All under fence. Will make price and terms to suit. Five minutes walk south of East Grove station. No assessments to pay here.

PEOPLE OF CURIOUS CUSTOM

Laplanders Live in Primitive Style Following Their Own Ideas of Comfort and Recreation.

While civilized man suffers intense ly from cold feet every winter, the Laplander, living in the far north of Europe, has no such trouble. A traveler writes: "Their boots are also made of reindeer skin, and are worn very large and the toes are pointed and curve upward, so as to be easily slipped into their ski. The Lapp usually fills his boots half full with a peculiar green grass, into which he thrusts his naked foot; he then packs the boots full with more grass, tucks the ends of his trousers inside and binds them tightly round with many turns of a brightly woven braid. With these precautions they never suffer from cold feet, and chilblain corns or such like civilized complaints are an unknown horror to them."

Concerning other customs the same writer says: "The Lapps are essentially a nomadic race, and spend most of their lives wandering fancy free among the wild and glorious scenery of their nothern home. However, at times no doubt the stillness of the fro sen mountains becomes too still and they turn their herds and start toward their nearest meeting place. Twice a year they hold these general gatherings at Easter and midsummerwhen they congregate and hold a general fair. It is on these occasions that they celebrate their weddings and funerals. The revelries last only about ten days, but many marriages take place between couples who perhaps have never met previously. "As soon as a Lapp can afford to buy enough reindeer for himself be leaves the parental tent, takes a wife and roams away wherever his beart or reindeer dictates. There are no social distinctions in Lapland. Should a man have no reindeer, or possibly have lost what he had, he travels with a rich man and helps him tend the herd, but he lives and is quite on a social equality, until he can afford to start off with his own

An outstanding feature of the Belgian farming is the small size of the farms. More than half of the Belgian farms are less than an acre in size.
