DAILY DOINGS IN HALLS OF CONGRESS

Matters Before the Senate and House Are Briefly Set Forth.

OUTLINE OF THE PROCEEDINGS

Text of Bills Introduced in Both Branches of the National Legislature, Together With Pithy Portions of the Speeches That Are Made.

Tuesday, Nov. 10. The session of the senate was devoted exclusively to the reading of the president's message and to the routine incident to its receipt of the message. On motion of Mr. Cullom it was voted to refer to the committee on foreign relations both the message and the Cuban treaty, the text of which had been transmitted with the message. The senate then, at 12:15 o'clock, adjourned.

The house was in session less than half an hour, an early adjournment being taken out of respect to the memory of Mr. Foederer (Pa.) and Mr. Boreing (Ky.), deceased members. The president's message was read and referred to the committee on ways and means, the membership of which is yet to be announced. The message also was ordered printed. The speaker announced the committee on rules and mileage, the former consisting of himself, Dalzell (Pa.), Grosvenor (Ohio), Williams (Miss.), and De Armond (Mo.). Aside from making provision for the payment of mileage of members, no further business was transacted. Adjournment was taken at 12:27 p. m.

Wednesday, Nov. 11. A number of petitions and many new bills were received by the senate. Some of the petitions protested against Senator Smoot of Utah remaining in the senate. Mr. Gallinger (N. H.) introduced the first bill, providing for the erection of a statue to Gen. John Stark. The house joint resolution making immediately available the appropriation for mileage of senators and members was adopted. The senate then at 12:20 went into executive session and adjournment was voted at 1:45 o'clock.

The house session lasted only five minutes. After prayer by the chaplain and the reading of the journal C. C. Reed and Minor Wallace and T. B. Kyle of Ohio were sworn in as members, and then the house at 12:05 o'clock adjourned.

Thursday, Nov. 12. The senate entered upon a discussion of the eligibility of Reed Smoot of Utah to a seat in the upper house, to which he has been elected. Senator Dubois of Idaho taking exceptions to the statement by Senator Hoar that petitions from organizations against seating Mr. Smoot were out of place. Mr. Dubois argued that these petitions represented the moral thought of the country, and should be approached in the proper spirit. A large number of bills were presented, followed by a brief executive session. Resolutions of the house on the death of Representatives Foederer of Pennsylvania and Boring of Kentucky were received, and out of respect to their memory the senate at 1:10 adjourned until next Monday.

In the house Mr. Payne introduced a bill to make effective the Cuban reciprocity convention. It was referred to the ways and means committee. Following the reading of the journal

HIDDEN PICTURE PUZZLE.

SHOUT DEATH TO AMERICANS

Colombians Make an Attack on the United States Consulate

LOYAL CITIZENS ARE ANGRY

News of the Secession of Panama Arouses the People of the Southern Republics, Who Utter Threats Against Natives of North America.

Colon cablegram: The Colombians at Barranquilla stoned the United States consulate when news of the secession of the Panama states reached that city. Mobs of citizens filled the streets, shouting "Death to the Americans," and the authorities controlled the populace with difficulty.

Public indignation at Bogota is increasing hourly, according to advices received from there. President Marroquin, it is stated, is trying to leave the capital. There is some anxiety at the American legation, which is still surrounded and protected by Colombian troops.

Fears are entertained for the safety of Americans in Colombia and of the possibility of the anger of the populace being vented against foreigners generally. The authorities at Savannah have mounted two obsolete guns covering the wharf.

News Travels Slowly.

News of the secession of Panama did not reach Cartagena, Savannah, and Barranquilla until the arrival at the first named port of the steamer Orinoco, with the Colombian troops deported from Colon two days after the declaration of independence. The news was quickly telegraphed to all points along the coast. The steamer returned to this port, bringing news of the uprising in the Colombian cities.

At Cartagena Gen. Torres and his officers were threatened with arrest as traitors, but the threat was not put into effect. The populace, greatly excited, soon crowded the streets crying, "Down with the Americans." United States Consul Ingersoll, fearing violence, remained shut up in the consulate.

Reads News to Crowd.

The excitement at Barranquilla increased with the spreading of the news of the secession of the isthmus, which was supplemented by exaggerated accounts of the alleged part played by the United States therein. Panama's declaration of independence was read from a newspaper by the prefect to a crowd assembled in the piazza and was greeted by furious outcries and shouts of "death to the Panamanians" and "death to the Americans."

The prefect followed the reading by a speech in which he declared that the Colombian government would never permit the secession of the isthmus and would win back the lost territory at any cost.

Troops May Go by Land.

It is reported here that the Colombian troops are attempting to march overland to Panama from Tumaco. Gen. Melendez says, however, that they can never reach Panama owing to the nature of the country. Gen. Melendez said further:

"Panama will be able to raise between 5,000 and 6,000 troops, partly armed. In case the necessity arises to resist a Colombian attack, but I do not believe that any such necessity will ever arise."

It is apparent that United States warships will not permit any movement by sea of armed Panama forces. Gov. Melendez tried to send twenty-five armed men to Porto Bello, but they were stopped by the United States gunboat Nashville and compelled to return. A schooner loaded with Panamanian troops was sent to Bocas del Toro, but they went unarmed.

INSANE NEGRO SLAYS NOTED GOTHAM CITIZEN

Andrew H. Green, "Father of Greater New York," is Slain on His Own Doorstep.

New York dispatch: Andrew H. Green, the "father of greater New York" and one of the city's oldest and most remarkable citizens, was assassinated on the steps of his home in Park avenue by Cornelius M. Williams, a negro, who is believed to be insane. The murder was evidently the outcome of a delusion on the part of the negro that Mr. Green had slandered him, for when he was asked why he had committed the murder he replied: "I did it to save my character."

There were three witnesses to the tragedy. Mrs. Anna Bray, a domestic in Mr. Green's family; Emil Michelson, an errand boy, and Patrick Dyer, a cabman. According to these witnesses the negro must have been waiting for Mr. Green to come from his office.

Mr. Green at 1:30 p. m. alighted from a Fourth avenue car in the tunnel at Fortieth street and walked to his residence, almost across the street from the station. The negro was standing in the vestibule of the house and as Green started to ascend the two steps leading to the hall door Williams advanced toward him. There was a brief interchange of words and then the negro drew a revolver and fired five shots.

Mr. Green sank to the stone pavement, blood streaming from his head, while his murderer, returning the revolver to his pocket, leaned against the railing of the stoop, as if awaiting arrest.

William H. Burns, a car starter for the Murray Hill hotel, was one of the first to reach the negro, whom he seized as he was about to walk away and turned over to a policeman and a detective, who rushed up a moment later. A physician was on the spot almost instantly and pronounced Mr. Green to be dead.

DECISION BARS MANY CHINESE

Any Man Working in His Own Establishment Not a Manufacturer.

San Francisco special: The United States commissioner has handed down a decision in the case of Lin Lung Wong, a Chinese merchant, who acted as foreman in his own fruit packing establishment, to the effect that a Chinese manufacturer who engages in any annual labor about his factory, even for the purpose of instructing his employes, is a laborer under the meaning of the exclusion act, and as such is not entitled to enter or remain in the country as a merchant. This opinion, if adopted by the Chinese bureau, will lead to the deportation of a large number of Chinese proprietors of cigar factories, clothing shops, broom factories and other establishments.
