

WINS AGAIN

DOWNERS GROVE SLACK.

Hinsdale Rectors Seem to Rattle Our Team.

Hinsdale boys visited our little village last Saturday with a routing squad of rackets and the team ran off with honors from our local team to the tune of 17 to 7.

New and Attractive Styles in fall and winter millinery. See Miss Goospeed, second floor Bank building.

The Manchester Martyr. Along in '97 or thereabouts some Irishmen tried to escape a bunch of Fenian prisoners in Manchester, and a police sergeant was shot and killed.

While Mrs. Russell Sage is doing a noble work with her money, it is said by those close to her personally that she is determined that in her giving she shall do so upon her own initiative.

KIMBALL-LOUNDSBURY BATTLE.

Aunt's Dreaded Visits Are Robbed of Their Terror.

That is the way it was always spoken of in the family—the famous week when Aunt Isabel Kimball and Barbara Loundsbury met and crossed swords.

"Isabel is coming down Thursday to stay for a week," she exclaimed. The silence that followed the announcement was so penetrating that Barbara Loundsbury, their pretty guest, began to laugh.

England. It has been suggested that President Roosevelt take the initiative in this righteous crusade, since American plutocrats are so prominent at the gaming tables as the aristocracy of Europe.

MONTE CARLO PLAGUE SPOT.

Venusty Sublimas a Day Imposes Fabulous Sentiment to Revolt. Monte Carlo, the most immoral spot on the face of the globe, with its unparalleled list of ruined lives, suicides and murders, is to be wiped out, if the agitation against this plague spot of christianism now raging in England is successful, says a London correspondent.

Civilized sentiment against the notorious gambling den at Monte Carlo has been intensified by the murder of Miss Emma Levin by "Rip" Vero Good, brother of an English baronet, and his wife, who dismembered her body, placed it in a trunk and carried it with them to France.

OUR BUDGET OF FUN.

HUMOROUS SAYINGS AND DOINGS HERE AND THERE.

Jokes and Jokelets that Are Surprised to Have Been Recently Born—Sayings and Doings that Are Old, Curious and Laughable—The Week's Humor.

"I suppose," remarked the coy widow, "that you are not an advocate of early marriages?" "Oh, yes, I am," replied the scented bachelior.

Not Enough.

Hungry Hank—Dey say de earth goes 'round.

Fatigued Frank—Dat's a untruth, cause if it does I never got my share.

A Diplomatic Parson.

"The congregation paid up every cent of my back salary to-day," announced the village minister.

"How in the world did they happen to do that?" queried his astonished wife.

Soundless Laughter.

Gunner—A wireless piano is the latest. Gunner—If'n! When they invent a soundless one life will be worth living.

A Bona Diplomat.

Canvasser—Good morning, madam. I'm introducing a polish for cleaning silver. It is superior to anything now on the market and the price is only 50 cents a box.

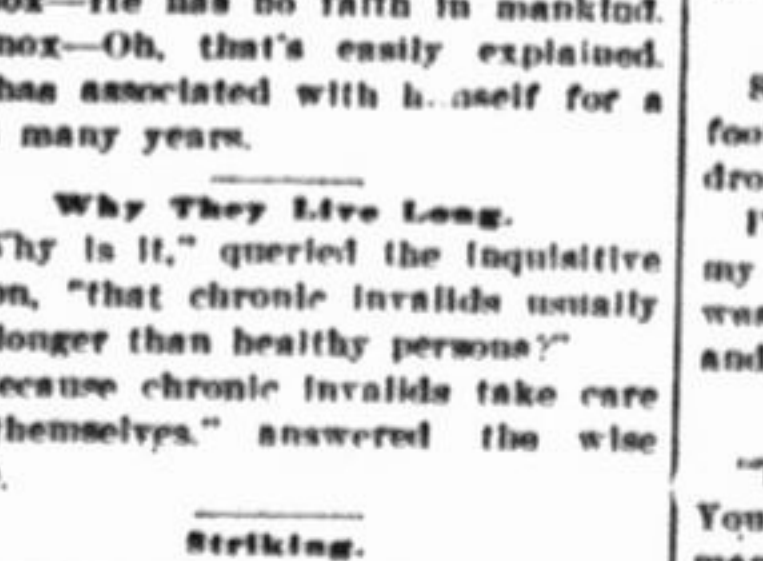

Robbed of Faith.

Rhoz—Shyster is evidently a student of human nature. Knox—Why do you think so? Rhoz—He has no faith in mankind.

Why They Live Long.

"Why is it," queried the inquisitive person, "that chronic invalids usually live longer than healthy persons?" "Because chronic invalids take care of themselves," answered the wise M. D.

Striking.

High Lights—I draw when an inspiration strikes me.

C. Oler Scheque—I wait till my land-lady strikes me!

Poor Pictures.

"What do his drawings illustrate?" "The folly of trying to become an artist when one has no ability."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

More Satisfactory.

Eastman—I understand your father owns a large ranch in New Mexico. Does he run it on scientific principles? Westlake—No; he runs it on money-making principles.

In Self-Defense.

Brown—I met Short on the street this morning and struck him in self-defense. Green—Why, how was that? Brown—Before he had a chance to say a word I asked him to loan me a dollar.

Somewhat Different.

Singleton—Looks like a horse on you, old man. You used to say that every man should be boss in his own house—but it strikes me your wife is boss here.

Wedderly—Well—er—you see she owns this house.

One Good Thing.

When Aubrey heard his mother telling the waitress that she did not cut the bread this enough, he said: "But then, mamma, she never cuts the cake too thick."

Omens on the Fly.

Said He—You mustn't be so excited. Learn to take things cool. Said She—All right. I'll take an ice-cream soda to begin with.

Get Back at Him.

"So you want to marry my daughter, eh?" said the stern father. "Can you support her in the style to which she has been accustomed?"

"Well, I'm not throwing any hot-house plants at myself," replied the young man in the case, "but I can support her a great deal better than you could ever have done if it hadn't been for your wife's money."

Modern Way.

"Say," said the theatrical manager to the play manufacturer. "I've got a job for you."

"What kind of a job?" queried the p. m. "I bought a job lot of scenery at an auction sale today," replied the t. m., "and I want you to write a play to fit it."

Proof.

"I wonder if there's any truth in the statement that cigarette smoking drives people insane?" "It looks that way. The handsome villain in the play, for instance, smokes cigarettes, and see how crazy about him the matinee girls are."—Philadelphia Press.

Troubled by Land Sharks.

"And do you go in swimming whenever your ship happens to be?" asked the landlubber.

"Oh, yes," replied the sailor aboard the battle ship. "And aren't you afraid of sharks?" "No; sharks never seem to trouble us until we go ashore."—Youkers Statesman.

Pretty Near.

"Willie told his teacher twice two was five to-day," said Tommy. "Well, it was a pretty good guess, now, retorted Willie. "I came within one or two of it."

Too Much for Him.

Huggins—Why did Peckem apply for a divorce? Muggins—He happened to be home one washday when it rained.

The Prevailing Hue.

"Doesn't everything look green in the country?" "Yes, did you see the rustle we just passed starting at us with his mouth wide open?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Cat.

You can talk behind my back if you want to, but thank goodness I'm not double-faced."

Roused Her Ire.

Stubb—I am glad to say that the foolish old custom of fighting at the drop of a hat has completely died out. Penn—I don't believe it. I dropped my wife's white summer hat while I was looking for my collar yesterday and she has been fighting ever since.

The fortune teller told me," said Youngman, "that I was born to command."

"And do you believe it?" asked Peckham.

"Certainly." "Why, I understand you were to be married next month."—Philadelphia Press.

Energy Producer.

Greening—Just look how hard Fanning is at work beating that carpet in his back yard. Browning—Yes; his wife always sets him at work at something of that kind just after he reads that the home team has lost a game.

Beginning of the Scrap.

Secondwed—I'm sorry you can't cook as well as my first wife did. Mrs. Secondwed—I'm sorry you haven't the business ability my first husband had. Then you could earn sufficient money to enable us to have a cook.

A Good Title.

"Is that Miss Blondette's golden hair her own?" "It wasn't till yesterday, but then I understand she paid the druggist's bill."—Baltimore American.

Not Significant.

"Is Wilkins much of an athlete?" "Oh, no; he merely belongs to an athletic club."—Washington Herald.

Florida Camphor Grease.

Secretary James Wilson of the Department of Agriculture in a recent address delivered before the American Club of Pittsburgh, declared that the United States was successfully experimenting in the production of camphor, according to the New York Journal.

Florida Camphor Grease.

"For years the department has been distributing camphor tree seed and thousands of trees are now growing throughout the south and in the Pacific coast States. Two years ago a serious effort was made to develop the manufacture of camphor from these trees.

By improvements in manufacturing processes satisfactory results have been accomplished and a large manufacturing concern is now building up a camphor grove of 2,000 acres in Florida, from which it hopes to make its camphor. This firm uses more than $500,000 worth of camphor every year."

Has a husband any more right to go into the kitchen and find fault than a wife has to go into her husband's office, and find fault?
