DON'T SHOO IT.

The time is at hand when a man of the household goes forth with a spade, a hoe, and a rake and maketh a garden in his back yard, and he watcheth the growth of the young vegetables day by day, and is much pleased; but lo and behold, he goeth forth to look upon his garden on the ninth day of the third month, and he findeth it not, for the chickens of his neighbors have laid waste the tender onions and radishes and the crisp lettuce. And in the evening and the morning, and at noontime of the tenth and eleventh and succeeding days, the man who had a garden, but now hath it not, sitteth on the back fence of his yard with a shotgun, lying in wait for the chickens of his neighbors.

"ALONG CAME RUTH," AT THE OLYMPIC.

Henry W. Savage's latest comedy triumph, "Along Came Ruth," comes to the Olympic Theater, Chicago, next Sunday, April 25, for an indefinite engagement. The scenes of this comedy are laid in a New England seaport town, which has been stagnating for thirty years until "Along Came Ruth" wakes up the town. She becomes a clerk in a rattle-trap furniture store to start with, and from her first hour begins to revolutionize the town. In "The College Widow" and "The County Chairman" Mr. Savage demonstrated how irresistibly funny and appealing our familiar American types could be, and in "Along Came Ruth" he has found another fund of the same clean, laugh-compelling scenes, situations and characters.

Holman Day, the "Kipling of New England," is the author of "Along Came Ruth." Every reader of the current magazines, to which Mr. Day for years has been a prolific contributor, knows how faithfully he has absorbed the sentiments and point of view of the picturesque inhabitants of New England small towns. Those actors who gave distinction to the Broadway run of "Along Came Ruth" will be seen in the same roles at the Olympic theater.

Summer scale of prices has been put into effect at the Olympic, the very best seats in the house for both matinee and night performances being priced at $1.00.

DUPAGE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

And University of Illinois and U. S. Department of Agriculture Co-operating.

The second annual meeting of the DuPage County Agricultural Improvement Association will be held in the Court House at Wheaton, Ill., Saturday, May 1, 1915, at 1 o'clock p. m.

Program. Wm. F. Handechn, State Leader for County Agricultural work in Illinois, will speak concerning the relation of the Federal Department of Agriculture and the University of Illinois to the DuPage County Agricultural Improvement Association.

days, but in confinement they hatch in from twenty-two to twenty-seven days. The chicks run as soon as dried off and must be protected, for the pheasants of the flock often kill them. Pheasants raise most of their tame pheasants with chicken mothers, the Silky being best for the purpose, as it is the right size, gentle and does not quit the young to lay so soon. Hens with scaly and feathered legs should be avoided. Some use turkey mothers, their habits being about the same. The young require sanitary surroundings or gaps and other ailments result, and they must be kept free from lice. They require roomy coops without floors, to be moved on to fresh ground twice a day and should run in outside screens until old enough to range. They are fed first three times a day. Barley meal, hard boiled eggs, screened and mixed with breadcrumbs and chopped lettuce make a good ration. Ants' eggs are excellent. As a substitute some use custard made of an egg and tablespoonful of milk beaten together. Crushed hemp, millet and coarse cornmeal add variety. Some feed maggots. They are nasty and risky to feed. Meal worms are better. Simply place a few meal worms in wheat meal and bran with a few pieces of leather mixed through it and you soon have plenty of fat, clean, yellow worms for pheasants and other insect loving pets.

U. S. Not U. S. A. Do you know what is the proper abbreviation of the United States? It is U. S. It is not U. S. A. There is widespread and apparently utter ignorance of this fact. The initials U. S. A. is the official accepted abbreviation for United States army, and does not, under any possible conditions, ever mean United States of America. At this time, when so many manufacturers in this country are branding their goods as made in the United States, this is important. The brand U. S. A. upon anything means that it was manufactured in the United States army. "Made in U. S." is the brand which should be put upon all goods manufactured in this country. Katcherbocker Press.
