The boy friends of Everett Lee Shaw, of Chicago, who has been spending the summer with his aunt, Miss Jenette Shaw, 70 Highland avenue, en-

Joyed a watermelon treat last Thursday evening, which Miss Shaw gave as a farewell to Everett. The reception to the teachers of the public schools and Board of Education and wives given by Superintendent Butler and wife was a most delightful occasion, and was greatly appreciated by the guests. S. Burkhardt was arrested by Officer Banker, Monday evening, only after the officer had felled him with his gun. Tuesday morning he was taken before Judge Graham, who assessed a fine of $10 and costs. Officer Banker was pretty well bruised in the encounter. Pain anywhere stopped in twenty minutes sure with one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. The formula is on the 25-cent box. Ask your doctor or druggist about this formula! Stops womanly pains, headache, pains anywhere. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., for free trial, to prove value of his Headache or Pink Pain Tablets. Sold by Bush & Simonson. A clever, popular Candy Cold Cure Tablet—called Preventics—is being dispensed by druggists everywhere. In a few hours, Preventics are said to break any cold—completely. And Preventics, being so safe and toothsome, are very fine for children. No quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening. Box of 48—25c. Sold by Bush & Simonson. Friend of Mrs. Lottie Perrine, a former resident of this village, will be sorry to hear of the death of her father, Evan R. Evans, of Hinckley, Ill., last Monday. The funeral was held Wednesday from the Methodist Church at Hinckley. Mrs. J. H. Griffiths and Mrs. J. W. Brown were in attendance from Downers Grove. C. L. Stueber, who is working with a gang of men on the electric signals and interlocking machine in Downers Grove tower, left last Saturday evening for a visit to his old home near Watertown, Wis., returning Monday morning on the first train. You ought to have seen those coons eat watermelon at the Mograph show Monday night. One of our South Side friends, who has been visiting at Washington, D. C., said the views shown were perfectly natural. He thought he was still on his vacation. Last Saturday night Mrs. Moore and Miss Barr entertained the local chapter of the Royal Neighbors at the former's pleasant home on Carpenter street. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games, after which light refreshments were served. The guests departed home happy, all voting Mrs. Moore and Miss Barr Royal Neighbors and entertainers. A pleasing, good, high grade, truly flavored, amber colored cup of coffee can be had—and without the real coffee danger, or damage to health—by simply using Dr. Shoop's new substitute, called "Health Coffee." Pure, wholesome, toasted cereals, malt, nuts, etc., make Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee both healthful and satisfying. No 20 to 30 minutes' tedious boiling. "Made in a minute," says Dr. Shoop. If served as coffee, its taste will even trick an expert. Test it and see.—J. W. Naab. Mrs. B. Waples and Mrs. W. Norton gave a dinner to twenty of their particular friends on Saturday last at the Waples home on Washington street. The table, filled with good things, was beautifully decorated with asters. Five hundred was played until 12 o'clock. Mrs. Adah Anderson and Mr. John Gillespie carried off the prizes. Mrs. Waples and Mrs. Norton would be very vain could they hear all the compliments paid them for their royal entertaining. It's a pity when sick ones drag the stomach or stimulate the heart and kidneys. That is all wrong! A weak stomach means weak stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the heart and kidneys. The weak nerves are instead crying out for help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is promptly holding stomach, heart and kidney ailments. The Restorative reaches out for the actual cause of these ailments—the falling "inside nerves." Anyway test the Restorative 48 hours. It won't cure so soon as that, but you will surely know that help is coming. Sold by Bush & Simonson. John Dawson, private secretary to Governor Stubbs, said to a group of newspaper men in the Governor's office the other day: "Every good newspaper man has something about him that is godlike. He so frequently makes something out of nothing."—Kansas City Journal. ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN HAVE BOOTH'S BALM ON HAND Rather annoying to find that when some one in the family gets a burn or a scald that there's nothing in the house to ease the excruciating pain. There's nothing on earth so good for burns and scalds as Booth's Balm, the ointment that stops the pain instantly, thoroughly cleanses the sore with its antiseptic properties, and heals in an astonishingly short time. Bush & Simonson sell it for 25 cents a large box, and it ought to be in every home in Downers Grove, ready for instant use. Booth's Balm also cures pimples, blackheads, chapped hands and face, itching skin, eczema, earache, sore chest and throat, piles, chafing or itching of skin. It clears the complexion in 24 hours and makes it stay clear. HYOMEI (PROMISED HIGH-Q-PRICE) Cures catarrh or money back. Just breathe it in. Complete outfit, including Inhaler $1. ANENT ETIQUETTE IN TELEPHONING.

Somebody ought to formulate a code of rules of "good form" to be used in telephoning. Much has been said about the salutation "Hello." That salutation is all right for business men. It is brief and answers the purpose, but it sounds somewhat rough for ladies, and it is hardly courteous for a man to address a woman in that way. Many people otherwise courteous seem to forget the simplest rules of politeness when using the telephone. One very common breach of politeness is to not allow the person who has called up and commenced the conversation to abruptly end the call. If it is not polite to abruptly end the call of a friend at your home by bidding him good-bye when your interest in his call begins to flag, then it is equally rude to end his call to you over the telephone by saying good-bye before he says it. I have had that experience and it makes me feel much as I imagine I should feel were a door closed in my face; and I can only overlook the rudeness and solace myself by the thought that it was done through ignorance. Even though the person at the other end of the line is tedious, and taking your valuable time, it would be much more polite to frankly say, "I am very busy at this time. Please excuse me now and we will talk this over at another time." Always the rule of kindness, a regard for the feelings of another, in short the golden rule, is safe to fashion one's life by. In following that we will not err, and cannot fail to be in "good form."

Dr. John Thomas, M. A., of Liverpool, England, pastor of the most famous Baptist Chapel in his home city and also lecturer on homiletics at the Manchester Baptist College, and who has been the principal speaker from abroad at Winona, Grove City and other Bible conferences and Chautauques, will lecture daily at 12 M. in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, 153 La Salle Street, Chicago, September 26th to 28th under the auspices of the Moody Bible Institute on themes for Christian workers.

Dr. Thomas will preach Sunday morning and evening, Sept. 19th at the Moody Church, as well as each evening at 7:30 during his stay. There will be no charge for admission to any of these services. The public is invited.

DEATH OF MRS. CAROLINE COLEGROVE-MIHM. Mrs. Caroline Colgrove-Mihm died Sunday afternoon, Sept. 5th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Sloan. Funeral services were held at the home Wednesday morning by the Rev. Ailingham of the Congregational Church, after which the body was conveyed to the depot and put aboard the 9 o'clock train. Interment was made at Millington, Ill. Mrs. Mihm was born in Gouverneur, N. Y., in 1844 and was married to Frank Colgrove in 1859. Mr. Colgrove died in 1875 and in 1894 she married Mr. Mihm. One of the inmates of an old woman's home near Vienna is Frau Katharina, who is now in her one hundred and eleventh year. She was married at 20, lived happily with her husband for seventy years and reared her ten children, according to her own words, "in the fear of the Lord." Her husband was a tailor, who received 60 kreutzers—about 24 cents—a day.

SPORTING NEWS.

BASE BALL.

WE QUIT COUNTING.

Labor Day at the local diamond. Downers rubbed it into that bunch of ball players from East Grove to the tune of 25 to 4—count them, 25 runs. East Grove was up to bat first. Bar-on, the first man up, sent a slow roller between third and the pitcher that landed him at first. Tommy was thrown out at first advancing Baron to second. Reha out at first, Baron hit second. Charley, next man up, hit safely, scoring Baron. Bulat struck out. Downers—Shannabrooke out on first. G. MacLean out on first. F. Allison hit safely and stole second. Manchester hit by pitched ball, J. Allison out on first. Score, East Grove 1, Downers Grove 0.

In E. G. half of the second they put over two more runs, but Downers evened it up by slipping five runs over the pan, making the score 5 to 3. These were the last runs East Grove got until the ninth inning, while Downers put up two in the third, two in the fourth, and three in the fifth, making the score 12 to 2 at the end of the seventh. The following is the eighth inning of the game:

East Grove's half—Bulat hit, but put out on second. Jacobs hit by pitched ball, stole second. Zebrasky hit safely. Moran struck out. Albert out on first. No runs.

Downers' half—Manchester hit, Jay Allison hit, Blinder walked. Alex. Gollan walked, forcing one run; Gardner walked, forcing another run; Leonard hit a two-bagger, two more runs; Shannabrooke walked, filling the bases. Glad MacLean struck out; F. Allison hit by pitched ball, forcing another run; Manchester hit, one more run; J. Allison hit, still another run; Blinder hit one more, Gollan hit, another; Holden walked, forcing one more; Leonard hit, two more over the pan; Shannabrooke out at first; G. MacLean out at first. Thirteen runs. Final score, 25 to 4.

East Grove used three pitchers, Tommy, Reha and Charles, and neither of them could do anything to stop the Downers boys, once they got started. Downers—R. H. P. A. E. G. MacLean, p. 3 1 4 0. F. Allison, c. 2 2 6 0. Manchester, 3b. 3 2 1 1. J. Allison, 1b. 3 12 2 1. M. Blinder, 2b. 4 3 2 2. A. Gollan, rf. 4 1 2 0. Gardner, cf. 3 2 1 0. Leonard, lf. 2 3 0 1.

On the first night of the representation of one of Jerrold's pieces, a successful adapter from the French rallied him on his nervousness. "I," said the adapter, "never feel nervous on the first night of my pieces." "Ah, my boy," Jerrold replied, "you are all ways certain of success. Your pieces have all been tried before." He was seriously disappointed with a certain book written by one of his friends. This friend heard that Jerrold had expressed his disappointment, and questioned him: "I hear you said—'No, I didn't,' was the answer; 'I said it was the worst book I ever wrote.'"

CROPS AND RAINFALL. Visitors to the Omaha Corn Show will remember the magnificent display of farm products from Western County, Wyoming, grown on exactly the same kind of soil that can now be taken in 320 acres homesteads. The Mondell Act applies to lands that receive from 18 to 21 inches of rainfall annually, and you only need to see the crops grown by the farmers already located there to be convinced. These homesteads can be taken along the Burlington's new line now building in Wyoming.

ENGLAND'S POMPEII.

Wonderful Roman City Near London Soon to Be Excavated.

At the time of the Roman occupation of England Verulamium was one of the most important cities in that country. With Eboracum (York), it enjoyed the dignity of being a municipal city, which means that all who were born within its walls could claim Roman citizenship. It was situated a few miles out of what is now the greatest of the world's cities, London, and the British inscription under Hadrian's wall continued there in the massacre of 70,000 Romans. In 303, or perhaps earlier, St. Alban, the first English martyr, was beheaded in the site of the present St. Albans abbey. Not long after the ancient town was forsaken, and the new one—St. Albans—grew up on the hill which had shadowed it.

In the center of the site of the old city is the Church of St. Michael, the vicarage of which stands in the middle of what was the forum. A few old walls and other fragments are to be seen here and there, but the Roman city lies for the most part buried under a considerable depth of soil. In the course of the centuries earth has been washed down from the hillside, and earthworks have been busy, and where once lay the proud and splendid city is now the quiet, flower-filled garden of the vicarage, the fields and the glebe and other pastures and plow lands.

This bit of history, while interesting in itself, but introduces a fact in which all scientific London is deeply concerned—viz., that the Earl of Verulam, who owns the land upon which was built the ancient Roman city, has given permission to the Society of Antiquaries to undertake excavations, which will shortly be commenced. The stones and Roman bricks of Verulamium were, of course, much used for later buildings elsewhere. St. Albans abbey is largely built from them. But a great deal still remains under the soil. About sixty years ago, and again in 1869, the theater was partly and temporarily uncovered, and some fine frescoes, pavements and marbles were found. It is the only Roman theater in Britain, and its dimensions are almost exactly the same as those of the theater at Pompeii.

In fact, the whole town of Verulamium singularly resembles Pompeii as regards shape—an irregular oval—dimensions, and arrangement and position of streets and buildings. It is slightly larger, its walls including an area of 190 acres. Its excavations ought to provide extraordinary interest. If it is done thoroughly, as no doubt it will be, there will be within a few miles of London an object lesson of surpassing educational and anti-quarian value as to how the Romans lived in Britain 2,000 years ago.

The dog trots quietly along in front of those intrusted with his care and if they take a by-path he stops and waits till they rejoin him. It is easy to understand him. The walk is about a mile as far as the second pond, where it terminates. Bernard goes no further. If one tries to continue it is at his own risk and peril. Bernard will not budge from the spot, but squats down or carries on a flirtation at the second mill till one returns. As soon as he sees the visitor returning Bernard runs along the path back to the first pond and without repeating the mill where the visitor was committed to his charge he conducts him directly to the road for Pleurault. Then, when he sees the visitor set off on foot or in a carriage he turns his back and trots off home, and no amount of persuasion will induce him to accompany any one further on the road.

Nathaniel Osborne, who used to blow the organ in the Brick Church in Fairhaven, was once asked how much salary he received. "Twelve hundred dollars," he replied. "Two hundred dollars!" exclaimed the questioner in surprise. "Yes," replied Nat, "but that's for one hundred years."

DOG A SUCCESSFUL GUIDE. How the Animal Conducts Tourists to Romantic Spot in France. Six miles south of Dinard (Ille-et-Vilaine), on passing through the village of Pleurtault and descending into the deep valley of Fremur, the visitor finds the Crochaux ponds, a widening of the river in a romantic spot between wooded slopes whose dark verdure is reflected in the somber waters. Vulgarization Scientific says. The whole valley being private property, dependent upon the neighboring Castle of Crochaux, which dominates the hills, would-be visitors are directed to apply at the mill, whose great wheel is turned by the waters of the first pond. The miller pockets his gratuity, points out the intricate path that must be followed, then calls "Bernard" and, indicating the visitors, tells Bernard to go with them. Bernard is the dog that acts as guide in order to save the miller the journey and explanations.
