

Women who work, whether in the house, store, office or factory, very rarely have the ability to stand the strain. The case of Miss Frankie Orser, of Boston, Mass., is interesting to all women, and adds further proof that woman's great friend in need is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - I suffered misery for several years. My back ached and I had bearing down pains, and frequent headaches. I would often wake from a restful sleep in such pain and misery that it would be bours before I could close my eyes again. I dreaded the long nights and weary days. I could do no work. I consulted different physicians hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicines did not cure me, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was highly recomended to me. I am glad that I did so, for I soon found that it was the medicine for my case. Very soon I was rid of every ache and pain and restored to perfect health. I feel splendid, have a fine appetite, and have gained in weight a lot." - MISS FRANKIE ORSKE, 14 Warrenton St., Boston, Muss.

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, sick and discouraged, and exhausted with each day's work. Some derangement of the feminine organs is reponsible for this exhaustion, following any kind of work or effort. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as it has thousands of other women.

The case of firs. Lennox, which follows, proves this.

" DEAR MRS. PINEHAM: - Last winter I broke down suddenly and had to seek the advice of a doctor. I felt sore all over, with a pounding in my head, and a dizzinesa which I had never experienced before. I had a miserable appetite, nothing tasted good, and gradually my health broke down completely. The doctor said I had female weakness, but, although I took his medicine faithfully, I found no relief.

" After two months I decided to try what a change would do for me, and as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was strongly recommended to me I decided to try it. Within three days I felt better, my appetite returned, and I could sleep. In another week I was able to sit up part of the day, and in ten days more I was well. My strength had returned, I gained fourteen pounds, and felt better and stronger than I had for years. I gratefully acknowledge its merits. Very sincerely yours,

MRS. BERT E. LENNOX, 120 East 4th St., Dixon, Ill."

Brodrick President Serve Ten Years in Jail at Leavenworth.

CASHIER GETS SHORTER TERM

Director Brown is Let Off With Eight Year Sentence, Though Judge Do clares He is Probably the Most Guilty of the Three Men Involved.

Indianapolis dispatch: Justus ! Brodrick, president of the wrecked Indiana National bank of Elkhart, which failed for $642,000; W. L. Collins, cashier, and Walter Brown, a director, all brothers-in-law, are rushing across the country toward the Unite States military prison at Fort Leav enworth.

Brown may never reach the prison alive. He was unable to appear in court Thursday morning for sentence He was ordered into court in the af ternoon, however, and appeared weak and trembling. His physicians protested, fearing a total collapse, so he was not required to stand during sen-

J. L. Brodrick, president of the wrecked bank, was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the United States prison at Leavenworth, Kan. W. L. Collins, cashier, was sentenced to six years. The judge, in sentence ing Collins, took into consideration his services to the government as a witness and took the ground that he had been used as a tool.

Director Brown received eight years. Eighteen of the sixty counts in the indictments against him were dismissed. Sentence was on the other forty-two. In overruling the motion for a new trial, Judge Anderson said the prisoner had had a fair trial and the verdict of the jury met the court's full approval.

"I do not see how twelve men could have come to any other conclusion,' said Judge Anderson.

It was possible, he added, that Brown's guilt might be greater than that of the other three, but he regarded Brodrick, as president of the bank, the most culpable. Brown's attorneys gave notice of an appeal and asked the judge to send the prisoner away at once. The j dge refused, however.

Mrs. Brown went with her husband to the prison to care for him on the trip. Mrs. Brodrick bade her busband a tearful farewell at the hotel. Hoth have been constant attendants at the

Thus tragically closes a struggle between men of wealth, influence and social standing, which, while in point of value at stake, it does not equal some of the titanic wars of finance now attracting attention, in dramatic features, stirring situations and strong climaxes, if probably has a prior claim to attention.

Fight With Congressman.

While many interests were involved and the conflict ramified into numer ous phases, the real essence of the strife was the hostile personal feeling between ex-Congressman C. C. Conn. the widely known hand instrumanufacturer, and Walter Brown director of the wrecked bank, a member of Gov. Durbin's staff, and a czar in the pulitical realm. The antagonism of the men rendered har monious existence impossible in the same sphere of influence, and had its vent in a project which Brown took hold of for centralizing the water power of two local hydraulic companies into a big electric power plant. Here the interests of Conn and Brown squarely clashed, for Conn's factory derived its power from one of the hydraulic canals.

Brown sounded the opening war note by boasting that he "was going to put Conn out of the business."

This was the opening skirmish. The climax came when, on the same day that Walter Brown was convicted on a federal indictment, Conn was grant ed a franchise by the Elkhart city council to build the power plant, and also a ten-year light contract with the city. It was a dual triumph for ledo, Ohio, ten years ago. It was rumored that the bank was backing Brown in his fight with Conn for the hydraulic control. When Conn filed a mandamus suit to comnel the transfer of stock to him, it he came known publicly that he held the trump cards. A few days later the bank closed its doors for liquidation. There were 2,500 depositors.

Gov. Durbin, whom Brown had interested in the power scheme, had decided not to go ahead with the plan. after Brown had assigned to him all rights and holdings of the company. Conn saw Durbin and purchased his rights. Conn is now preparing to develop the cower scheme, while Brown faces a long prison term.
