YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

Ithough Usually Broken They Often Result in Something Worth While to the Maker.

At the close of the year a great many men and women review the events and experiences through which they have passed, and resolve to profit by them during the coming year. Many a man "turns over a new leaf," and many a woman emphatically declares that she will abandon this folly and that. So many fail in their resolves that New Year's resolutions have become a subject of jest.

Yet while there may be a humorous phase of the subject there is certainly a more serious one than some appear to believe. It makes no difference rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church | whether it is New Year's eve or any other eve, there has to come a time in the lives of all when there is an ac-

"GOODBY, OLD YEAR, GOODBY."

By Margaret E. Sangster.

"Goodby old year, goodby." We've had good times together: You gave us many a bright blue eky. And sometimes stormy weather.

But we've had lots of fun-We've skated, fished and boated: And now, just as the year is done, In school we've been promoted.

Old year, be brave and proud; With banners floating over you. You join the shadowy crowd Of years that went before you.

Goodby, old year, goodby; With "finis" to your story, The stars shine out on high To light your way with glory.

A generation ago, engagements, weddings, anniversaries and birthdays were largely neighborhood affairs. But communities have grown, suburbs have sprung up, and homes in the country separate many friends part of the year.

The handicap of distance often makes it impossible to extend congratulations in person. In this difficulty the Long Distance Telephone is indispensable. It is easier, quicker and more personal than a letter of congratulation, which is usually perfunctory and difficult to write.

Then, again, the Long Distance Telephone preserves the intimate, friendly touch.
