IMMENSE TOBACCO PURCHASE.

Forty-Eight Thousand Dollars Paid for a Fancy Let of Tobacco.

The biggest purchase of high grade tobacco ever made in the West by a cigar manufacturer was made last Wednesday by Frank P. Lewis, Peoria Ill., for his celebrated Single Binder cigar. A written guarantee was given that the entire amount was to be fancy selected tobacco. This, no doubt, makes the Lewis factory the largest holder in the United States of tobacco of so high a grading.—Herald-Traneaript, Dec. 21, 1902.

REFUSAL WILL MEAN EXILE

Declares That After One Year No Person of the Mosaic Faith Will Be Tolerated in Czar's Domains-State Press Indorses This View.

St. Petersburg cable: In well-informed circles the belief is current that the government aims at the complete expatriation of the Jews and that the massacre at Kishenev will stimulate such emigration. The government, naturally, is expected to disavow any such intention, but the attitude assumed by Nationalist papers gives strong color to the theory. A startling instance is seen in the support accorded M. Kronshaven, the editor of the Bessaravtz, the anti-Semitic paper of Kishenev.

Writing after the massacre, M Kronshaven addressed the Jews as fol-

Urges Change of Faith.

"Become Christians and our brothers and enjoy all the privileges of Russian citizenship. If not, you have one year to go where you please. After that term has expired there must not remain a single Jew in Russia urless he is Christianized, and thereafter entrance to Russia will be forbidden to the Jews forever."

M. Kronshaven's defenders include, besides the Novoe Vremya and other Nationalist papers, the director of the Department of Police, M. Lopoukhen. who upon returning from Kishenev told a leading Libers! journalist that Kronshaven "was the only man in Russia who had not been bought by the Demonstration at Warsaw.

News has reached here privately from Warsaw that on May 5 the workingmen there unfurled red flags, shouted "Down with the autocracy!" and sang revolutionary songs. A thousand men participated actively and many more passively in this demonstration The affair was suppressed by the Cossacks and police.

Describes Burial Scenes.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 25 .- 1., L. Hurwitz of 934 Grape street has received a letter from his father, L. Hurwitz, who lives in Kisheney, Russia, describing the burial of the massacre victims. After giving a long list of those buried from the hospital in one day he says:

"We were afraid we would have to ent open the bodies before we buried them, but we were allowed to bury them with their clothes on. They were all laid in one long row.

Bodies Are Mutilated.

"Four thousand people with uncovered heads passed in line to look at the bodies to see if they could identify them. The noses of some had been cut off and some were so disfigured that it was almost impossible to tell them by their features, others had their eyes put out. The stores here. all the Jewish stores, and some others, are closed for twelve days as an evidence of mourning.

Food for the Hungry.

"Two carloads of bread and mea from near-by towns have arrived here and have been distributed by the committee, as well as supplies coming from America. It is feared that the sentences pronounced against those who took part in the massacres will not exceed three months each. It they do not it will mean more tronble, because the Russians will then believe that the government favors the killing and will continue it. The damages will amount to millions, but I am not able to tell how much."

ELKINS HAS CLEVER DOG.

Quadruped Taught to Perform Many Remarkable Tricks.

William L. Elkins has at Ogontz, a Philadelphia suburb, an estate that he calls "Folly Farm." Here he raises thoroughbred horses, sheep and hogs, and here, to look after his flocks, he has a number of collies, one of them called Jack, a beautiful and intelligent dog worth $1,000. Jack is in the charge of an imported English shepherd named Giles, and Giles has trained him to do a number of tricks.

One of these is to solve arithmetical problems. "Three times three," Giles will say, and Jack will bark nine times. "Five plus eight," he will go on, and the dog will give thirteen barks. "Nine minus two," and seven barks will be the prompt reply.

Jack will also, to a certain extent, read. Two big cards are kept beside his but, one inscribed with the word "food" and the other with "drink." When he is hungry he will take the 'food" card down and carry it to the shepherd. When he is thirsty he will take down the "drink" card.—New York Tribune.

How to Hear Plants Grow. If you were told that it was possible to hear plants grow you would scarcely believe it, but two Germans say they have discovered a method of "hearing" plants grow. In the apparatus the growing plant is connected with a disc, baving in its center an indicator which moves visibly and regularly, and this, on a scale fifty times magnified, denotes the progress in growth. Both disc and indicator are metal, and when brought in contact with an electric hammer, the electric current being interrupted at each of the divided interstices of the disc, the growth of the plant is as perceptible to the ear as to the eye.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, of 243 E. 114th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced skeptics all over the country frowned upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by the new discovery has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticisms have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until to-day the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people.

Merit alone could win such fame wise, therefore, is the woman who for a cure relies upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
