—Those who have not heard Rev. Mr. Phillips, who is filling the pulpit in the Baptist church, during the pastor's absence in the sunny south, should grasp the opportunity. On his first Sunday someone referred to him as the "Boy Preacher."

—He is young compared to the much-loved Mr. Prescott, but it is hard to believe you are listening to a very young man when he arouses such attention by his very interesting sermons.

—He pours forth such strong argument and suggestions until your head is almost dizzy, there is no problem he is not ready to attack. He holds strong opinions expressed boldly. But he is so conscientiously earnest no one leaves the church without having plenty of thoughts for the coming week.

ATHLETIC SHOW AT THE AUDITORIUM.

At the auditorium last Thursday night Walter Baker, the 150-pound Nubian champion, defeated Charles Weber, the Aurora aspirant, in two straight falls.

The first fall was gained in 14 minutes and the second in 6 1/2 minutes. Walter is ready and willing to meet any 150-pound man along the line. Owing to the inclement weather, the show did not receive the attendance it deserved.

Walter Baker went to Hinsdale Tuesday evening to wrestle Victor Milling for what he supposed would be an exhibition bout. Upon arrival it was intimated that it would be for the suburban championship, which Walter now claims. As Mr. Milling weighs 120 pounds and Baker is only a 150-pound man, he was refused to wrestle for the championship, and the bout was declared off.

On last Saturday night, Jan. 20, the Downers Grove basketball team went down to La Grange and defeated La Grange High School by a score of 23 to 21. This makes eleven straight victories for the Downers team. The game was fast and interesting, several sensational baskets being made by the locals and the high school team. One of the features of the game was the free throwing of Wells, who made eight free throws without missing one. Torrey and Carlson also did star work for the Downers boys. The score at the end of the first half was Downers, 14; La Grange, 10. In the second half La Grange, strengthened by the addition of Myers, the crack Hinsdale guard, played a better game, but were unable to overcome the handicap of the first half. The line-up was as follows:

Downers Grove: La Grange: H. S. Wells; Allison-Torrey; R. F. Carlson; Carlson; Kimball; Winters; L. B. Newell; Myers; Forrey-O'Mara; R. G. Newell.

Baskets—Wells, 2; Torrey, 1; Carlson, 4; Allison, 1; Tittsworth, 4; Kimball, 3; Haskins, 3; Newell, 1.

Free throws—Wells, 8; Torrey, 3; Tittsworth, 9.

Hymel is a healing, antiseptic balsam, taken from the mighty eucalyptus trees in the health-giving forests of Australia, where diseases of the respiratory tract are unknown.

All the sufferer has to do is inhale the antiseptic air of Hymel over the inflamed parts where the germs are entrenched, three or four times a day. It cures coughs, colds, asthma, hay fever and cramp without stomach dosing.

GERMS IN HER SYSTEM

Every Woman Should Read This.

The number of diseases peculiar to woman is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names, and it is a fact that most of these diseases are of a catarrhal nature. A woman cannot be well if there is a trace of the catarrhal germs in her system.

Some women think there is no help for them. We positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are so sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding, no woman should hesitate to believe our honesty of purpose, or hesitate to put our claims to a test.

There is only one way to cure catarrh. That way is through the blood. You may use all the snuffs, douches or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh is caused by a germ. That germ is carried by the blood to the innermost part of the system until the mucous membrane is broken, irritation and inflammation produced, and a flow of mucous results, and you can probably realize how silly it is to attempt to cure such an ailment unless you take a medicine that follows the same course as the germ or parasite.

Recall Mucu-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made his specialty catarrh, and with this medicine he averaged 98 per cent of cures where it was employed. No other remedy is so properly designed for the ailments of woman. It will purify and enrich the blood, stop mucous discharge, destroy all germ matter, remove all impurities from the system, soothe, heal and strengthen the mucous tissues, and bring about a good feeling of health and strength.

We want you to try Recall Mucu-Tone on our guarantee. If you are not benefited, or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money. Recall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Modrath's Pharmacy, 34 South Main street.

DOWNERS GROVE INVOLVED IN PATENT LITIGATION.

was no infringement, regardless of the fact that infringement had not been denied. The decision of the lower court was so contrary to the testimony of seven defendants' own experts that the case was carried to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and a unanimous decision, reversing the decision of the lower court as to the process claims in no uncertain terms. The defendants petitioned for a rehearing, but were promptly denied.

The decision of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals would have been considered final had not a movement been started by some of the engineers who were witnesses for the defense, in an attempt to have the case reviewed by the Supreme Court of the United States. As the village of Saratoga was unwilling to defray the cost, several other infringing municipalities were induced to contribute, and a petition for a writ of certiorari was filed on April 13 last, but was denied the following week.

The Supreme Court of the United States having thus declined to disturb the decision of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, the process claims of the Cameron patent stand affirmed.

Having failed in their efforts to have the decision of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals reviewed by the Supreme Court of the United States, these engineers, in an attempt to rehabilitate themselves at the expense of their clients, organized an association for the defense of septic patent suits, and municipalities who, having installed infringing plants on their advice and recommendations, were invited to join the association and resist payment of the claims of the Cameron Company, hoping thereby to encourage further litigation.

Six of the eight members of the Executive and Finance Committee of that association are engineers who have installed a number of plants involving the septic process, and include W. S. Shields, who designed the Downers Grove plant; F. H. Snow, the engineer who designed the Saratoga plant, and was later the principal witness for the defense in the Saratoga suit, is its president.

If the process claims of the Cameron patent had been drawn specially to cover the installation at Downers Grove, I doubt if they could have covered it more completely than as written; yet the Village Trustees have assumed the responsibility of refusing to settle with the Cameron Septic Tank Company on terms that other communities, on the advice of competent counsel, have willingly accepted, and the village of Downers Grove is involved in expensive patent litigation at the instigation of a few engineers who are evidently more interested in justifying their own past errors than in a business-like adjustment of difficulties for which they are so largely responsible.

H. D. WYLLIE, Mr. Cameron Septic Tank Company, Chicago, Feb. 4, 1929.

The new waitress sidled up to a dapper young man at the breakfast table, who, after glancing at the bill, opened his mouth, and a noise issued forth that sounded like the ripping off of all the cogs on one of the wheels in the power house. The new waitress made her escape to the kitchen. "Follow out there insulted me," she said. "The head waiter looked at him. 'I'll get it,' he said. 'That's just the train caller ordering his breakfast.'"

About the only satisfaction poorly married women have is that they are not old maids.

THAT OLD QUESTION.
There was a man in our town, and he was quite a case,
He jumped into a bramble bush and badly scratched his face;
Forthwith he sought a barber's shop. The naughty barber said,
The while his razor he did stop,
"You shave yourself sometimes, don't you?"

HARD WORK.
"Yes," said Mr. Dustin Stax, "I have succeeded in life, and by the hardest kind of work."
"You don't look as if you had much personal experience with hard work."
"Of course not. I hired it done."
—Washington Star.

A CONTRADICTION.
"Judge," said the prisoner, "I have been better days. I have never before even been threatened with arrest."
"Your second assertion," answered his honor, "contradicts the first. It shows you have never been connected with a big corporation or owned a motor car."
—Washington Star.

THE AUTOMATIC SOUBRETTE.
"I suppose your play starts with a housemaid dusting the furniture and soliloquizing about the family affairs."
"No, we've cut all that out. Instead we have a vacuum cleaner with phonographic attachment."
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A CLEVER OMISSION.
"Did you write to papa, George?"
"Asking for your hand?"
"Of course."
"Yes, I wrote."
"That's strange. I supposed papa would be terribly angry. You know he doesn't like you."
"Yes, I know. But I fixed it all right. I—I didn't sign the letter."
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

EXCEPTIONS TO ALL RULES.
"You can't buy champagne on a beer income," declared the party of the first part.
"You can if you happen to own a brewery," responded the other half of the sketch.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SEINFISH LAD.
Mother (reading telegram)—Henry telegraphs that the football match is over, and he came out of it with three broken ribs.
Father (eagerly)—And he won?
Mother—He doesn't say.
Father (impatiently)—Confound it all. That boy never thinks of any body but himself. Now I must wait until I get the morning paper.—Tit-Bits.

TOO SMART A BOY.
Traveler—Say, boy, your corn looks kind of yellow.
Boy—Yes, sir. That's the kind we planted.
Traveler—Looks as though you will only have half crop.
Boy—Don't expect any more. The landlord gets the other half.
Traveler (after a minute's thought)—Say, there is not much difference between you and a fool.
Boy—No, sir. Only the fence.—Judge's Library.

NOT TOO CONFIDING.
Man—Do you believe that story about her?
Woman—I'd believe anything about her, unless she told it herself.—Pick-Me-Up.

A GOOD CLIENT.
First Lawyer—I wish I had been living in King Solomon's time.
Second Lawyer—Why?
First Lawyer—He had seven hundred wives. Think of the divorce business he could have thrown in my way.—Illustrated Bits.

CAUTIOUS.
It was his first engagement, and he was very nervous. A chum of his was in the line of fire ahead of him, and when the bullets began to fly the chum began to dodge.
Therupon the recruit shouted, excitedly:
"Hey! Jim, don't dock. I'm behind ye!"—Illustrated Bits.

LOVE.
Howard—And how did the plain widow Perkins capture the fastidious Mawker?
Coward—Oh, took him out in her car and showed him a few hundred of her building lots?
Howard—Ah, I see! A case of love at first sight!—Harper's Weekly.

NOTHING.
"Nature plans well for mankind's needs."
"I should say so. What could be more convenient than our best medicine?"—Washington Star.

Even the lowliest may be able to show you that your fund of information is sadly incomplete. "I will remember," said H. K. Adair, the detective, "a walk I once took down Market street. As I strode along, proud and happy, a rose in my buttonhole and a gold-headed cane in my hand, a drunken man had the impudence to stop me. 'Ain't you Mr. Adair?' he said. 'Yes,' said I; 'what of it?' 'Mr. Adair, the detective?' he hiccoughed. 'Yes, you. Who are you?' I asked, impatiently. 'Mr. Adair,' said the untidy wretch, as he laid his hand on my shoulder to keep himself from falling, 'I'll tell you who I am, Mr. Adair. I'm—hic—the husband of your washerwoman.' 'Well, what of it?' said I. My scorn brought a sneer to the man's lips, and he said: 'You see, you don't know everything, Mr. Adair.' 'What don't I know?' I demanded. 'Well, Mr. Adair,' said he, 'you don't know that—hic—I'm wearin' one of your new white shirts.'"
