D. D. KIMBALL.

Cor. N. Main and Lincoln Sts.

T-T-Two of a K-K-Kid.

A tall man, impatiently pacing the platform of a wayside station, accosted a red-haired boy of about twelve.

"S-s-say," he said, "d-d-d you know ha-ha-how late this train is?"

The boy grimmed but made no reply.

The man stuttered out something about reheaded kids in general and passed into the station.

A stranger, overhearing the one-sided conversation, asked the boy why he hadn't answered the big man.

"D-d-d you want see me g-g-get ma-fa-face punched?" stammered the boy. "D-d-d dat big guy'd think I was momo-mocking him." —Everybody's Magazine.

Waste of Energy.

"You never change your mind about anything, do you?"

"What's the use?" rejoined the egotist. "I found years ago that I was just as liable to be wrong the second time as I was the first." —Washington Star.

It is a curious coincidence that Canada's greatest railroad man, Sir William Van Horne, is a native of the United States, and that the greatest railroad builder of the United States, James J. Hill, is a native of the Dominion.

The Evangelical conference, which was held at Chatsworth, Ill., the past week, re-appointed Rev. J. S. Staus as pastor of the Evangelical church of this city.
