"WOMAN FROM WOLVERTON"

Wife of a Congressman Relates Her Experience in Official Life at Washington.

Washington.—Put a plain, simple, honest little woman from the west into the whirl of officialdom at Washington, photograph her thoughts and impressions of it all, and you get an unprejudiced view of the lives our national law-makers and statesmen lead at the national capital. Isabel Gordon Curtis has accomplished the photographic process, and in her book, "The Woman From Wolverton," she presents a vivid picture of Washington life as it is rather than as we usually hear of it.

Wolverton is a village of the far west and the woman is Mrs. Lemuel Shippe, whose husband has been elected to congress. Plain, simple, home-loving people, they go to the capital city all ignorant of its customs and manners, and many a heart-ache comes to the lovable little woman despite her courage, education and inborn gentility. She tells her own story, with a keen sense of humor when dealing with the female snobs who sought to squelch her and the grafters who sometimes got the better of her, and with real pathos when relating such incidents as the visit from old Uncle Sil, the worshipper of Lincoln's memory, or the death of Mrs. Daggett, who had done so much to make her life there endurable.

Lemuel once called his wife "a congressman's conscience," and that is the key to a number of situations, for the little woman in her simple honesty could not comprehend the tortuous ways of politics, or when she did comprehend them, could not tolerate them. So with gentleness she steered Lemuel out of some complications that would have been troubling memories. Through a trying but successful campaign for his reelection she gave him invaluable aid, and proved that they had lost no whit of the affection and esteem of the home town folk, and when, two years later Lemuel was defeated, the entire population of the village met them at the station, with a band playing "The Conquering Hero" and they felt that they had indeed conquered though they had lost.

ITCH IS TOWN'S PROBLEM

Milton (Minn.) Children Refuse Medicine Because of Religious Belief.

St. Paul, Minn.—The Milton (Minn.) board of health is puzzled over the question of what to do with several children afflicted with "straw itch." Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, received a letter from Milton saying that the children had been provided with medicine with which to cure themselves, but that they first refused to use it on the theory that the Lord would cure them. Later, when more medicine was supplied and they poured some of it on the afflicted skin, it smarted and they and their parents took this to mean that the Lord disapproved the lotion.

Therefore the parents refuse to direct their children to use the medicine, the children refuse to use it and the Milton school and health boards are unable to decide what to do. Dr. Bracken was advised by Assistant-General Hilton to put the question up to the state superintendent of schools.

CHECK SPONGING POLICEMEN

Atlanta Officials Decide to Make City Guardians Pay for Doctors' Services.

Atlanta, Ga.—"Sponging" on the city of Atlanta by policemen, who are alleged to have summoned city physicians to their homes in cases of illness when they were able to pay for such services, no longer will be allowed if a recommendation of the board of health to the city council is adopted. At a meeting yesterday the board decided to petition the council to forbid city physicians rendering such services in the future.

This action was taken after charges were made that some of the policemen had "sponged" on the city in this way.

Rexall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction. Three sizes: 12 tablets 10 cents, 36 tablets 25 cents and 80 tablets 50 cents. Language of the Professions.

Scientific terms are ordinarily crammed without mercy into the medical certificates that are brought into courts of justice. These have always the effect of thoroughly frightening the magistrates, who hardly understand them more than do the good public.

At a recent court session M. Masse, the presiding judge, interrupted the reading of a medical certificate:

"When will these doctors resolve to abandon their gibberish and speak French?"

"Monsieur the president, the doctors remain as they were in the time of Moliere."

The presiding judge said with a sigh: "They are worse than in the time of Moliere. In that epoch at least the doctors made use of a kind of Latin that one could understand. Today no one can understand them at all."

"Does Monsieur the President believe that the gibberish of the lawyers is any more understandable than that of the doctors?"—Le Cri de Paris.

Many Good Things of Life. When we look into the long avenue of the future and see the good there is for each one of us to do, we realize after all what a beautiful thing it is to work, and to live, and be happy.—Robert Louis Stevenson.
