The skin is becoming covered with plack spots as large as a hand, and at the present time the child presents a strange piebald appearance. She suffers no pain. Her parents are both white. Her case is a puzzle to doctors of western New York.

Marconi in Royal Favor. Rome cablegram: Signor Marconi of wireless telegraph fame was a visitor here. At the capitol he was received by the Mayor of Rome, Prince Colonna, who conferred upon him the citizenship of the city. The King and Queen of Italy were present at the exercises.

MARINE DISASTERS COST SCORE OF LIVES

Fifteen Fishermen at Thrum Cape--Seven Men Are Washed Overboard During a Storm.

Canso, N. S., dispatch: The fishing schooner Gloriana, from Gloucester, Mass., went ashore at Thrum Cape and was broken up. Captain George Stoddart and fourteen men out of eighteen comprising the crew were drowned. Most of the crew were natives of the British provinces.

New York, May 7.—Twenty-three survivors of the crew of twenty-six of the French fishing brig Ile de Terre Neuve arrived here on the German-American Petroleum Company's steamer Phoebus. The brig was swept by a hurricane April 26 and seven of her men washed overboard. Of these four were rescued. Three days later the wreck was sighted and the survivors were taken on board the steamer with much difficulty.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 7.—Capta'a James I. Tunnel of the Clyde liner Saginaw, which was sunk by steamer Hamilton of the Old Dominion line off the Virginia coast, was brought here from Norfolk. He is severely injured and not yet able to give an official account of the disaster.

RAILROAD MAGNATE IS SHOT BY FIREMAN

Riot Follows Refusal of Miners to Ride With Men Who Have Replaced Train Crew.

Belleville, Ill., dispatch: Sheriff G. W. Thompson and a force of deputies were called to the Nigger Hollow mine of the St. Louis and O'Fallon railway company, seven miles north of this city, to quell a riot which was started over the discharge of Engineer John Frye and his fireman, Thomas Hughes, for alleged incompetency. The company placed two new men in charge of the engine. The men refused to board the train or go to work, and a riot quickly followed, Several men were badly injured. John Gundlach, one of the owners of the railroad, was shot by Oliver Gibson, a former night foreman at the mine, and is reported to be fatally injured. Gibson and several other rioters were arrested.

SUSPECT IN REICHLIN MURDER Prisoner at Sandusky Gives Conflicting Accounts. Sandusky, O., special: With the acquittal of Father Walser of the charge of having murdered Miss Agatha Reichlin at Lorain, attention has been diverted to Frank Kennedy, the only suspect who is under arrest here. Chief Weingate received a letter from Avon saying that a man answering Konnedy's description had been there Thursday noon with a short, stout companion. They left Avon for Lorain in the afternoon. Every time the Reichlin murder was mentioned to Kennedy he asserted that he could prove an alibi. He gave several conflicting accounts of himself.

SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS

Sergeant-at-arms of the Benate Bay:

It Will Occur in November. Denver special: Daniel M. Rams dell, sergeant-at-arms of the senate who was in this city, is reported as saying that congress will convene directly after the first Tuesday in No-

"President Roosevelt sept word to me through Secretary Loeb at St. Louis," said Mr. Ramsdell, "that I could prepare to receive the senators as soon as possible after election day.

"To Secretary Bennett of the senate President Roosevelt made the direct statement that congress would be summoned just as soon as the fall elections were out of the way."

KENOSHA WANTS POLICEMEN

Officials of Wisconsin City Seek Men to Take Strikers' Places.

Kenosha, Wis., special: The police board has inserted an advertisement in the Kenosha papers calling for eligibles for the police force to take the place of the striking policemen. Previously there have been plenty of men seeking positions as policemen, but since the new fire and police commission placed the force on a civil service basis there has been no waiting list to draw from. The board says it will advertise in Milwaukee and Chicago papers if unable to get suit able men in Kenosha.

Hungarian Budget.

Vienna cablegram: The obstruction of the Kossuthists in the Hungarian Parliament which has prevented the passage of the budget is causing confusion at Budapest. Travelers passing through the Hungarian capital as a general thing refuse to allow the examination of their luggage.

Boys Have Race Mania. New York dispatch: Truant officers in Brooklyn, who are supposed to keep bad boys in school, are having a very busy time just at present to compets with the gambling spirit which has got into the schools. Within a week forty-nine boys were taken on the race track.

is Strangled by Chicken Bone. Charlotte, N. C., special: Mrs. W. Lee of Buffalo, N. Y., died at the Buford hotel here from the effects of a chicken bone in her throat. She was on her way home from Florida, accompanied by her husband. The bone became lodged in her throat on a dining car.

TIRED BACKS.

Come to all who overtax the kidneys. Don't neglect the aching back. Many dangerous kidney troubles follow in its wake. Mrs. C. B.

Pare of Columbia avenue, Glasgow, Kentucky, wife of C. B. Pare, a prominent brick manufacturer of that city, says: When Doan's Kidney Pills were first brought to my attention I was suffering from a complication of kidney troubles. Besides the bad back which usually results from kidney complaints, I had a great deal of trouble with the secretions, which were exceedingly variable, sometimes excessive and at other times scanty. The color was high, and passages were accompanied with a scalding sensation. Doan's Kidney Pills soon regulated the kidney secretions, making their color normal and banished the inflammation which caused the scalding sensation. I can rest well, my back is strong and sound and I feel much better in every way. A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Pare will be mailed to any part of the United States on application. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

Cause for Rejoicing. Bix-"Does your wife play the piano?"

Dix-"No." Bix-"Does she play any musical instrument?" Dix-"None whatever."

Bix-"That's good. You ought to be proud of her accomplishments." Laundering the Baby's Clothes.

Many mothers are ignorant of the serious injury that may result from washing the clothing of an infant with strong washing powders and impure soap. For this reason it should be laundered at home under the mother's directions and only Ivory soap used. To throw the little garments into the ordinary wash shows great carelessness.-E. R. Parker.

Insist on Getting It. Some grocers say they don't keep Deflance Starch. This is because they have a stock on hand of other brands containing only 12 oz. in a package, which they won't be able to sell first, because Defiance contains 16 oz. for the same money same money ! Then buy Deflance Starch. Requires no cooking.

Important Part. "I trust," said the ward boss, "that we will be able to roll up a handsome

Do you want 16 oz, instead of 12 oz. for majority for you." "I don't care whether it's handsome or not," replied the candidate, "just so it's a majority."

A Fine Kidney Remedy.

Mr. A. S. Hitcheock, Box 87 East Hampton, Conn., (The Clothier) says if any sufferer from Kidney and Bladder Discase will write him he will direct them to the perfect home cure he used. He makes no charge whatever for the favor.

Will Now Use Wrapping Paper. For wrapping up meat in a newspaper for a customer a Vienna butchor has been fined 16 shillings.

The Best Results in Starching can be obtained only by using Defiance Starch, besides getting 4 oz. more for same money-no cooking required. Chief Exports of Bulgaria.

wine and attar of roses. All Up to Date Housekeepers nse Defiance Cold Water Starch, because it is better, and 4 oz. more of it for same

Bulgaria's chief exports are wheat, money. Chimney Sweeps Threaten Strike. Vienna is threatened with a strike of chimney sweeps.

Defiance Starch should be in every household, none so good. besides 4 oz. more for 10 cents than any other brand of cold water starch.

The Church of the Latter Day Saints

(Mormon), now in the seventieth year,

Do Your. Clothes Look Yellow? Then use Defiance Starch, it will keep them white-16 oz. for 10 cents.

has some 400,000 adherents

The rule of self-obedience to the right will bring all things in order .-W. E. Gladstone.

The Klean, Kool Kitchen Kind" of stoves keep you clean and cool. Economical and always ready. Sold at good stove stores.

Wise is the individual who can remain silent on any subject. FITS permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restor-er. Send for FREE $2.00 trial bottle and treation. Dr. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 631 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa

You can "look like thirty cents" when you "feel like sixty."

Stops the Cough and Works Off the Cold Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. Price 25c. Exceeding modesty is almost as bad as overbearing arrogance. Hall's Catarrh Gure Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

Some people's only attraction lies in a well-filled purse.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES cost but 10 cents per package. Believe the good rather than the bad things said of others. lows Farms $4 Per Acre Cash.

balance % crop till paid. MULHALL, Stoux City, In. Some girls are like sugar-sweet and full of grit.