Sun

Stroke Shattered My Nerves.

Gave Up Preaching For Two Years.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Put Me On Active List.

Are you well? Do you sleep well? Do you get up rested, fresh and vigorous? Is your mind clear and active? If not read the following. See what another has suffered and how he recovered.

"Some years ago I was afflicted with sun stroke which left me with a shattered nervous system and exceedingly poor health. I suffered terribly with pain in my head, the top of my head would feel hot. I could not study, and after striving for two years to wear the trouble off, I was compelled to give up my pastoral labor and retire to my farm where I spent nearly two years trying to re-organize. It was all of no avail. Physicians' treatment and patent medicines failed to relieve me. I was exceedingly nervous and irritable and sometimes would shake terribly. I could not bear any noise. At the least excitement the blood would rush to my face and head. Two years ago I was induced to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. After using one bottle I could see improvement in my condition so I continued taking it for nearly a year. I am happy to say I no longer have those pains in my head or nervous system. My appetite is good and I am able to preach three times on Sunday without fatigue. I consider Dr. Miles' Nervine the most wonderful medicine ever discovered."—Rev. D. Alex. Holman, Pastor U. B. Church, Marion, Ind.

NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE OF PUBLIC HEARING.

The Board of Local Improvements of the village of Downers Grove, DuPage County, Illinois, having passed a resolution that a local improvement be made in paving Main street from the forth line of Warren avenue to the north line of Maple avenue in said village, as follows: That said Main street between said points be paved with a first-class paving brick upon six inches of macadam with interstices filled with limestone screenings, the whole then to be thoroughly rolled and compacted and covered with a one and one-half (1 1/2) inch sand cushion; the curbs to be of concrete and combined with the gutters; the gutters to be eighteen inches wide and the curb six inches high and six inches thick with corners rounded. The estimate of the cost of such improvement made by the President of the Board of Local Improvements being as follows:

2710 feet of curb and gutter at $0.60 $1626.00
6414 square yards of pavement including grading at $1.72 $11032.08
Engineering fees, court costs and cost of levying and collecting assessment 1050.00

Total $13708.08
Notice is hereby given that the said Board of Local Improvements has fixed Monday, the 29th day of June, A. D. 1903, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock p. m., in the village hall as the time and place for the public hearing thereof.

The Board will then hear the representatives of any person desiring to be heard on the subject of the necessity for the proposed improvement, and the extent, nature, kind, character and cost thereof may be changed by said Board at the public consideration thereof, and if upon such hearing the Board shall deem such improvement desirable, it shall adopt a resolution therefor, and prepare and submit an ordinance therefor.

Dated the 19th day of June, A. D. 1903.

WINTER IN EXTREME SOUTH.

Frightful Cold Experienced in the Antarctic Circle.

A sailor on the antarctic ship Discovery, whose commander, Capt. Scott, has approached nearer the south pole than any other explorer, writes as follows of his winter experiences: "We had 123 days without the sun, and 104 days of complete darkness. We went through it all gay. Lowest temperature registered, 58 degrees below zero. You do not feel the cold very much without the wind; then, with wind, look out! First your nose, then ears, then fingers go. We never go out alone on account of the heavy blizzards. Your companion will turn round and say: 'Your nose is gone.' It turns as white as this paper. You turn away from the wind and pull your mittens off to bring your nose around; by that time your fingers are gone, so it's no pleasure going out in a slight breeze. The blizzards are fearful. Mr. Bernacchi and the engineer went to a hut fifty yards away, and though roped from hut to ship, were lost in a blizzard for two and three-quarter hours."

New Idea in Physiology.

It is possible that the school child may be quite as readily fatigued by inspiring the waste products of his fellows as by his own, and that the business man is more liable than the agricultural laborer to become run down, not so much because he works harder or more monotonously and therefore personally manufactures more waste products, but because his tissues are more liable to become saturated with the waste products of himself and others derived from the confined atmosphere in which he works. Excessive fatigue from a railway journey is likely to be noticed if the cars are crowded or ill ventilated.

Advancement of Women.

At a meeting of the English Women's Liberal association a letter was read in which the daughter of George Meredith, the novelist, said: "My father, George Meredith, wishes me to say that it heartens him to see women banded together in union. What nature originally decreed men are but beginning to see—that they are fitted for most of the arenas open to activity, and by their entering upon active life they will no longer be open to the accusation men so frequently bring against them of their being narrow and craven. Much more he could say, but he has short time at his command."

Mrs. Roosevelt Has a Way.

"You might not think it, judging from her photographs," said a well-known Washington woman now in New York, when she saw that the lady of the white house had called a halt on the curious experiments being made to beautify the terraces of the presidential demesne; "but the president's wife knows how to put her foot down and leave it. And she can manage her strenuous spouse and the whole of the family with a soft, irresistible despotism they all enjoy. I would like to tell tales out of school, but I mustn't."—New York Mail and Express.

The Butcher and His Hat.

"I always thought it paid to be polite until I got into this business," remarked a prosperous retail butcher, "but I find that it costs me about $25 a year. My trade is with nice people, and when fashionable women come into the shop I have to tip my hat to them. A butcher's fingers are always more or less greasy from handling the meat, and in about a month a new hat is no longer fit to wear. Grease is about the only thing that won't come out of a derby, and I will be the butcher's best customer until the weather grows warm and I will be able to go bareheaded."

HAIRY AINOS OF JAPAN.

Peculiar People Whose Characters Be- lie Their Looks.

A traveler in Japan thus describes the hairy Ainos of that country: "The men are about the middle height, broad chested, broad shouldered, thick-set, very strongly built, the arms and feet large. The bodies and especially the limbs of many are covered with short, bristly hair. I have seen two boys whose backs are covered with fur as fine and soft as that of a cat. We were ferried over a river by an Aino completely covered with hair, which on his shoulders was wavy like that of a retriever and rendered clothing quite needless, either for covering or for warmth. A wavy black beard rippled nearly to his waist over his furry chest, and with his black locks hanging in masses over his shoulders he would have looked a thorough savage had it not been for the exceeding sweetness of his smile and eyes."

The Box Kite.

The chief defect of the box kite, of which Dr. Langley's aerodrome is an elaboration, is that the weight increases with the cube as rapidly as the lifting power does with the square, so that the larger the kite the less it will lift in proportion. Prof. Graham Bell's kites are equilateral triangles, so that they need no bracing, and it is found that the lifting power increased at a greater rate than the increase in weight. A flock of these kites recently lifted a 200-pound weight.

The Artist's Revenge.

A Chinese story tells how a very stingy man took a paltry sum of money to an artist, who always exacted payment in advance, and asked him to paint his portrait. The artist at once complied with the request, but when the portrait was finished nothing was visible save the back of the sitter's head. "What does this mean?" cried the sitter indignantly. "Well," replied the artist, "I thought a man who paid so little as you did wouldn't care to show his face."

Etiquette of the Feud.

"There's just one thing, sah," observed Col. Gore of Kentucky, "in which we are away behind Turkey." "What's that?" Col. Bulliet asked, quickly. "Well, sah, after a general kills' the porte always sends a polite note of apology to the survivors of the massacre. If we could only end our feuds in that way, sah—" "But we can't, sah," exclaimed Col. Bulliet, excitedly, "for the simple reason, sah, that when one of our feuds ends nobody's left, sah, to apologize to!"
