As for acre tracts, we never had the equal of our present list. The locations are all excellent, with prices from $250 to $700 per acre. All are within easy walking distance of trains. And terms easy.

One of the best buys in town is 8 rooms and bath, east front, house, on extra large lot, for $3,250. Location, 2 blocks from depot. Furnace heat, stone foundation, barn, paved street. You could not build the house alone for the money and lot is

LESSON FOR MAY 25.

JOSEPH AND BENJAMIN.

GOLDEN TEXT-"He that loveth his brother abideth in the light." I John 3:10.

Jacob's plaintive cry as uttered in verse six of this chapter touches the heart of any father, but God is working out his plan unknown to Jacob. The brothers must have been impressed by Joseph's words that they should dare starvation, and their father's grief and anger, rather than return to Egypt without their brother Benjamin.

Judah, who before had sought to deliver Joseph, now offers to become surety for Benjamin. Thus it was that Jacob was persuaded, but to make as good an impression as possible with this strange Egyptian ruler Jacob directed that in addition to the necessary funds a present also be prepared (43:11), and remembering the strange return of the money before, that this time a double portion be taken. Two words will serve to divide the lesson. Fear and Feasting.

Sought His Brother. I. Fear, vv. 18-25. Ordinarily such an invitation to Joseph's house would be considered a great honor. but in this strange land and possessed by guilty conscience we read, "And the men were afraid." They who so carelessly sold their brother into slavery are themselves fearful of becoming "bondmen." Joseph did seek an occasion against them but it was that -Pansies and all kinds of bedding he might secure his brother Benjamin (the others were only half-brothers), to abide with him in Egypt. Notice of the money in their sacks to the steward. The steward seeks to reassure them by telling them that, "your God, the God of your father hath given you treasure in your sacks." Indeed God had, but he gave them their blessing through another. Even so we through grace are blessed by means of another who is our Joseph. Christ is constantly seeking to reassure our hearts.

II. Feasting, vv. 26-34. In last week's lesson we beheld these brothers bowing before Joseph even as his -If you are contemplating erecting dream had indicated (37:5-8) and now a second time they are on their faces before him. They had bragged that (37:20) and indeed they are now seeing. That man who says to God "I will not" in the end is always compelled to do that very thing he in his pride said he would not do. Those who now mock our Joseph will in the end be compelled to do him obeisance, Rom. 14:11; Phil. 2:10. It was that Joseph might gain his brother Benjamin that he made all of these delays in revealing himself to his other brothers. As we have seen Benjamin was Joseph's only full brother 30:22 etc., and had had no part in the conspiracy against Joseph, hence Joseph's heart went out in great love for Benjamin, vv. 29-31. Joseph's tears were -Are you a member of the I. O. O. no sign of weakness but rather of Bold Pretense.

Joseph knew full well how to conave been some suspicion in the minds of these Hebrews when their Tayptian host told the exact order of their respective ages, v. 33 (see also 44:12), and that perhaps Joseph might after all be alive. Doubtless their guilty consciences were again aroused when they beheld their youngest brother singled out for such manifest partiality (v. 34). They, however, made a bold pretense and "drank largely," R. V., making merry to cover their confusion. If their drink caused intoxication we do not know. Anyhow they are not held before us as an example in this particular, nor does the biblical account demand that

This was a strange feast. The sight of Benjamin recalls to Joseph the memories of home and mother and caused him to retire from the presence of his brothers lest he reveal himself through his tears. Returning he restrains his emotions while at the same time his brothers are laboring under the constraint of their fears. What differing emotions haunting memories recall. Joseph's memories fill him with love and tenderness while the brothers are filled with suspicion of the entertainment they are receiving.

The golden text as applied to Joseph reveals the secret of the strength of his character. To abide in the light is to be always true to God. It means to reveal ultimately the meaning of the darkness. All of this comes out more clearly when Joseph at last fully reveals himself to his brothers. To walk in the light alone will enable us to keep the golden rule for "Love is goodness in action." This is a tender lesson to relate to the young and for the older we might discuss such questions as Emotion and Religion. What is it to walk in the light, The insellect and emotions.
