

SENATOR QUAY DIES AFTER LONG STRUGGLE

Noted Republican Politician Passes Away at Beaver, Pa., Surrounded by His Family.

Beaver, Pa., dispatch: Senator Matthew Stanley Quay died at 2:48 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The immediate cause of Senator Quay's death was exhaustion, due to inability to assimilate nourishment.

Senator Quay some months ago realized that his end was approaching, and, with extreme care, set about preparing for it.

Senator Quay's illness began about a year ago. It was a recurrence of the trouble that beset him during the latter part of 1900 and the early days of January, 1901.

He celebrated his seventieth birthday at Beaver last fall, and at the time seemed in excellent health. The loss of weight, however, was constant on his mind.

The senator went back to Washington and soon after was taken to Philadelphia, where he was placed under treatment of Drs. White and Stengel, two eminent specialists of that city.

The relapse which alarmed the family on Sunday, May 22, recurred again Thursday night, and the alarm was so serious that the Pittsburg specialists were called in at midnight.

On Friday he rallied again, and was able to converse with former Senator J. Donah Cameron for a time. Senator Quay had sent for Cameron, but never told anybody what he wanted.

DEFIANCE STARCH is growing steadily in popularity. Two years ago 5-case shipments were the rule to the jobbers and single cases to the retailers. The intrinsic merit of Defiance Starch and the fact that it is put up in 16-oz. packages and costs the consumer no more than other brands put up in 12-oz. packages has made the demand so great that shipments are now made in carload lots. The photograph above shows a carload leaving the factory for the great Chicago house of Franklin MacVeagh & Co. Defiance Starch is rapidly becoming a household word throughout the entire country and MacVeagh so. It is always ready for use, requires no cooking, will not rot, break or blister the finest linen and does not stick to the iron. A prominent club woman, Mrs. Danforth, of St. Joseph, Mich., tells how she was cured of falling of the womb and its accompanying pains and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Life looks dark indeed when a woman feels that her strength is fading away and she has no hopes of ever being restored. Such was my feeling a few months ago when I was advised that my poor health was caused by prolapsus or falling of the womb. The words sounded like a knell to me, I felt that my sun had set; but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to me as an elixir of life; it restored the lost forces and built me up until my good health returned to me. For four months I took the medicine daily, and each dose added health and strength. I am so thankful for the help I obtained through its use."
