Come to Fight tippsy Moth. An interesting consignment of about 2,000 parasite-hearing caterpillars ar rived the other day on the American line steamship New York. They are consigned to Dr. L. O. Howard, chief entomologist of the Agricultural Department, who got back from abroad a few days ago on the Cunarder Manretanta, says the New York Times.

While abroad Dr. Howard gave some time to studying the extermination of has caused serious ravages here, and especially in the New England States. He found there are fifty two varieties | World of moth killing parasites in England. Germany and Austria, but how to get the parasite to this country was another question. It was decided that the only way to import them was to bring in the parasite infested cater pillars, and so the importation of them has begun. Since May they have been arriving at the rate of about

There were ten cases on the New York. They were kept in a steerage compartment forward. In some way a case broke when the consignment was being taken on board at Southampton, and the caterpillars, it is said, set out to explore the vessel soon after she got under way. They man aged to get to nearly every part of the vessel, and it was noticed that they always travel down wind. The remaining cases were carried to a steerage compartment in the stern of the New York, so that if any more caterpillars escaped they would work down wind and over the stern.

One reason why it takes the mil lennium so long to come is that many of us are more concerned about the mote in our brother's eyes than we are about the beam in our own.

Farming" Pays Well

The business of medicine farming is very big one, for it is calculated that the world at large swallows over I two hundred million dollars' worth of medicines every year.

Ask a doctor what are the two most valuable drugs in exist nce. He will probably tell you opium and quinine Oplum, as we all know, is the juice of a poppy, and the growing of this poppy is one of the world's great in dustries. There is a tract on th Ganges, 600 miles by 200, of which the chief farming industry is the growth of epium. China produces 250,000,000 pounds of opium yearly and large quantities are grown in Turkey, Egypt and Persia.

The seed vessel of the opium poppy is as big as a hen's egg, says the Philadelphia Inonirer. In India the plant is sown in November and the harvest is ready in March. The juice is got by scratching the seed heads. This is all done by hand lab-·r and invariably in the afternoon. Some opium poppy is still grown in England. The crop last year was 20

The olnchona tree is a native of South America, where it grows in the mountains at a height of from 5,000 fect to 8,000 feet. The first living seedlings made their appearance in adready grining is grown wherever the climate will suit it. There are big plantations up in the Nilgiri Hills, in Sikim, in Brit'sh Burma, and in-Ceylon. In the latter island there are cinchona trees Third only in value after opinm again in these waters.

and quinine comes that good, oldfashloned remedy, castor-oil. The castor bean is a native of India. The United States produces most of the coarser kind of oil, while all the fin-

The castor oil plant can be grown in England, but there it is an annual. In Southern Italy it becomes a tree 20 child to climb up into it. About $60 an acre is the profit from a well managed castor bean plantation.

The rhubarh of medicine is a very different plant from that of which we are now eating the stalks in the form of rhubarh tart. It is smaller, with round leaves, and it is the root, not the stalk, which is valuable. At one time most of the thubarb root came from Asia Minor Now it is being grown in other localities.

Most of us who have passed the age of thirty have active recollections of hideous hot deses of senna and salts-a whole curful at a draught Senna is supplied to the world by Egypt and India. ### BANISHING THE MOTORS.

Ruled Out of Hyde Park, London, During Part of the Day.

The rule that no motors should invade the precincts of London's Hyde Park during the early hours of the afternoon and evening is now in full force. It makes a big difference in the appearance of the park.

In former times, not so very remote either, every fine afternoon in the reason saw two solid lines of carriages stretching from near the Albert Memorial by way of Hyde Park Corner to 'he Marble Arch and back feet high and a'reng enough for a ngain. Between these serried ranks the Queen used to drive preceded by a mounted pelicernan. Every one was ettired in his bravest and best; in fact the whole scene, breked by the green of the park and the brightness of the flowers, was quite a kalcidoscope of shifting color. This is a'l changed since motors have come in and more especially during the hours they are excluded from the park " walked through a day or two ago," says a writer in the Gentlewoman. "and found a few rather forlorn looking broughams and victorias trotting up and down in a leisurely manner, but of crowd d ranks or fine folks in fine carriages there was none. The consequence is that the streets close by are so blocked with motors and the gypsy, or browntail, moth, which grown. It is one of the least pay taxis that they are practically im-

Wondrous Love. David's piteous wail over the death of his traitorous son, Ahsalom, touches all hearts, "Would God I had died for thee, O Absalom, my son, my son! He would rather have lost his throne even his life, than his son. He was t true father and his wall expresses the feelings of the universal father heart. The true father stands ready to for his children. God is a true Faths As Absalom rebelled against his fa er, so have all men rebelled a God; and God has demos love for His rebellious
