Head

Hurt So Badly Was Nearly Crazy.

Had no Sleep—Could Hardly Lie Down.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Permanently Cured Me.

"A year ago I suffered from extreme nervous stomach trouble. I was afraid of everything, could not bear to hear singing or music and reading or hearing of a death nearly brought me down. I could not sleep or eat. My head ached, the back of my head hurt so badly I nearly went crazy. I should have been in bed and the least thing I did would bring on an attack of extreme nervousness. There were times when I would have a lump in my throat and my mouth would be so dry I could hardly speak. I was in despair until I began to take Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I have taken in all twelve bottles and consider myself permanently cured. My former doctor has since remarked on my healthy appearance and said he wished he could say his medicine helped me. He knows I was Dr. Miles' Nervine. We are proud without the Anti-Pain Pills and consider your medicines household remedies. I cannot say enough for the Nervine, because in addition to my own case my daughter, who was out of school for a long time because of her nervousness, was completely cured by eight bottles. She is now feeling fine and going to school every day. We thank you for your kindness and will never again neglect the advice of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. M. E. King, Lima, O."

THE OUTLOOK FOR AUTHORS
Really Good Writers Need Not Fear Discrimination.
The rush of the crowd to read a book which may have no literary merit or vitality, either of material or of presentation, is never wholesome, and if the crowd has grown more critical and clear-minded in its judgments, and has ceased to move upon sudden impulses and learned to decide for itself, the loss will fall, not on writers of real merit, but on a few whose rewards were generally beyond their deserts. The average of literary work in this country in many departments is high. If great books are not produced in large numbers, good books are produced in very considerable numbers, and in soundness of knowledge, in good taste and literary workmanship, a great advance is evident over the work of an earlier generation. It is a period of quiet progress, a time of preparation rather than a time of accomplishment.

What One Man Said.
At the City Federation meeting in the Waldorf there were many amusing incidents. Husbands of the broad-minded women married in the ante-room waiting for their spouses to go home. One of these patient escorts was Leroy Sunderland Smith. He gazed through the glass doors once, sighed and returned to his chair. Men would come, inquire for their wives, and then retreat to the cafe below. One man heard a few minutes of a certain paper. He said: "If these women's clubs did not struggle with the problem of how to raise other women's children they would have no excuse for being." He flung out the last words savagely and then disappeared to the place where highballs are concocted.—New York Press.

An Enterprising Woman.
Miss Jessie McCubben of Alamo, Oregon, is the owner of a valuable mining claim in the Granite district, which she "jumped" precisely as the year 1903 came in. Learning that the claim would be vacant the 1st day of January, she drove through a blinding snowstorm on the night of Dec. 31, the mercury 14 degrees below zero, and, waiting the advent of the new year, staked her claim. Another prospector had done likewise earlier in the evening, but Miss McCubben was legally in the right, and the court sustained her. She is a Portland girl, 19 years old.

A Paper May Criticize.
A trial jury in England gave the manager of a fifth-rate show a verdict of $3,750 against a newspaper which published an adverse criticism. The Appeal Court reversed this, and held that the jury had no right to substitute its own opinion of the merits of the play for the critic's opinion. The court said it was of the highest importance to the public that the critic should not be exposed to the risk of having a jury pass upon his taste, and held that the trial judge misdirected the jury.

Reminder of Old Times.
A rich man who has joined the multitude in New York since his quick fortune came to him was entertaining friends at dinner the other night. The service was magnificent and so was the dinner. The wife, gorgeously clad, reigned over the table. During a lull in conversation the rich man watched a servant who was dexterously removing crumbs from the table. Then he looked down the glittering table at his jeweled wife and remarked: "Saddle, remember when you used to shake the tablecloth out of the back door to the hens?"

Painting the Dome of the Capitol.
The dome of the capitol at Washington is being painted. Every five years its coat is renewed and 15,000 gallons of white lead are used in the process. The work is being done by eighteen men, under the direction of "Billy" Lewis and "Al" Forts. The latter has been employed for such work about the capitol for thirty-nine years. Forts is the only man who ever climbed to the top of the Statue of Liberty surmounting the dome. He did this on Labor day, 1894, and fastened a garland of electric light bulbs around the neck of her majesty.

JOKE ON SWEET CHARITY.
And the Colored Porter, He Thoroughly Enjoyed It.
The other day a colored porter from one of the hotels was sent to buy some tin cups. After making the purchase he started back to the hotel and met one of the hostler's best patrons—a commercial traveler—and the latter asked the negro to carry his sample case to a Washington street store. A few minutes later the negro, sample case, and tin cups, were in front of the store. The traveling man was in the store. While waiting for him, the negro sat down on the sample case, and in less than a jiffy fell asleep. One of the tin cups was in his hand, and it fell forward, as does the cup held by a blind man. Perhaps you won't believe it, but that negro collected 43 cents while he slumbered. Passersby thought him a blind mendicant. And maybe that porter didn't enjoy the joke! He did—deed he did.—Indianapolis News.
