CARDINAL VAUGHAN IS DEAD.

English Catholic Prelate Expires After Lingering Illness.

The Very Rev. Herbert Vaughan, cardinal and archbishop of Westminster, died in London, England, June 20.

The death of Cardinal Vaughan removes from the stage of life one of the most imposing figures in the Roman Catholic world.

Last year it was rumored that Cardinal Vaughan was one of the favorite candidates for the papal chair. He was saintly in life, wholly without enemies, a deep thinker, an accomplished scholar...

The Late Cardinal Vaughan.

Gloucester in 1832. He had actually been gazetted to a commission in the guards when he decided to adopt the vocation of a priest.

The great life work of Dr. Vaughan, almost from the day of his ordination to a long time after he was raised to the episcopate, has an enduring monument in the Foreign Missionary College at Mill Hill.

He was eminent both as a preacher and controversialist and was a frequent contributor to the Tablet and the Dublin Review, of both of which he was proprietor. The most conspicuous external monument of his labors at Westminster is the vast new cathedral which dominates all its neighborhood.

GOULD'S NEPHEW KILLS HIMSELF

Business Reverses Lead Sanford Northrop to Commit Suicide.

USES REVOLVER TO END LIFE

Deceased Was Formerly Considered One of the Wealthy Men of St. Louis—Friends Endeavor to Cover Up Facts in the Case.

St. Louis, Mo., dispatch: Sanford Northrop, a nephew of Jay Gould, and formerly considered one of the wealthy men of St. Louis, committed suicide at the home of a friend, Claude Kennerly, 3731 Delmar avenue. At least that is the version of the tragedy so far as information has been divulged to the police and to newspaper men.

According to a member of the Kennerly household Northrop was alone in the room which he has occupied since giving up his house on Laclede avenue several weeks ago, and shot himself in the temple with a revolver. When members of the family burst open the door Northrop was dying and before medical aid could be summoned he was dead. Mrs. Northrop and an 8-year-old daughter are in Camden, N. J., where Northrop will be buried.

Meets Business Reverses. Until a few weeks ago Mr. Northrop was secretary and general manager of the American Refrigerator Transit Company, of which his brother, Reid Northrop, was president. Affairs of the concern got into bad shape and it is asserted that the Northrops lost the control of the company which they previously had possessed.

Entertained Arctic Explorer. His domestic and social relations so far as known have been entirely satisfactory. He was interested in many affairs outside the routine of business and on the occasion of the visits here of Evelyn B. Baldwin, the arctic explorer, entertained the latter at his house and gave his much valuable assistance in preparing for his journey into the north.

No one was admitted to the Kennerly home and those immediately connected with the family, with one exception, absolutely declined to give any information. The exception answered with reluctance and many questions declined to answer at all.

Was Uncle's Favorite. Reid Northrop is the only immediate relative living here. Howard Northrop of Chicago, another brother, was notified. He sent a message in reply, saying he would be in St. Louis in time to accompany the body to Philadelphia. William Northrop of Richmond, Va., also a brother, received a message concerning the death.

Sanford Northrop was a member of the Country Noontide, Field and St. Louis Fair Grounds clubs, besides several smaller social organizations. He had a host of friends. He was a favorite of his uncle, Jay Gould, and he had always been on terms of the closest intimacy with the present generation of the Gould family.

BARS THE LABOR AGITATORS

Canadian Senate Committee Urges Exclusion of Strike Leaders.

Ottawa, Ont., dispatch: A Senate subcommittee on Senator Loughheed's bill to shut out foreign labor agitators reported to the Senate committee. A redraft of the bill makes it criminal for any foreigner to urge a strike or lockout in this country, but specifies that this is not to interfere with officials of international unions coming here to settle labor disputes.

JEWS DENOUNCE THE RUSSIANS

Thousands Meet in Hyde Park, London, to Voice Protests.

London cable: A demonstration of thousands of east end Hebrews was held in Hyde Park to protest against the Kishineff massacre. Speeches violently denouncing the Russian government were delivered in Yiddish simultaneously from a number of platforms. Resolutions expressing sympathy with the sufferers and "indignation and abhorrence of the Russian government" were adopted unanimously.

DOINGS OF THE SUPREME COURT

Bequest to Dowle is Annulled—Judge Carter Assists Successor.

In the case of Mary Tindall of De Kalb county, who bequeathed to John Alexander Dowle real estate and promissory notes aggregating $3,000, the Supreme court at Springfield sustained the decision of the lower court that Mrs. Tindall was mentally unqualified to make a will and that she was under the influence of Dowle when she made the will in question. In the case of the people against the Law and Order club of Sparta the decision of the Randolph circuit court was reversed. The case was one in which the state's attorney of Randolph county filed a quo warranto proceedings against the Law and Order club to show cause why its charter should not be revoked because liquor was sold there to its members. The supreme court, in reversing the decision of the lower court, holds that it is illegal for any club or corporation to sell liquor to its members, even though sold without profit, unless the club or corporation has taken out a license to sell such liquor.

Judge Guy C. Scott of Aledo, who defeated Judge Joseph N. Carter for judge of the Supreme court in the new fourth supreme judicial district, sat in Judge Carter's place in the Supreme court, Judge Carter having returned home and Judge Scott being sworn in. Members of the court stated that they thought that Judge Carter has not the slightest intention of contesting the election of Judge Scott, as he assisted the new judge in several matters that were necessary for him to learn in order to obtain an insight into the work of the court, and has not even hinted at a contest.

DEATHS.

Dr. Hiram K. Jones died at Jacksonville at the age of 82. He was born in Virginia, but spent most of his life at Jacksonville. BOILING WATER BURNS TWO MEN

Fall into Engine Pit at Alton and Are Severely Injured.

Nicholas Schwab of Alton was dangerously burned by falling into a pit full of boiling water in the engine room of the Stanard Milling company. The pit is occupied by a big condensing engine, and during the flood was filled with water. In order to get the pumps into operation to drain the pit the engine was filled with steam and this heated to the boiling point. Schwab stumbled into the pit, but in falling managed to catch hold of the side and clung there until he could gather strength to draw himself out of the hot water. A surgeon was summoned and it was found that the skin was burned off Schwab from his waist down. It is believed that he will recover. The chief engineer of the Standard Milling company met with a similar accident. He stepped into another hole near the main engine room and was scalded on one leg up to the hip.

LINCOLN'S FRIEND DIES.

Dr. Robert Boal, for many years an intimate friend of Lincoln, died at Lacon, Ill., at the advanced age of 97 years. He was born near Harrisburg, Pa., in 1806 and moved with his parents to Ohio five years later. In 1833 he settled at Lacon and practiced medicine in that vicinity for twenty-six years. In 1893 he retired from active practice and made his home in Lacon. He was for a time president of the State Medical association and had held various political offices. At the beginning of the civil war he was appointed surgeon of the board of enrollment of the district, with headquarters at Peoria, which office he filled until the close of the war. In 1844 he was elected to the senate from the district of Tazewell, Woodford, Putnam and Marshall counties. In 1854 he was elected to the house from the district composed of Woodford, Putnam and Marshall counties and in 1856 was re-elected. Dr. Boal was appointed by Gov. Hessel as one of the trustees of the asylum for deaf-mutes at Jacksonville and for seventeen years he was reappointed. Governors Yates, Oglesby, Palmer and Beveridge each conferred the office upon him.

Seeks to Restrain Company.

J. H. Heren of Edwardsville has entered injunction proceedings in the Circuit court against the Wabash Railway company to restrain the company from filling up an underground roadway on his premises. The roadway was constructed in 1871 to permit the plaintiff to have access to a strip of land cut off by the track of the company. An option on this tract was given the company some time ago, but the company, it is said, was proceeding to fill in the crossing without complying with the terms of the option.

Cares for Flood Sufferers.

The citizens of Chester have raised about $600 for the relief of the flood sufferers quartered in that city. Liberal donations of clothing and food supplies have also been made. It is expected that the principal towns of the county will send contributions of money, clothing and provisions. The disbursement committee named by the mayor is composed of Jesse I. Meredith, Louis J. Hart and Abram G. Gordon, who have opened a supply depot, where all contributions will be received and distributed.

Smallpox Increases Taxes.

The board of supervisors of Jackson county has decided to instruct the board of tax review to increase the valuation of property enough to make the tax levy of 75 cents on the $100 produce $25,000. This action was taken with a view to paying off a floating indebtedness of $15,000 that the county has incurred in stamping out smallpox.
