

Lindley's Real Estate Tips

If you do not want to go in deep, would like a quiet and yet a dandy little home, about twelve minutes' walk from depot...

If you would be interested in a couple of good acres, with a splendid house just in edge of town...

Thirty-six acres vacant, a short distance out, on stone road, for $150 per acre.

We write Aetna, fire, tornado and automobile insurance, and we are a Notary Public.

A dandy cottage on the north side, four rooms and bath, all on one floor, $1,500.

$2,000 will buy a modern five room house on south side. Hot water heat, bath, gas, etc.

And $3,100 will buy a five room cottage, up to date in every particular, with lot 50x200 feet, on south side. It is too small for present owner.

We build houses and sell them on the installment plan.

Here is a money maker for some one and a good home during the making. Location Main street in the business district...

And here is a fine 8-room home, right in a north side neighborhood. All rooms high, light and airy.

They have given us a couple of new phones and of course a new number; say "won't it" to central and she will do the rest.

No matter where you go or what you pay you cannot beat this. Six large rooms, enclosed in walls that are not only substantial but artistic...

The reason I have not sold this place apparently is the price is so low people think there is something wrong. 7 rooms, all on first floor, having hardwood floors, steam heat, water motor, a dandy cement floor basement, two porches, good neighborhood, 100 feet of frontage, fruit, shade and poultry house and yard, for $2,100, part cash, and nothing wrong.

I have something awfully nice in a close by - a 125 acre farm for $200 per acre. To live on this would take you among capitalists. Ask about it.

Another good farm, a little further from here, but near Lombard, 120 acres and a lot of good buildings, $125 per acre.

Eight 50 ft. lots in a square chunk, sloping southward, five minutes' walk from the depot. $1,000 takes the whole works. Every inch of it good dirt, and nearly all assessments paid.

This should appeal to a man who wishes to leave the office one of these days; 2.1-3 acres of the very best soil, located close enough to depot so you can continue city work until you are ready to retire to your little farm. House has six rooms. Barn and large poultry house are nearly new. And it is a nice place to live, having large shade trees across entire front, $3,600.

Something nice on Maple avenue in a six room, nearly new, up-to-date place for $6,000. Has extra large living room such as you planned in your new house, also large porch. Immediate possession.

Could you use a country home on the Butterfield road? Contains 1 1/2 acres, is about two miles from a third rail station and a little further from Downers Grove. All kinds of fruit and a good garden. Price under $2,500.

Ten acres good timber just north of town for $1,200. By using your head little in buying this you can sell enough cord wood from it to pay for it, and have the land for profit, without having to lift a hand.

Inquiry for vacant lots is looking up somewhat. Unless you act soon you are going to lose out on some of the best bargains. It does not take much cash to get a start on one. Why not encourage the young folks to take hold of one, to be improved later when their finances permit? The satisfied real estate owner is the real booster.

THE MEMORIES OF MEMORIAL DAY.

In these days when competition is speeding up men's powers to their highest gear, it is natural enough that the workingman should turn on a holiday to the ball game rather than to the burial ground.

This ignoring of a past so vital to the veterans, as reflected at the smaller attendance seen at both the National and Confederate Memorial day observances, must seem a sign of frivolity and ingratitude to the men who offered their lives in that passionate sectional conflict.

If one has not the patience or the patriotism to hear the words of the orator, or the sentiment to lay a flower on the grave of some veteran, at least something can be done in every home to tell the children about it.

Tell them what their grandfathers and grandmothers did to sustain an unselfish cause! Don't forget grandma's part! Perhaps it was the greater!

No younger man can possibly feel what that moment must have been, when the veterans, throats choking, tried in vain to say good-bye, and took their last looks at weeping wives and daughters.

There is little in our lives that corresponds to the strength and courage of the Mothers of Israel, who bravely smiling, sought to fill the hearts of the younger women with a strength and hope they did not feel in their own hearts.

The lot of the soldier must have been preferable to that of the dear one who stayed at home. In danger, action is far better than inaction. When not in imminent peril, the duties, the humors, the companionships of camp life occupied the mind of the soldier. Morbid thoughts did not enter much. Even in actual battle, the mind could hardly stop to realize the real situation.

At home, how different! Every step was dreaded. It might be the bearer of a letter or a telegram bringing the fatal news. Every newspaper was opened with shaking hands.

It is harder to get the citizen of 1912 to turn out to the caucuses on a rainy night, to save his state and country from grafters, than it was to persuade the boys of '61 to stand up to be shot at!

THE CATHOLIC WOMAN'S LEAGUE.

The annual meeting of the Catholic Woman's League of Downers Grove was held on May 23d. The attendance was large and, after reviewing the work and hearing the reports of the various committees, it was unanimously agreed that the year had been a success in every way. A more extensive program is being planned for the coming season beginning in September.

During the intervening months there will be a number of small social affairs, such as card parties, lawn fetes, etc., to all of which the public is cordially invited. The women who make up the membership of the league are too ambitious and energetic to rest content with the knowledge of things already done, and, such being the case, will keep right on doing.

The officers of the league for the incoming year are: Mrs. John T. Vander, pres.; Mrs. Rex W. Hawkins, vice-pres.; Mrs. Frank Pratt, sec. gen.; Mrs. John J. Condit, cor. sec.; Mrs. Thomas Manning, treas.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR JUNE 2 HYPOCRISY AND SINCERITY.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Take heed that you do not your righteousness before men, to be seen of them; else ye have no reward with your Father which is in Heaven."—Matt. 6:1.

Someone has called attention to the "but" of God as recorded in the Scriptures, showing that they always lead to something good and contrasts them with those of men that are always the introduction to some derogatory remark. In something resembling this the words of Jesus, "Take heed," are tremendous with import.

Doing was the greatest thing in the Jewish religion that Jesus came to set aside when he established his new kingdom. It is easy for a man to try to do for himself in order to merit God's favor. It is hard to let God do for us and we to accept his finished work.

In this lesson there is one inclusive word and three illustrations. This word is the word "righteousness" substituted in the Revised Version for the word "aims" in verse one. The three lines of application or illustrations used are, first, that we shall make our righteousness secure by so doing our aims as not to be seen of men; second, that in the saying of our prayers we shall not, like the hypocrites, desire to be seen of men, and third, that in the keeping of our fasts and our vigils we do them, not, as do hypocrites, that the multitudes may observe and comment thereon.

In another lesson upon this manifesto of Jesus we studied the subject of the law and in it he summarized it all by telling us that except our righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of these Scribes and Pharisees, whom John the Baptist designated as a generation of vipers—hypocrites, we shall in no wise enter into this new kingdom which Jesus came to establish.

Righteousness He Demands. In the lesson Jesus shows us the difference between their righteousness and the righteousness which he is demanding of the subject of his kingdom. He demands that our righteousness shall seek its approval not from men but from God. The motive which must govern is the glory, not of man but of God, not man's approval but the approval of God. In verse two the word "aims" is retained and hence the first illustration has to do with our "doing of aims," i. e., our relations to men about us, our rightness. The doing of aims has no fundamental connection with any question of honesty between man and man. The doing of aims according to the strict interpretation of civil law is no part of duty. There is no reason why the business man should give away his earnings provided he is just in his dealings and does not defraud in his transactions. Yet we do see men making great gifts and benefactions to the cause of philanthropy. Why? Jesus says bare the secret when he says, "that they may have the glory of men."

Next Jesus takes up the subject of prayer. Again our attention is drawn to the fact that the exercise of prayer has but little to do with our relations to men. True it is these relations must be right before we can come to God acceptably but prayer is to be directed to God and not to man. Apart from our belief in God, why should we pray? Commercial or other inter-relationships do not require prayer, why then pray? The keen blade of Jesus' logic again reveals the innermost secret, "that they may be seen of men," and such an idea of righteousness is repugnant in the kingdom of Jesus.

We now come to the third illustration, the keeping of fasts. Fasting does not and never has appealed to the natural man. Naturally it is repugnant and distasteful and yet we see men making a show of fasting and imposing a like burden upon others, why? "That they may be seen of men." Is there, then, no place for, nor ministry in fasting? Certainly there is. True fasting, however, consists in foregoing and abstaining for the "glory of God."

God the Final Judge. It is a sad fact that much of our Lenten fasting and of our abstinence upon Fridays is that it shall be seen of men and not because of any real appreciation of the underlying need or sense of the principles of fasting. This lesson is a great warning that if we condition our righteousness upon the approval of man it will have no reward whatever of God. The ostentatious or unctious display of philanthropy will receive its reward from men and weighs naught.

Followed through this lesson applies to all the walks of life. For illustration, to adulterate food for gain and yet appear active in church for the upbuilding of a reputation. This falseness is the sin that lies back of graft and corruption and that allows America to have "the worst governed cities in the world."

It is quite noticeable that there is not a single personal pronoun in this model prayer. It begins with God, leads us through his Anangels with man and back once more to him in whom all glory belongs.
