

A WOMAN'S WEAPON FOR BATTERING DOWN LIVING COSTS

There is no method of heating an iron so inexpensive as gas.

For here all the heat of the burning gas is directed against the ironing surface. Result: Three hours of steady ironing only consume one penny's worth of gas.

J. W. HUGHES, Prest. SAM. CURTISS, Cashier

A quick, sharp turn of the little crank on your telephone, after you have replaced the receiver on the hook on completing your conversation, notifies the operator that the line is open for use by other subscribers.

Courtesy to fellow subscribers demands that you perform this little service, which requires little or no effort.

Failure to ring off causes extra work for the operator, as she must ascertain when you are through talking, and this additional work goes to slow down the service.

Help keep the service up by invariably ringing off when you have finished talking.

ADVICE TO SPEED WALKERS

Advice on Track Must Learn to Hold Himself "Well Balanced on His Pina." In starting on the track the novice should hold himself as erect as possible, without, however, leaning at all backward, the arms at the sides, with the forearms in a horizontal position, at right angles to the part of the arms above the elbows. He should have a feeling of being "well balanced on his pins," says a writer in Outing. The weight must be kept on the heels—therein lies the chief secret of walking fairly. Speed depends on two factors, the length and the frequency of the stride. Experiments prove that the length of the stride becomes greater as the frequency increases. Arm action should be carefully cultivated. Properly used, the arms seem to act as levers to lift forward the body, besides helping to balance it. In each stride one foot should be always on the ground and at some moment of the stride some part of both feet should be on the ground simultaneously—that is the first necessity. Second in importance is to have the walk "heel and toe"—that is, the heel of each foot should strike the ground unmistakably first and the toe of each foot should be the last part to leave it. One should not walk flat-footed, with the ball of the foot or any part except the heel striking the ground before the heel does. Lastly, the knee should be "bumped" at the end of each stride. One should not walk with the feet and the knees too far apart and the

POETESS AND TIN ROOFER

Beautifully Expressed Thoughts of Viola Bounded to Mike Like the Ideal Smoking Mixture.

The Skickwurt sitting room was bathed in the soft red light of a cigar coupon lamp, the Detroit Free Press says. Mrs. Viola Skickwurt was in a silent ecstasy, her eyes turned to the ceiling. She was a poetess. Mike Skickwurt, being just a tin roofer, was merely lost in thought. Was he again marveling that so gifted and beautiful a woman should have chosen a humble tin roofer as her heaven-sent mate? Viola's lips began to move—a common phenomenon with her when she was speaking. "Michael," she breathed, "always on austere nights like these I feel a rare beauty struggling at my soul. A celestial beauty with a halo of hypophosphates and a perfume of asphalt. And the thought creeps over me that surely the angels are with us, brushing us with their luminescent wings and whispering, whispering! 'lan't it so with you, my Michael?'" Her husband stirred thoughtfully. "That's it," he said slowly, as a slow smile broke over his throbbing features. "Just a dash of perique and maybe a sprinklin' of Honest Pete and it'll be the perfect smokin' mixture."

IT WASN'T THE SAME WOMAN

Nevertheless, the British Soldier's Dealt to Marry Lasted Through the Year of Probation.

There is a famous British general who hates to see his soldiers wed. One day a Tommy came to him and asked permission to marry. The general, hoping to cool the man's ardor, told him to go away and come back again a year from that day, and if he was then in the same mind permission would be given him to marry. When the year had passed the soldier repeated his request. "But do you really still wish to marry?" asked the general in surprise. "Yes, str, very much!" answered Tommy. "Well, you may marry now," said the general. "I never believed there was so much constancy in man or woman."

Little Sister Aton Curious. My brother, aged two and one-half, and sister, four, were taught to always mind their own affairs and let other people's alone, but when I came home from a day's shopping loaded with bundles Johnny could not resist asking what they contained, who they were for, etc. I being tired from the day's shopping told him two or three things, but he insisted upon knowing what all contained, so I considered it my duty to tell the young man to mind his own affairs, as he had been taught to do, and go to play. Johnny went away grieved. His little sister, listening to all this, remarked: "Tom! Johnny awful 'nony, 'ster!" I had no more than said "Yes" when she came over and whispered, "What have you got in the east?"—Chicago Tribune.
