

DOWNERS GROVE REPORT

In the Interest of Industrial Expansion and Social Advancement of Downers Grove and Vicinity

VOL. XXV.—NO. 7

DOWNERS GROVE, DU PAGE COUNTY, ILLINOIS, FEBRUARY 15, 1908.

FIVE CENTS

G. A. R.

Attend Lincoln's Birthday Service at Baptist Church, Feb. 9th.

The thirty-ninth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, born February 12, 1809, was commemorated by an appropriate service at the Baptist Church last Sunday evening. The local Grand Army Post attended in a body. The church building was very well filled.

In announcing the service Rev. B. L. Prescott stated that the American people were so familiar with the life of Lincoln that it seemed hardly possible to tell anything that had not already been heard about him. He said further that he had been fortunate enough to get hold of something which, he believed, was absolutely new, and would give what he had found in this address.

By way of introduction the question was asked: "Why should there be held each year memorial services in honor of the birthdays of such men as Lincoln and Washington?" Mr. Prescott stated that the answer was found in Kipling's Recessional, "Last we forget! Forget what excellent character was theirs, and what they had wrought in the world's work. The pastor styled Lincoln as the "First American," and explained that this did not disparage Washington for the reason that Washington's early life and training were during the colonial period, when we were the subjects of Great Britain. Rev. Prescott said, "Wherever the name of Lincoln has been printed upon the page—in whatever language it has appeared, that language has been honored by that name there. His fame is world-wide."

Lincoln's early life and his struggle against poverty to secure an education, were mentioned and some erroneous ideas concerning Tom Lincoln, Abraham Lincoln's father, were corrected. The speaker stated that Abraham Lincoln's honesty, his shrewdness and his strength of purpose were inherited from his father. That while his father preferred to hunt and do similar things in preference to real hard labor, he was nevertheless a good man as regards his character. Lincoln's stoop and his herculean physique were referred to, as was also Lincoln's great devotion to her.

The "something new" referred to above had to do with Lincoln's Gettysburg address, which is regarded as "the greatest speech ever spoken from the lips of any man." It is taken from the "Perfect Tribute" published in the "Perfect Tribute."

The speaker who preceded Lincoln at the dedication of the national cemetery at Gettysburg had received round after round of applause during his address and also at the close. When Mr. Lincoln arose to speak it seemed to him that the people were disappointed. They expected to see a man (those who had not seen the President before), who was pleasing in appearance and attractive in personality. Instead they beheld a man homely in feature and tall and gaunt as regards figure. He felt that they even smiled at the opening words of his address, and when he had finished, a stillness reigned, like the hush of death. He sat down feeling that he had failed; he knew he had done his best, but believed he had made a failure.

On the day following in Washington, while out for a walk, the President, in a peculiar incident, came upon a young man from the south who was looking for a lawyer to make out a will for his brother, a soldier in the Confederate army. The young man's brother was engaged to a southern girl. He was wounded, however, at the battle of Gettysburg, and was in the prison hospital, expecting to die at any moment. Lincoln was interested and told the boy that he was a sort of a lawyer and would help him. Together they went to the hospital ward, and after making out the will, the young man asked Lincoln to stay and talk with him awhile. The sick man said he wanted to call him his friend and asked his name. When he heard the name Lincoln the young soldier inquired if he was related in any way to the President of the nation. Lincoln said that he was distantly related by his grandmother. The young man then proceeded to tell him how much he admired the address that his "relative" had made on the preceding day. He said that this was not alone his opinion, but that a prominent senator had just made the same statement. Lincoln had seen some very good things said in the Washington papers, but thought they had been said only because it was "due the chief executive of the nation," and not because it was really meant. In explaining why there had been no applause at the conclusion of his address, he said the people "would not think of applauding what had been said than they would think of applauding the Lord's Prayer." The young soldier told Lincoln how he wished that he could put his hand in the hand of that man (meaning Lincoln), and then he was seized with a violent spasm which carried him to the realm beyond. Just before he passed away Lincoln put his hand over that of the young man and his wish was gratified. This was the "Perfect Tribute."

Below we print Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, which will live in the hearts of men as long as time shall last:

"Four-score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."

"But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."—November 19, 1863.

It was really meant. In explaining why there had been no applause at the conclusion of his address, he said the people "would not think of applauding what had been said than they would think of applauding the Lord's Prayer." The young soldier told Lincoln how he wished that he could put his hand in the hand of that man (meaning Lincoln), and then he was seized with a violent spasm which carried him to the realm beyond. Just before he passed away Lincoln put his hand over that of the young man and his wish was gratified. This was the "Perfect Tribute."

Below we print Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, which will live in the hearts of men as long as time shall last:

"Four-score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."

"But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."—November 19, 1863.

It was really meant. In explaining why there had been no applause at the conclusion of his address, he said the people "would not think of applauding what had been said than they would think of applauding the Lord's Prayer." The young soldier told Lincoln how he wished that he could put his hand in the hand of that man (meaning Lincoln), and then he was seized with a violent spasm which carried him to the realm beyond. Just before he passed away Lincoln put his hand over that of the young man and his wish was gratified. This was the "Perfect Tribute."

Below we print Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, which will live in the hearts of men as long as time shall last:

"Four-score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."

"But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."—November 19, 1863.

It was really meant. In explaining why there had been no applause at the conclusion of his address, he said the people "would not think of applauding what had been said than they would think of applauding the Lord's Prayer." The young soldier told Lincoln how he wished that he could put his hand in the hand of that man (meaning Lincoln), and then he was seized with a violent spasm which carried him to the realm beyond. Just before he passed away Lincoln put his hand over that of the young man and his wish was gratified. This was the "Perfect Tribute."

Below we print Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, which will live in the hearts of men as long as time shall last:

"Four-score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."

"But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."—November 19, 1863.

a postal card to Julius Johnson, Box 501, village.

—Charles Farnilio has given up his position in Elgin, and is at home with his parents.

—The Misses Craigmille, of La Grange, were guests in Downers Grove last Tuesday.

—Mrs. Marvin has been ill for some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Geo. McDougal.

—Happy Thot Circle will hold their regular meeting this afternoon at the usual place.

—H. D. Henning, of the railway mail service, visited at D. G. Graham's Tuesday evening.

—Jessie Aldrich gave a dinner for a few of her little friends at Auntie-Berness' on Tuesday.

—The Basket Ball Sorority had a Valentine party at Modaff's Hall on Wednesday evening.

—A card from Mrs. Frank Kellersman in California, reports the party are homeward bound.

—Miss Louise Stanley carried away all the honors at her own little party last Tuesday afternoon.

—E. E. Downer was on the sick list last week, but is very much improved and able to be around.

—Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Kroul have left Downers Grove and started housekeeping in Chicago.

—Mr. Jack Wilkinson, from Virginia, was a guest at the Burner home for a few hours on Monday.

—Mrs. J. Y. Jewett entertained her Sunday school class at dinner on Thursday night of last week.

—Parties wishing milk from one cow regularly can have same for 10 cents a quart. Julius Johnson, Box 501.

—Keep the evening of March 20th open for an entertainment at the Congressional Church. Something new.

—Mrs. Elbert Stanley, Deborah Anita, Hope Nulton and several others have been on the sick list this week.

—Word has been received that Mrs. Edith Wells, nee Miss Edith Chesman, is very ill at her home in Minneapolis.

—International Stock Food, which made Dan Patch famous, and International Poultry Food equally as good. For sale at C. Penner's.

—Mrs. F. M. Lane left on Tuesday for Washington, D. C., where she was called by the serious illness of a nephew.

—Mrs. Allen Barnhart returned, recently, from a visit with L. J. Smith and family, now residing in Mendota, Ill.

—We will all appreciate the sidewalks more than we did when the ice melts and we can quit walking in the streets.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stevens returned from their southern trip Friday of last week. They report a very pleasant time.

—Mr. Hill, after being confined to the home since the first part of December, made his first trip to the city Tuesday.

—Mrs. Carrie Cook, sister of Mrs. E. Wooten, and former resident of Downers Grove, has been visiting in town this week.

—W. H. and A. H. Barnhart have received their final discharge as executors of the estate of the late Josephine G. Barnhart.

—Rev. R. Allingham returned home from the Presbyterian Hospital Tuesday. He is making rapid strides toward recovery.

—Mrs. L. M. Cook, who has been confined at her home by a severely sprained back, is improving, and soon hopes to be out again.

—Mr. and Mrs. Staley left on Wednesday for Mechanicsburg, Ohio, after spending the winter with their daughter, Mrs. M. A. Sacksteder.

—Miss Rutherford entertained a number of Downers Grove young ladies on Wednesday evening, Feb. 12th, at her home in La Grange.

—Fred Hoffert has started to remodel the building north of his present location, where he expects to enlarge his present business as soon as finished.

—Mrs. Bert C. White returned last week from the Marion Sims Hospital in Chicago. Although she has not entirely recovered she is able to see her friends.

—Quite a number of people from Downers Grove attended the Business Show at the Coliseum in Chicago last week, and found it very interesting and instructive.

—Babe Bunning won the skating race at Logan Square last Sunday. Babe is in form and will be a hard proposition for any of the fast skaters from now on.

—E. Smith and Miss Cora Handy attended the Epiphany Episcopal Church in Chicago last Monday and heard the male choir render the sacred cantata, "The Holy City."

—Better pay your taxes now and save the annoyance of a trip to Wheaton; Tax Collector Edw. T. Neidig at Plevka & MacDougall's Tuesday and Wednesday during February.

—Have you seen the power washing machine? It does all the hard work. Just turn on the faucet and the machine will do the rest. Demonstration at Plevka & MacDougall's.

—Lucille Westblade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Westblade, of Saratoga avenue, has returned from Geneva, where she underwent an operation.

—If you wish good, fresh milk, drop an obituary notice for Mrs. Martha R. Platts, who passed away on January 28th.

—Mrs. Martha R. Platts, whose maiden name was Riches, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Washburn, on Maple avenue, Tuesday, January 28th, at 12:30 a. m.

She was born at Hull, Yorkshire, England, September 25, 1841. With her parents and younger sister she came to America in March, 1850, and after an ocean journey of six weeks reached Davenport, Ia.

She was married March 31, 1863, to Corporal William Platts, a soldier of the Civil War, who was home on a furlough of two weeks. He served in the army five years.

In 1882 they moved with their family to Plankinton, S. D., remaining there about eight years. In the fall of 1890 they moved to Mitchell, S. D., where she served as matron of the Dakota Wesleyan University for about three years moving again to Lansing, Ia., in 1895.

In 1898 they moved to Chicago and two years later came to Downers Grove where she spent the remainder of her life. Her husband, an honored and esteemed citizen and comrade, prominent in G. A. R. circles, died May 18, 1904. Their only child being Nettie May, now Mrs. Washburn.

Mrs. Platts was one of the charter members of the first W. C. T. U. organized in Davenport, Iowa, by that peerless woman and renowned leader, Frances Willard, and she has been an active and enthusiastic worker in that society and a strong, loyal supporter of all genuine temperance work all her life. While in Davenport she organized and superintended a "Band of Hope," which was very successful and accomplished much good. Again in Dakota she organized a "Loyal Legion," and was instrumental in the organization of the W. C. T. U. in Plankinton, S. D., and was intensely interested in the work of this organization in Downers Grove.

At the age of seventeen she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which she has continued a faithful and consistent member until her removal to the Church Triumphant, which is without fault before the Throne of God. She at once became an earnest worker in the Sunday school, was placed in charge of the Primary Department and later, in Davenport, had charge of a large Bible class of young ladies. She continued in this work of teaching until her health failed.

Her Christian character has been an inspiration to all who knew her. Her implicit faith in God's providence, her unwavering confidence in his word shall claim of death cause us to grieve, And make our courage faint or fall? Nay; let us faith and hope receive; The rose still grows beyond the wall,

Scattering fragrance far and wide, Just as it did in days of yore, Just as it did on the other side, Just as it will forevermore.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

—The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

WASHINGTON BANQUET. Arrangements have been completed by the ladies of the Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, for their annual Washington banquet.

A splendid musical and literary program will be presented, and a delightful menu will be served. For the convenience of ticket purchasers, that there be no overcrowding at the tables, the sale of tickets will be limited to two hundred and fifty.

PROGRAM. Reception from 7:00 to 7:30 p. m. Doxology—"Praise God".....Audience BANQUET.

To be served promptly at 7:30 p. m. Toastmaster.....Rev. F. F. Farnilio Accompanist.....Miss Jessie Bryce and Mrs. C. G. Newell.

Piano Soloists.....Miss Mariana Roe, Mrs. Bess L. Cook and Mrs. V. Lovell.

Musical and Literary Program. Introductory.....Pastor Farnilio Prayer.....Rev. B. L. Prescott Piano Duet—"Rigoletto".....Verni Toast—"Reversed Conditions".....Rev. Harlow W. Holt, P. S. Vocal Solo—"Life's Early Morn".....Bailey Chorister, H. J. McEwen.

Oration—"Washington".....Rev. R. J. Wyckoff, D. D. Piano Duet—"Overture Trumpet".....Mendelssohn

Escalloped Oysters, Cold Meat, Mashed Potatoes, Pickles, Jellies, Olives, Cabbage Salad, Cheese, Bread and Butter, Coffee, Ice Cream, Cake.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.

The program and menu announced above for the Washington banquet insures a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Fowler & Frankendorf's and at Fred Gregory's. Banquet tickets, 50 cents. Admission to program, 15 cents.